BERLIN, Aug. 21.—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler held the spotlight tonight as Europe eyed uneasily the rapidly entangling mess which is growing out of the Spanish revolt.

The German dictator dispatched a courier to Berlin from his summer residence in the Bavarian Alps ordering the German ambassador to Moscow and the German chargé d'affaires at Madrid to protest energetically against the "slanderous anti-German propaganda carried on over the radio."

His action so startled diplomats in Berlin that it is reported the ambassador of at least one of the large powers called on the German foreign office to express his concern over the developments.

Charges Russia Plots War.

If they were really at war Nazi Germany and soviet Russia could scarcely hurl more invectives at each other than they are doing now.

Faint echoes of the Moscow counter-revolutionary trial, in which the soviet alleged the German "gestapo" [secret police] attempted to help organize plots for the assassination of Russian leaders, have reached Berlin. However, they have been drowned out by German cries charging the Russians with "preparing to attack the whole world while the bloody fist of world bolshevism is showing from behind the mountains of corpses in Spain," to cite the official Voelkischer Beobachter.

Simultaneously with Hitler's orders to the ambassadors at Moscow and Madrid the German press rained accusations on France and other countries. The papers alleged that "they are running arms to Spain under all kinds of disguises." The Germans also expressed indignation at the assertion of Swiss newspapers that 25 German airplanes were seen flying over Switzerland headed for Spain.

Claim Moscow Rules Madrid.

The main propaganda artillery is being directed against Russia with headlines such as "Feverish armaments of Red navy which is planning to attack in the Baltic—Madrid government under Moscow rule—Completion of Red fleet being rushed at same speed as increase of Russian army and air force—Overpowering militarization of civilian population of Russia—Soviet second army of million trained men—Subterranean air fields in Fort Goethe near Leningrad."

German papers announced that Russia now has 40 submarines in the Baltic and that shipyards in Leningrad and Kronstadt are feverishly building more. According to the Germans, submarines and mine layers also are being built in the naval yard on Lake Ladova and at ports on the Arctic sea.

Hitler Sees European Leaders.

Hitler will not have much time to rest in his Bavarian retreat. While dispatches kept pouring into his chancellery about the Spanish civil war and the trial in Moscow, he conferred with many foreign visitors.

The most prominent were the president of the Danzig senate, Theodore Greiser, who thumbed his nose at reporters during a session of the league of nations, and the Nazi district leader of Danzig.

Admiral Horthy, regent of Hungary, is expected at Hitler's retreat tonight or tomorrow. He left Vienna for the Tyrol and it is understood he will call on the Fuehrer on the

FIND 2 MINERS ALIVE, 2 DEAD; 3 DAYS IN PIT

Pair Die Few Hours After Cave-In.

Moberly, Mo., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Two coal miners—one of them apparently little the worse for his three day ordeal—were rescued alive at 1:30 p. m. today from a gas filled tunnel in which four were imprisoned by a mine collapse Tuesday afternoon, but death had taken their companions.

"Here I am boys. I can take it," cried A. W. McCann, 50, eldest of the entombed miners, as weary rescue workers wormed their way through a débris packed mine shaft into the tunnel prison of the quartet.

Killed by White Damp.

The others, Edward Stoner Jr., 26, and George T. Dameron, 27, colored, were huddled in death at the rear of the 200 foot tunnel, victims of deadly white damp.

Dr. John Maddox said Sexton was semi-conscious and that he thought "he will pull through."

Arnold Griffith, state mine inspector, said Sexton was revived about 30 minutes after rescuers reached him. His lips were swollen and closed so tightly rescuers had to pry them open before they could give him stimulants.

"This coffee is awfully good," were Sexton's first words after regaining consciousness, said Griffith.

"God, it sure is good to see you all," he added.

Past Flashes Before Him.

Griffith said McCann was in a jovial mood after his rescue, and on the way to the surface said: "I thought of everything bad I had ever done in my life, while I was down there."

Although McCann was the first one reached, Sexton was brought first to the bottom of the main shaft. McCann told the rescue party Sexton was "back there about 30 feet, still alive."

McCann said Stoner died shortly after he had warned him to "keep his head down."

About 15 minutes later, McCann said, he left Stoner's side to return to the main tunnel, and found Dameron dying.

Fire Causes Cave-In.

Relays of rescue crews had torn at the blocked mine shaft since Tuesday when suddenly fire swept the mine superstructure, collapsed the shaft and trapped the four miners in their subterranean prison.

The rescue was completed this afternoon as miners, led by Griffith, picked their way through the last of the tumbled mass and cleared a small opening into the tunnel.

A crowd of 4,000 friends of the miners and curious spectators sent up a piercing shout of relief when Coroner Jesse Maddox appeared at the mouth of the shaft with his terse statement:

"Two of the men are alive . . ."

But a deep silence, broken only by moans from the women and a sharp cry from the brother of the colored victim, came when he concluded:

"The others are dead—apparently they have been dead for a long time."

Saved by 30 Minutes.

"But," added the coroner's son, Dr. John Maddox, "if the rescue had been delayed 30 more minutes Sexton undoubtedly would have been found dead."

ONE GOOD TURN DESERVES ANOTHER

Reds Riot on German Ship In N.Y. Harbor

New York, Aug. 22 [Saturday].—[Special.]—Wearing evening clothes and masquerading as peaceful visitors, 150 men and women communists precipitated a riot late last night on the German liner Bremen, the second of its kind in about a year. The rioters passed out anti-Nazi handbills and paraded through the liner yelling, "Hitler must be kept out of Spain."

Battle with Fists and Chairs.

In a wild battle that caused great excitement among the 800 passengers and the 3,000 visitors the demonstrators fought with pier police and the crew, trading blows with fists and swinging deck chairs.

A march of five demonstrators, three of them women, up and down the promenade deck with placards was climaxed by the discovery of at least 12 more women chained to the ship's railing on the first class deck.

The chained ones wore white sweat shirts with red letters forming the words "Stop Nazi War Movement" and "Free Simpson." Simpson, they said, was an American sailor who has been under arrest in Germany for a year.

Hustled Off Vessel.

The five marchers, who appeared suddenly out of a crowd at the head of the gang plank, were hustled off the boat by the crew and police.

The chained women were released by ship's officers and turned over to police.

The disturbance lasted for 30 minutes, but delayed the scheduled departure of the Bremen for Europe only five minutes. The disturbance was quelled after a riot call brought a large force of city police to the scene. Eight women and four men were arrested.

The Bremen was tied up at pier 86, North river, at the foot of West 46th street, the same pier at which the communist engineered riot took place on the liner on July 26 last year. For several months after last summer's riot the steamship line had been cautious with regard to those allowed aboard before sailing time. Recently, however, this vigilance had been relaxed.

Cloudburst Sends 16 Foot Wall of Water Into Canyon

Grand Canyon, Ariz., Aug. 21.—(AP)—A cloudburst that broke over the Bright Angel canyon late yesterday and sent a wall of water 16 feet high roaring through the narrow gorge known as "the box" caused property damage estimated today at $50,000. The trans-canyon Kaibab trail from the floor of the canyon to the north rim was closed temporarily.

SON OF W. R. KIRK KILLED WHEN HIS AUTO HITS TRUCK

Radcliffe W. Kirk, 25 years old, son of Walter R. Kirk of 1500 Lake Shore drive, was killed early today when his automobile, in which he was riding alone, crashed into the rear of a ten ton truck at Skokie and Deerfield roads, west of Highland Park. He was found to be dead when taken to the Highland Park hospital.

According to Policeman Clyde Schoonover of Highland Park, the truck was stopped for a red light, facing north in Skokie road, when young Kirk's automobile smashed into it. The motor car plowed under the big vehicle and Kirk was crushed in his seat. The truck driver, Penzie Manique of Green Bay, Wis., employed by the Olson Transportation company, was not held after he had made a statement to the police.

Kirk has been living at the Onwentsia club in Lake Forest. His parents were divorced two years ago and his mother, Mrs. Maude Hambleton Kirk, is now said to be in California. Police said the young man's father also is absent from the city on a business trip. He is a member of the old James S. Kirk family.

MILD TROPICAL STORM CROSSES FLORIDA COAST

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 21.—(AP)—The weather bureau reported a tropical storm of moderate intensity crossed the eastern Florida coast line north of Titusville late today.

Observers said the center apparently moved inland close to Titusville. No injuries or property damage were reported.

Squally conditions which prevailed along the upper east coast most of the day would continue for several hours, the weather bureau said in an advisory at 6 p. m., Chicago time.

The highest winds reported from the vicinity of the disturbance were gusts of fifty-five miles at Titusville shortly before 5 p. m. The sustained velocity at the time was forty miles. By 6 p. m. the wind had dropped to sixtee.. miles.

GOV. OLSON TAKES TURN FOR WORSE AFTER RALLYING

Rochester, Minn., Aug. 21.—(AP)—After apparently getting along nicely earlier in the evening, Gov. Floyd B. Olson took a turn for the worse tonight, it was learned from Mayo clinic physicians. It was emphasized the governor was in no immediate danger, but that he was steadily growing weaker.

Fights Rage in Holy Land; 7 Shot to Death

JERUSALEM, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Three Jews were shot dead by an Arab band today while four Arabs were killed by British troops as disorders continued throughout Palestine.

The Jews were killed when the car in which they were riding was pierced with bullets by an Arab gang numbering about 30. Two other men and a woman riding with them were seriously wounded.

The four Arab deaths occurred while police were searching the Karkur district, scene of a battle yesterday in which the Arabs were believed to have suffered thirty-two casualties.

Thousands of Jews attended the funeral of Louis Billig, Jewish historian, who was killed last night as he sat at his window in a Jerusalem suburb. Sir Arthur Wauchope, British high commissioner of Palestine, was represented for the first time at the funeral of a victim of the disorders.

Attacks British Rule.

TEL AVIV, Palestine, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Meier Dizengoff, 76 year old mayor of the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv, charged the British government today with playing a "diabolical game" in handling its mandate over Palestine.

The mayor told Sir Arthur Wauchope, British high commissioner for Palestine, evidence showed the administration was blocking the Jewish national home, although its establishment was regarded as the cardinal principle of the Palestine mandate by the league of nations.

Charges Anarchy Exists.

In an open letter Mayor Dizengoff said: "The attitude and conduct of the Palestine government since the outbreak [of disorders] have introduced demoralization, anarchy, and lawlessness into the country, and have destroyed laws and the administration's authority as well as civil discipline.

"The country is directed not by the high commissioner but by the Arab higher committee and hooligans. The recent outrages in the country have converted this land into a genennom [hell].

"Terminate this diabolical game that is being played by the government," he demanded.

Drouth States Tour Mapped by Roosevelt

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 21.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt will speed through a dozen states on his inspection of drouth areas next week, holding conferences with sixteen governors and thirty-two senators, making innumerable platform appearances, a score of automobile trips, and many a brief talk, he revealed today.

Although the President again stressed today the "nonpolitical" nature of this expedition, he was closeted for a long session tonight with Chairman James A. Farley of the Democratic national committee; Charles Michelson, press agent; Edward J. Flynn, political boss of the Bronx, New York, one of Mr. Roosevelt's closest political advisers, and a half dozen more of his campaign aids. They were reported to have discussed just how to wrest the utmost political value out of the tour.

Governors' Meeting Sept. 1.

In his swing through the middle west at a pace expected to leave members of his party gasping, Mr. Roosevelt finally will come to a meeting Sept. 1 with his Republican opponent for the presidency, Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, at Des Moines, Ia. The four governors of Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri, and Oklahoma will also attend this meeting to discuss the problem of dealing with conditions in the parched areas of their various states.

The other big conferences of the excursion will be held at Bismarck, N. D.; Pierre, S. D.; La Crosse, Wis.; Springfield, Ill., and Indianapolis.

The President will cover at least 3,000 miles in this tour, which will begin next Tuesday night and wind up with a return to his Hyde Park estate on the Hudson on Saturday morning, twelve days later.

Eye on European Crisis.

Mr. Roosevelt declared, however, that he would hold himself in readiness to cut this trip short at any moment when affairs abroad come to such a state that the United States seems liable to be affected. Under such circumstances he would rush back to Washington. He indicated that he did not believe such an emergency would arise.

The telegraphed invitation sent to Gov. Landon this morning was similar in form to that sent to Govs. Clyde Herring, Roy L. Cochran, Guy B. Park, and E. W. Marland of Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri, and Oklahoma, respectively. Similarly worded wires already had been sent to other governors including Horner of Illinois. Several acceptances have been received.

Invitation to Opponent.

"As you probably know," the telegram to Gov. Landon read, "I am coming west next week to get at first hand all the information I can with respect to the situation in the drouth area. We plan to arrive in Des Moines early morning, Tuesday, Sept. 1, and I would appreciate much if you could find it convenient to meet us there for a general discussion of the situation. To this conference I am also inviting Govs. Herring, Coch-

THRONGS HAIL G. O. P. NOMINEE AT EVERY STOP

Urges People to Vote Out Spendthrifts.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, Republican nominee for President, and his campaign party came into Chicago on a special train shortly before midnight last night for a stop of an hour and a half on their way to the east. Cheering crowds greeted the governor as his train crossed northern Illinois and passed through the western suburbs of Chicago.

Gov. Landon is on his way to West Middlesex, Pa., where this afternoon he will make the first important speech of his campaign. In extemporaneous addresses in four Illinois cities where train stops were made along the route last evening the governor urged the people to cast their votes in the November election for an administration without spendthrifts and for a congress that will not allow the "must" legislation which has deprived the New Deal congress of its constitutional function.

Crowds Roar Ovations.

The crowds that met Gov. Landon in his trip through Chicagoland accorded him ovations on his first visit to Illinois since his nomination. Bands played "O, Susanna" and other prairie state tunes, and hosts of sunflowers waved as the governor smiled his thanks and made his brief addresses.

When the train reached Chicago it was nearly 45 minutes behind schedule. It had been forced to slow down at railroad stations in several Illinois towns where crowds gathered for welcoming demonstrations, shouting the support of a prairie people for the Kansas governor.

Gov. Landon Calls Greeting.

Stops were made at Sterling, Dixon, Rochelle, De Kalb and Oak Park before the train reached the city. When the train slackened speed as it moved through other towns, where crowds waited for a glimpse of the candidate, Gov. Landon stood on the rear platform and called "Hello" through a loud speaker system.

After the train reached Chicago, running over the Chicago and North Western railway, it was taken into the yards of the Pennsylvania lines near Roosevelt road and Canal street for reconditioning. There the Illinois Republican leaders who had got aboard during the evening trip took leave of Gov. Landon. The train pulled out for the east at 1:35 a. m. The governor did not appear while it was in the yards.

Receives Roosevelt Invitation.

During the day the governor received an invitation on board the train from President Roosevelt to meet him in a drouth conference with governors of other states at Des Moines on Sept. 1.

The governor accepted and will make a special trip from Topeka to confer with the President on a program to help farmers in the drouth states. This will be the first time since Taft and Bryan met at the same banquet table in Chicago, while both were campaigning for the presidency, that opposing candidates for this great office have crossed swords in the middle of the campaign.

ILLINOISANS BOARD TRAIN

The last stop the Landon special made before crossing the Mississippi river into Illinois was at Clinton, Ia. There, more than 3,000 people, who came from a radius of 70 miles around, welcomed him as he stepped to the rear platform. The stop was 15 minutes and in 10 minutes of that time Gov. Landon shook hands with many in the crowd.

A delegation of Illinois Republican leaders went aboard. They were Mrs. Bertha Baur, national committeewoman; Percy McCullough, state chairman; Patrick Sheridan Smith; Mrs. Wilma Hoyal, assistant to National Chairman John Hamilton; Mrs. Mary Silvis, vice chairman of Illinois; Judge Oscar Nelson of the Cook county Superior court; Edward Moore, Cook county G. O. P. chairman; Charles Hadley, candidate for state attorney general; George Hatzenbuhler, candidate for lieutenant governor; William Stratton, candidate for secretary of state; Clarence Buck, candidate for state treasurer, and Arthur Bidwill, candidate for auditor.

Previously, at Cedar Rapids, Ia., the first Illinois group boarded the train. One of these was Otis F. Glenn, candidate for United States senator from Illinois. He was followed by a group who had flown from Chicago with National Committeeman George F. Harding. These were George W. Lennon, manager of the campaign of Wayland Brooks for governor; Louis Seavern, member of the Illinois Republican finance committee, and Jonn L. East, fifth ward committeeman. Col. Hanford MacNider of Mason City, Ia., former assistant secretary of war, also went aboard at this point.

"We must have a government without spendthrifts," Gov. Landon told the Clinton crowd. "This is a campaign of education. The people must follow the issues as they are presented in newspapers and other mediums."

"How about the grasshoppers in Iowa?" some one shouted as the candidate's train drew away.

"You can't tell me anything about them," the governor called back. "We have them in Kansas."

Train Enters Illinois.

The train entered Illinois and at Morrison, 15 miles east of the Iowa border, 1,500 people were gathered. Waving sunflowers and the strains of "O, Susanna" were the governor's welcome to Illinois. The train slowed down and the governor went to the platform. He shouted "Hello" through the amplifying system and waved and smiled as the train moved on.

The first stop was at Sterling at 8:37, Chicago time. More than 10,000 people were waiting at the depot and gave an enthusiastic greeting. Mr. Glenn introduced Gov. Landon.

"We must elect a Republican congress," the governor told the crowd, "for the present congress has abdicated its constitutional power."

Brooks Welcomes Landon.

Wayland Brooks, Republican candidate for governor of Illinois, and Mrs. Brooks welcomed Gov. Landon. Mr. Brooks spoke briefly and then he and his wife drove on to Dixon. Former Senator Charles Deneen of Illinois went aboard at Sterling.

Because the train was forced to slacken speed for welcoming groups at stations between Sterling and Dixon, Mr. Brooks arrived at the latter town before the governor and was just concluding a speech when the Landon special drew in shortly before 9 o'clock in the evening.

More than 5,000 people were there to see the governor. He descended from the train and policemen cleared an aile through the crowd to a platform near the depot where he spoke.

Lauds "the American Way."

"I am very happy for this opportunity to visit the people of Dixon and the surrounding community," Gov. Landon declared. "I know you have just heard from your next governor, Wayland Brooks. Your presence here tonight is due to your interest in good government.

"We Americans are responsible for the kind of government we get. We must elect a congress that will not abdicate its functions; that will debate major measures before voting on them. Much legislation in the last few years has not been debated. That is not the American way.

"We have to choose a congress that will not stand for 'must' legislation. A man can be liberal in government without being a spendthrift."

Brooks Speaks to Crowd.

Addressing the crowd previously, Brooks said: "The first time in my life I ever saw a President was at Dixon. I saw Teddy Roosevelt here in 1902. Now the American people are turning to the Republican party and the party is turning to the prairie states. Gov. Landon will lead in the fight for preservation of a government that permits the sons of humble folks to become the people's nominee for the greatest office in the land."

Mr. and Mrs. Brooks then boarded the presidential campaign train for the trip to Chicago.

In his car Gov. Landon read a telegram he had received from Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, whose home is near Oregon, Ogle county, but who is now at Alexandria Bay, N. Y. The message said: "You are now in my congressional district, unsurpassed anywhere for the high quality of its citizenry, for its fertility of soil, and beauty of landscape. I am sorry not to be at home to join you there."

Crowd of 5,000 at Rochelle.

At 9:31 in the evening the train reached Rochelle. This stop was scheduled during the afternoon; it had previously been announced and then cancelled.

Bands and drum and bugle corps led the enthusiastic reception as more than 5,000 people thronged about the train. Mr. Glenn introduced the candidate. Gov. Landon spoke briefly.

"I appreciate your welcome," he told the crowd, "and am glad of an opportunity to speak in the district of that great Illinois statesman, Frank O. Lowden."

At De Kalb, the next stop, a crowd of nearly 20,000 greeted the governor. His speech was interrupted frequently by cheers.

"More essential than the election of a President," he said, "is the election of a Republican congress that will not be a 'rubber stamp' body."

Young Admirer Gives Flowers.

Mary McEwen, 7 years old, of De Kalb presented the governor with a huge bouquet of sunflowers. The girl's grandfathers are Judge Harry McEwen, county judge of De Kalb county, and Judge William L. Leech, county judge of Lee county. One of her uncles is Judge John J. Massieon, county judge of La Salle county.

Among those who boarded the train at De Kalb were Mrs. Harry Thomas, national committeewoman from Wisconsin; Congressman Ralph Church of Evanston, and Arthur Ballantine, one of the assistants to John Hamilton, chairman of the national committee.

Shortly before 11 o'clock the train slackened speed as it neared Wheaton. Here a crowd of 5,000 gathered to welcome the governor on the threshold of Chicago. As the train moved on Gov. Landon and Mr. Brooks waved to the throng.

An unscheduled stop was made at the Harlem-Marion station in Oak Park where more than 5,000 people gathered and cheered the candidate. The governor made a short speech in which he thanked the crowd for the reception.

HITS AT POLITICAL RELIEF

Going through Iowa, at Cedar Rapids, Gov. Landon made a speech designed to take the drouth relief question out of politics. His remarks, made to a crowd of 15,000, were interpreted by some as a criticism of President Roosevelt. This was denied by others of the Landon group.

In view of the governor's acceptance of President Roosevelt's invitation to meet in the drouth conference at Des Moines on Sept. 1, his statement at Cedar Rapids was regarded as significant.

"No individual and no organization should meet this problem from the viewpoint of politics," he said. "I am not concerned about where the credit goes in the solution of the problem of our drouth, just so we meet it in a humane, a constructive and a sensible way.

Knows Perils of Drouth.

"Being a Kansan, I know what the drouth means. We have suffered there possibly to even greater extent than you have here, with your rich black soil. The Kansas people have met this problem for the last several years bravely, just as I know that the people of Iowa are meeting this emergency, with the courage and fortitude that is so characteristic of them.

"We should combine our initiative and our efforts, just as our pioneer forefathers who settled this state combined their efforts to meet the great problems of the day. But no individual and no organization should meet this problem from the point of view of politics."

Gov. Landon was introduced at Cedar Rapids as "the fighting governor of Kansas, the next common sense President of the United States."

At Ames, Ia., Landon paid tribute to the work of the State College of Agriculture and the 4-H clubs.

"We know down in Kansas of the great agricultural college which you have here," he said. "It is one of the outstanding institutions in the country in the importance of the work it has done in checking the dreadful and destroying plague of hog cholera and of the fine seed corn which it has developed to the benefit of thousands and thousands of farmers.

"But most important of all of the achievements of the Iowa State college and of the citizens of Iowa is the development of the 4-H clubs here in this state, the promotion of better community life of coöperation on health standards."

Brief talks were made in other Iowa towns: Council Bluffs, Denison, home town of the late Leslie M. Shaw, secretary of the treasury; at Carroll, Jefferson, Boone, Marshalltown, Missouri Valley, Tama, Clarence, and Belleplaine.

Sees 100,000 on Trip.

Gov. Landon's second day out on his trip to Pennsylvania and New York, where he will make three important campaign speeches, brought him into contact with at least 100,000 persons.

The governor has been greatly encouraged by the crowds that have come out to meet him and the friendly spirit that they have shown. Every town where the train stopped for a few minutes turned out good sized welcoming crowds. Reports brought to the train by the state and county leaders were that a steady drift toward the Republican candidate has set in both in Nebraska and Iowa.

DAY STARTS AT OMAHA

The second day's journey started with a breakfast in Omaha attended by several hundred persons, many of them women. Before this crowd at the start of the day's trip the governor talked of the meaning of good government and his concept of the true spirit of American government. He said in part:

"It is mighty good of you people of Omaha and surrounding territory of Nebraska to come here this morning to wish me well on my journey to my birthplace in Pennsylvania. I am going back there, to the little town in which I was born, to open the campaign for the great office for which I have been nominated.

"I deeply appreciate the neighborly receptions I received yesterday throughout my journey across your state and our neighboring state of Colorado. The most encouraging thing, however, to me is the evidence which today's welcome demonstrates of the deep interest the people feel in the vital business of just government.

"As American citizens we are responsible for the kind of government we have in our community, our state, and at Washington.

"We cannot escape being governed. We have the choice of governing ourselves or of being governed. Under the American system the people are the government when they take a lively interest in the selection of those who represent them in the state and in the nation.

Must Aid in Government.

"We can be certain that we shall be well governed when the people take such an interest. If we do not believe this to be true, then we abandon our faith in American institutions. When we neglect our responsibilities as citizens and leave the business of government to others we cannot be sure that we shall be well governed; nor can we complain about the government we get. Ours is the blame if it turns out to be bad.

"If the elections this year, for President and for congress, are to be truly representative of the interest of the American people in just government, they will be decided by the common sense of the every day American. There are a great many of us—Republicans, Democrats, and independents—who know certain things need to be done. Some of these things must be done by ourselves as individuals. Others must be done by those who represent us in the government.

Campaign of Education.

"I have said before that every national campaign is a campaign of education. I hope and believe that the one upon which we are now entering will be no exception.

"Vital issues are at stake—issues that concern every American family and every American home. That is why their discussion should arouse the deepest interest in cities and towns, at the crossroads, and on the farms. As the American people inform themselves and make up their own minds the election will be decided. All of us will cheerfully accept the verdict of the great jury of the people.

"Thank you again for coming out in such numbers to wish me God speed, and may we all be given the strength to discuss and weigh the issues of this campaign dispassionately—to make our decisions, each according to the dictates of conscience as to what is best for the America of our allegiance."

BLANTON OF TEXAS FACES BATTLE TODAY IN TEXAS PRIMARY

Austin, Tex., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Rep. Thomas L. Blanton, called by his friends the "watchdog of the United States treasury," will face a rural county judge tomorrow in the principal battle of the Texas Democratic runoff primary.

Blanton, veteran congressman first elected in 1917, blamed "resentment over postmaster appointments and paid agitators spreading falsehoods about me" when he trailed Clyde L. Garrett, Eastland county judge, by 4,407 votes in the first primary. Garrett polled 24,493 votes to Blanton's 20,088.

Blanton and Garrett have campaigned strenuously in the Seventeenth district, the former winding up his drive with a speech from the doorstep of Judge Garrett's office—the Eastland county courthouse.

ROBBERS CHIDE THEIR VICTIM ON 'BAD GRAMMAR'

"Is this a heist?" asked Wirtz.

This remark irritated Wirtz, who grappled with the gunman and threw him to the ground. As Wirtz ran to call for help, the robbers fled.

Earlier in the evening the same men posed as policemen and took $80 from Alfred Wolf, 35 years old, a salesman, as he stood in front of his home at 152 West 68th street.

Notes of the Political Campaign

Townsend headquarters announced yesterday an itinerary for Dr. Francis E. Townsend which starts with a speech in Niagara Falls, N. Y., today, and continues to Aug. 30. Tomorrow he will speak in Columbus, O., and on Monday and Tuesday he will be in Cleveland to permit his appearance at a deposition hearing in a million dollar accounting suit against his organization. On Thursday he will appear at Watertown, N. Y.; Friday at Walton, N. Y., and a week from today in Akron, O. The next day he is tentatively scheduled for an address in Detroit. On Sept. 1 he will start a three weeks' vacation.

Grace A. Miles of Independence, Kas., was announced yesterday as head of the business women's division of the Republican national committee. The appointment was made by Mrs. Robert Lincoln Hoyal, assistant to the chairman. Judge Miles, now in private practice but formerly a judge of the Probate and Juvenile courts, organized the first Landon Business Women's league last month in Independence.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan will speak at two Nebraska rallies next month, Republican national headquarters here announced yesterday. He is to address a mass-meeting at Omaha Sept. 4 and a rally at Scotts Bluff Sept. 5.

Mrs. Adalin Wright Macauley of Menomonie, Wis., reported to Republican national headquarters yesterday that the reciprocal trade agreements are a burning issue among Wisconsin dairy farmers. As Ninth Wisconsin district chairman, Mrs. Macauley has eleven counties in her area. "After a hard day's work farmers are driving 20 and 30 miles to attend a Republican rally," she said. "Farmers are incensed by the New Deal policies that have let Canadian butter and cheese come into this country to compete with home products."

J. Kenneth Bradley, chairman of the National Young Republican federation, and Kathryn Ford, co-chairman, left yesterday for a ten day organization tour of North Dakota, Washington, Oregon, and California.

Kendall Lingle, head of the collegiate division of the Young Republican federation, announced yesterday that scores of letters are being daily received from Democratic college students in the south asking what they can do to aid the Landon-Knox ticket. "To afford students an opportunity to support a return to American government," said Mr. Lingle, "we are organizing thousands of Landon-Knox clubs in the universities and colleges."

Woman Ordered to Return $460 Given Her on Relief

Miss Lucille Mallahan, 30 years old, 7350 Phillips avenue, was placed on probation for one year and ordered to make restitution of $460.88 to the Illinois Emergency Relief commission at the rate of $5 a month by Judge Joseph B. Hefmes in the Municipal court yesterday. She was charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. Evidence showed that she was employed as a proofreader while she was on the relief rolls from April 5, 1933, to Feb. 5, 1935.

HAMILTON JOINS THE VOLUNTEERS AND LAUDS WORK

Chairman John Hamilton of the Republican national committee joined THE VOLUNTEERS yesterday and congratulated Chairman Chauncey McCormick upon the "great work" he said the patriotic organization is doing in behalf of the Landon-Knox ticket.

Back from his extensive tour of the western states where he found the New Deal on the wane, Chairman Hamilton was gratified by the thousands of enlistments in THE VOLUNTEERS of persons in all walks of life. "I am amazed at the growth of the movement," he said.

Col. Frank Knox, Republican vice presidential nominee, and Harrison E. Spangler, one of Mr. Hamilton's principal assistants, already have joined THE VOLUNTEERS.

Mrs. Meredith Enrolls.

The widow of an outstanding middle westerner and former cabinet member, Mrs. Edwin T. Meredith of Des Moines, whose husband was secretary of agriculture during the Wilson Democratic administration, made a special trip from Iowa yesterday to enroll in THE VOLUNTEERS and make plans to organize VOLUNTEER units in Iowa.

Mrs. Meredith said that she would recruit VOLUNTEERS in every town and county in Iowa, regardless of party, and would do all she could to insure carrying the state for Landon and Knox.

"I never have been in politics," Mrs. Meredith said, "and I am not in politics now, but I want to save my country from the New Deal and communism. I am still a Democrat, but I will work and vote for Landon and Knox."

Calling upon Miss Ruth De Young, chairman of the women's division, was a group of business women who enrolled and will recruit women in factories and large business establishments.

In the delegation were Mrs. May Atkins Hicks, school teacher; Miss Lucille Anderson, store manager; Miss Helen McNeill and Miss Betty Washington Holmes, musicians; and Miss Esther Barratt and Mrs. Romona Winkel, stenographers.

New Song Is Big Hit.

THE VOLUNTEERS proved last night that what Republicans are waiting for is a good, rousing song. A group of VOLUNTEERS, headed by Jule Jenkins, 1553 North Clark street, introduced a new song, "Our Landon," to some 400 Republicans of the 43d ward gathered at ward headquarters at 624 North Clark street.

"Is it too hot to try a new song?" Mr. Jenkins asked the crowd.

"No," came the chorus. "Let's have it!"

With this, Claude Lapham, noted musician, sat down at the piano. His sister, known professionally as Maida Firmin, stepped to the platform. The two then presented the song which he composed and for which Miss Firmin wrote the words. Soon all were singing, and they kept it up for more than half an hour.

"Now, what do you say," asked Committeeman Waller, as the music finally was brought to a close, "Are we going to get behind THE VOLUNTEERS?"

"You bet!" roared the crowd. And they did—by rushing to sign pledge cards.

Ward Workers Busy.

Edward F. Moore, chairman of the Cook county Republican central committee, reported yesterday that, following unanimous indorsement of THE VOLUNTEERS by the committee, about 90 per cent of the wards already have VOLUNTEER organizers working. A man and a woman have been assigned by each ward committeeman and they will continue obtaining enlistments during the rest of the campaign.

"I want to repeat what I said at the time the committee indorsed THE VOLUNTEERS," Chairman Moore said. "It is just the sort of organization that was needed. It is doing fine work."

Under instructions from Chairman Perry M. McCullough of the Republican state central committee, his committeemen are organizing VOLUNTEER units downstate and are being aided by hundreds of other persons who wrote in offering to help or who came to Chicago to sign personally and take back literature and pledge cards. Mrs. Mary Silvis, state chairwoman, is aiding in organizing the women of the state.

NIGHT WORKER'S RIGHT TO SPANK WIFE IS UPHELD

SUDBURY, Ont., Aug. 21.—(AP)—The right of a night worker to spank his wife if breakfast isn't ready when he comes home was upheld today by Magistrate J. S. McKessock. The judge dismissed an assault charge which Mrs. Paty Winters had brought against her husband, Edward. Winters testified he came home from the mine where he is employed and found no breakfast ready. His wife came downstairs and prepared it. He followed her back to the bedroom and scored three hits with a flat palm, he said.

INCREASE IN POLLEN ADDS TO MISERY OF HAY FEVER VICTIMS

Hay fever sufferers in Chicago yesterday experienced their most uncomfortable day of the season. A slide exposed for the 24 hours ended at 5 o'clock in the afternoon indicated that 98 grains of pollen per cubic yard of air were assaulting the noses of hay fever victims. The worst day of the season previously was last Thursday, when the pollen count was 60.

From now until the major part of the fall hay fever season is over THE TRIBUNE will print a pollen count six days a week. The count will be supplied through the Illinois Medical society.

Representatives of the society said yesterday that so far the season has been mild, but that they expect severe symptoms to be manifested among patients within a few days, when the dwarf ragweed pollinates. This weed has been flourishing since recent rains. The giant ragweed, which at present is sending its aggravating pollen into Chicago air, is more scarce than usual this season because of the drouth, it was said.

One physician who exposed slides on the south side said that from Aug. 8 to Aug. 20, inclusive, in 1935 the total pollen counted was 348 grains, as compared to only 200 in that same period this year.

There are an estimated 50,000 hay fever victims in Chicago, possibly more, said another physician.

ONE STRIKE OVER, TWO CARRY ON IN MINNEAPOLIS

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 21.—(AP)—One strike was settled and two continued today as the city's labor trouble caused repercussions in the grain market and dwindled food stocks of grocery retailers.

A sheet metal walkout involving about 200 men in 65 shops was ended when representatives of the Minneapolis Warm Air Heating and Air Conditioning association and union officials signed an agreement stipulating pay adjustments.

Strikes of grain elevators employés and wholesale grocery company truck drivers, however, continued. In the Minneapolis market, grain receipts were down approximately 25 per cent because of the walkout of elevator employés from terminals, one flour mill and several feed mills.

HUNT MISSING WOMAN, 65.

The police were asked yesterday to search for Mrs. Mayme Cox, 65 years old, 934 North St. Louis avenue, who disappeared Thursday while on the way to visit her daughter, Elizabeth, at 5034 Chicago avenue.

THOUSANDS SEE G. O. P. EXHIBIT AS TOUR OPENS

Several thousand persons yesterday viewed the unusual traveling exhibit of agricultural imports which the Republican national committee is sending on a tour of the central west. For two hours before its departure for Dixon the truck, which is designed to impress upon the farm population the harmful results of the Roosevelt crop restrictions, was on exhibit at Jackson boulevard and Michigan avenue. The stop at Dixon last night was timed to coincide with the arrival of Gov. Landon's special train for a rally there.

The truck was formally turned over to Francis J. Clair, research expert and lecturer who will direct the tour, by John Hamilton, G. O. P. national chairman. "This truck," said Hamilton, "shows just what the New Deal agricultural policies and trade agreements are doing to the American market."

A glass enclosed showcase mounted on the truck displays more than 300 foreign farm products now being shipped into the domestic market. The products are native to the Mississippi valley. The exhibit will be shown at state and county fairs throughout the central west.

POLICE DISPERSE ARTIST PICKETS AT WPA OFFICES

Policemen under Lieut. Walter McGloon and Lieut. Make Mills of the Central station yesterday dispersed 25 men and women who launched a demonstration before the offices and workrooms of the WPA art project at 433 East Erie street.

The police confiscated placards and banners, which demanded more jobs and better pay. The demonstrators, all of them said to be unemployed artists, left peaceably.

Picketing of the art project building began three weeks ago after Sidney Loeb, secretary of a newly formed artists' union, was requested to do his WPA project art work in his own studio at 2406 North Clark street instead of in the WPA building, Mrs. Increase Robinson, state administrator of art projects, said Loeb was agitating among the WPA artists.

Fine Oak Park Druggists $100 for Sale of Liquor

Two Oak Park druggists were fined $100 each yesterday by Justice of the Peace Martin H. McGrath on charges of selling alcoholic liquors in violation of the village ordinances. Harry Latsis, owner of a store at 841 South Oak Park avenue, pleaded guilty to selling a half pint of whisky. Baxter Lightfoot admitted that he sold beer in his store at 400 Lake street.

HOOVER ASSERTS HE WILL TAKE ACTIVE PART IN CAMPAIGN

Marshfield, Ore., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover, interviewed over his breakfast coffee, declared today he would take an active part in the presidential campaign, which he said would begin in September.

Dies in Fall from Frame of New Outer Drive Bridge

John H. Little, 53 years old, 8204 Evans avenue, was fatally injured yesterday when he fell 25 feet from the framework of the new outer drive bridge, now under construction. He was directing a crane lifting a girder into position when the accident occured. He died at Alexian Brothers hospital.

JIMMY REMAINS IN THE DARK ON HOTEL MURDER

Boy Fails to Link Swain to Mother's Death.

The showup of Negro prisoners at which James Thompson, 7 years old, was given a chance to point out a man who looked like the slayer of his mother turned out to be almost a comedy last night in the Central Police building at 11th and State streets.

Twenty-five colored men paraded before the boy—one of them Rufo Swain, alias James Gray, who was indicted on Thursday for the murder of another woman. Every effort was made by the police to make the showup a serious affair. Jimmy, impressed by his position in the limelight, did his best to act like a grown up sleuth.

Picks Five; None Swain.

First he picked out five men from the twenty-five as resembling the man who beat to death his mother, Mrs. Florence Thompson Castle, as she slept with her son in the Devonshire hotel, 19 East Ohio street, on June 29. None of the five was Swain, the No. 1 suspect in the murder of Mrs. Castle since he confessed having slain Mrs. Mary Louise Trammell last Saturday night in the State hotel, 553 South State street.

Then the five were paraded again before the boy. This time Jimmy picked out Esko Fisher, 23 years old, 4232 Calumet avenue, who was being held by the Wabash avenue police for threatening his wife with a razor during a family quarrel. He was taken to the showup only because the police needed twenty-five men as the cast of the show.

He Turns Stage Manager.

"Put him in a white suit, with white shoes and stockings," Jimmy advised the police. "Then check up on him and see if he is telling the truth about where he works and lives."

"And if he is telling the truth about those things, would you say he killed your mother?" Jimmy was asked.

"Then I'd say he wasn't the man," the boy replied.

His job completed, Jimmy took a whistle out of his pocket, and blew it lustily. Then he got an ice cream cone, and, as he ate it with relish, he remarked: "I had to wait a long time for this."

Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley and Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief investigator for the state's attorney, who conducted the showup, admitted they had held scant hopes that the 7 year old boy could help identify anybody in the slaying, which occurred in a dark room. The child was brought to the city from Detroit for the showup.

9TH PRISONER CONFESSES 33 COURT FRAUDS

Tells How They Worked Escrow Swindle.

Sherman T. Kimbell, 65 years old, 1361 Walnut street, Western Springs, confessed last evening that he has taken part in at least 33 frauds perpetrated on the clerk of the Superior court. Through the swindles funds held in escrow in the clerk's office were taken from there by means of fraudulent court orders.

Kimbell, who operates a tax title research business at 107 North Clark street, began his confession on Thursday. Assistant State's Attorney Robert Wright, who with Eugene O'Connor, investigator for the state's attorney, is questioning Kimbell, said the exact amounts taken in the frauds are not known. Most of the sums were small, Wright said.

Nine Others in Custody.

Kimbell is one of ten persons in custody who, the investigators said, have perpetrated similar frauds, not only on the Superior court clerk but also on the clerks of the Circuit and Probate courts. He is the ninth to confess.

Before confessing the 33 frauds Kimbell told the investigators that he formerly was a postmaster in a Tennessee town and was sentenced to prison in 1934 for passing stolen bonds but was pardoned by the Tennessee governor in the same year. He revealed yesterday how he and other swindlers operated.

Use Inside Information.

With the connivance of an employé in the Superior court clerk's office, the prisoner said, the swindlers would hear of the existence of a fund held in escrow while the courts were trying to determine its legal ownership. A fraudulent court order would be prepared. Then the conspirators would hire a spurious claimant, usually from among the casuals along Madison street, dress him up, send him to court to get the false order approved, and then have him call at the court clerk's office for a check for the money.

The amount paid to the false claimant for his connivance ranged between $1 and $10, depending on the size of the check he obtained, Kimbell said. Investigators now are trying to discover the identity of the clerk in the court who aided the swindlers.

Lawyer Still Sought.

Wright revealed yesterday that one of two men still being sought as coconspirators with the nine men and one woman now under arrest is a lawyer who apparently helped to engineer the imposition on Circuit, Superior, or Probate judges on the strength of which the court clerk's office paid out the money.

Judge Michael Feinberg in the Criminal court yesterday issued a writ of habeas corpus, returnable on Monday, for Arvey [Slim] Nichols, owner of a tavern at 424 West 63d street, one of the swindlers who have already confessed.

COURT HOLDS UP SENATE QUIZ ON NEW DEAL FOES

Challenge to Legality of Subpenas Forces Halt.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 21.—[Special.]—Five day adjournment of the widely publicized investigation by a special senate committee into alleged violations of civil liberties in labor disputes was forced today by a court attack challenging the constitutionality of committee operations.

The attack centered on "fishing expedition" subpenas, issued by the committee, to launch the investigation. Similar legal attacks last spring curbed wholesale investigation of individuals and groups opposed to the New Deal by the lobby investigating committee, headed by Senator Hugo S. Black [Dem., Ala.].

Court Order Obtained.

As the committee, headed by Senator Robert M. La Follette [Rad., Wis.], gathered in the senate office building, attorneys for the Railroads' Audit and Inspection company, a private detective concern whose records had been subpenaed, appeared in the District of Columbia Supreme court. They sought and obtained an order against committee members calling upon them to show cause Tuesday why a restraining order or injunction should not be issued to halt record seizure.

At the same time attorneys for the same company and three other corporations for whose records subpenas had been issued, the Central Industrial Service company, Forrest C. Pendleton, Inc., and the Pennsylvania Industrial Service company, sought restraining orders in the federal court at Philadelphia. The action was withdrawn with leave to reinstate when it was learned the committee had adjourned hearings until next Wednesday.

Calls Subpenas Invalid.

The rule to show cause was issued by Justice James M. Proctor on the plea by Attorney Leonard Weinberg, counsel for the Railroads' Audit and Inspection company, that the committee's actions and the senate resolution under which it is operating are unconstitutional. Six officials of the company, as well as its records, had been subpenaed.

"The subpenas are invalid because they are unlimited in scope and are of a sweeping character," Weinberg said. "They are in no way pertinent to the inquiry. We believe that the senate resolution under which the committee is operating is unconstitutional."

La Follette, angered when informed of the legal action, ruled that the issuance of the court order would not be regarded by the committee as a defense against failure of the officials to appear at the hearing.

Warns Against Contempt.

"I am notifying counsel that his clients are taking the action at their peril," the senator said. "Every legal remedy which can be taken to punish flaunting of the processes of the United States senate will be prosecuted with the greatest possible vigor. The record shows the most flagrant contempt of the committee."

None the less, the senator adjourned the hearing until next Wednesday. He would not say what the action the committee will take at Tuesday's court hearing.

The committee's hearing, which was reported to have been purposely set for late summer to win New Deal votes by pillorying corporations opposed to the administration's policies, began with presentation of torn and mutilated letters obtained from the waste basket of the Atlanta office of the Railroads' Audit and Inspection company. The letters were recovered by investigators for the committee.

Tells of Snooping Activities.

Investigator Virgil Finch said he had presented a committee subpena to G. E. Ivy, manager of the Atlanta office of the company, but was not permitted to see the records. He then set to watching wastebaskets as they came out of the office over a period of several days.

In the wastebasket, Finch testified, were found torn letters which were pieced together and read to the committee. They dealt with undercover activities in strike and labor difficulties. Fragments of order blanks for Thomas machine guns, tear gas, and bullet proof vests were said to have been found in the wastebaskets.

Another wastebasket snooper testified before the adjournment of the committee. He was Gerhart Van Arkel, who rifled wastebaskets of the Philadelphia office of the Inspection company.

'SEA SERPENT' CAUGHT; IT'S A 22 FOOT FISH AND WEIGHS 4 TONS

HALF ISLAND COVE, Nova Scotia, Aug. 21.—(AP)—A 22 foot fish, believed to be the "monster sea serpent" reported off the Nova Scotia coast several times this month, was the prize of fishermen here today.

Caught in a trap yesterday, the fish was towed in by R. Hendsbee, who estimated it weighed more than 4 tons. The liver alone weighed about half a ton.

A veteran seaman said the fish looked like the basking sharks he had seen in foreign waters. It had white flesh and a large mouth, but no teeth.

GERALD K. SMITH HERE ON ANTI-RED YOUTH CAMPAIGN

The Rev. Gerald K. Smith, present leader of the late Huey Long's share the wealth movement, who is aligned with Father Coughlin and Dr. Francis Townsend in supporting Congressman William Lemke for President on the Union party ticket, was in Chicago yesterday preparing to organize 100,000 young men into Townsend clubs for a drive on radicalism and communism.

Mr. Smith left last night with Dr. Townsend for Niagara Falls, N. Y., where he will speak at 3 p. m. today. On Sunday he will speak at the Ohio state fair in Columbus. On Sept. 20 Mr. Smith will return to Chicago to address a massmeeting in Eckhardt's grove southwest of the city.

Seek 20 Recruits Here for Army Air Service

Col. William W. Edwards, army recruiting officer with headquarters at the United States courthouse, said yesterday that he has been authorized to recruit twenty men for the aviation field at Selfridge, Mich. Those enlisting for Selfridge field service will have opportunity to go to an army school to prepare for the regular flying service as well as mechanical and clerical departments, Col. Edwards said.

SEES NEW DEAL TAKING PROFITS; GIVES G. O. P. 5%

"Attention, Americans," says a large sunflower bedecked sign in the window of the Schenck-Stewart company, roofers, at 2129 South Michigan avenue. It goes on:

"From now until Nov. 1, 1936, we will contribute to the Landon and Knox campaign 5 per cent of our gross sales. Horner takes 3 per cent of our sales. Roosevelt intends to take the other 97 per cent. So we are glad to tax ourselves 5 per cent toward the return of sane government and the right to remain in business."

With the placing of this sign in the window S. Z. Schenck, 63 years old, a former Kansan, who heads the company, formally opened his one man drive to raise G. O. P. funds. And he is not, he wants it known, a candidate for office.

"This New Deal just got under my skin from the beginning," he explained. "I'd like to see other business men do just what I'm doing."

COLONEL KILLED IN FALL ON KNIFE, NOTE EXPLAINS

Jamestown, Va., Aug. 21.—[Special.]—Col. Thomas J. Kirkpatrick, 68 years old, army medical corps, retired, of Richmond, was found dead in his summer cottage here today by a woman caretaker. He had fallen on a hunting knife and a note found near his body read:

"It was an accident. I had the knife in my hand and stum——"

After an autopsy Dr. J. Maurice Butler, medical examiner, said that death was accidental.

In 1895 he was appointed an assistant surgeon in the army and was cited for bravery in the Spanish-American war. At the outbreak of the world war he organized and took overseas base hospital 22 of Milwaukee, and in France was in command of a base hospital unit at Nantes.

Sidney Gets in Tight Place, but Firemen Dash to Rescue

Sidney Kushner, 2 years old, 3239 Douglas boulevard, stepped into a 5 inch water drain pipe in the back yard of his home yesterday and his right foot got stuck. His mother called the Fillmore police, who were unable to free the child. They notified the fire department, and a rescue squad dug for 15 minutes around the pipe, smashed it, and released Sidney.

TOUR OF DROUTH STATES MAPPED BY ROOSEVELT

Many Brief Talks Will Be "Nonpolitical."

ran, Park and Marland. I am asking Gov. Herring, as our host, to advise you as to the detailed plans for the conference."

At a press conference today Mr. Roosevelt not only emphasized that no political speeches would be made on the trip but declared he would not start his political campaign before Oct. 1. He insisted that even his speech before the "green pastures" meeting of seven southern states Sept. 10 would be nonpolitical in nature. He only grinned when newspaper men expressed a polite skepticism concerning this assertion.

The President said he was too busy to bother with political speeches. He was "bored to death" preparing them, he declared. He remarked that he had been kept up until early hours of the morning composing his "peace" address at Chautauqua, N. Y., last week and didn't want to go through the ordeal of drafting lengthy speeches more than he had to.

Despite all this expressed lack of interest in his campaign for reelection, the President's day was given up almost entirely to discussions with political henchmen. Charles Sawyer, Democratic national committeeman from Ohio, was an early visitor. He told Mr. Roosevelt, he said, that the situation in Ohio was "touch and go" at the moment, but that a trend towards Roosevelt was growing.

Advisers Map Strategy.

Farley and his group stayed for dinner and then, over cigars in the President's library, talked far into the evening of the general political situation. In addition to Farley, Michelson and Flynn, Emil Hurja, the "statistician" of the Democratic organization; Forbes Morgan, national committee treasurer; L. W. Robert, national committee secretary, and lesser lights were present.

Senator Gerald Nye, the North Dakota radical, and Representative Edward C. Moran of Maine, were other visitors. Nye discounted the reported loss of Roosevelt radical votes to William Lemke, third party candidate, and Moran expressed confidence that Maine would go Democratic in the September primaries.

Secretary of agriculture Henry A. Wallace, Harry Hopkins, chief administration spender as head of the WPA; Robert Fechner, head of the CCC, and several others will accompany the President on the western trip.

Drouth Trip Itinerary.

Benson have been invited to participate. Leave in afternoon for La Crosse, Wis., where a conference will be held with Gov. Philip F. La Follette, Senators F. Ryan Duffy, and Robert M. ROOSEVELT TRIO SEES BIRTHPLACE OF BRITISH CO-OPS

Commission in Pilgrimage to Rochdale.

MANCHESTER, England, Aug. 21.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's commission concluded its study of the coöperative productio.. and merchandising movement in Manchester today with a pilgrimage to the scene of its beginning.

The three commissioners visited the old-fashioned bull's-eye windowed shop in Toad lane at Rochdale, where twenty-eight workingmen initiated the system in 1844. The shop now is a museum, and the commission inspected the records of the pioneers' early modest transactions.

Extensive development of the movement was thrown into relief for the commission on its subsequent visit to a number of coöperative retail stores.

Members of Commission.

They will leave for the English lake district tomorrow and will continue their inquiry in Glasgow.

The Roosevelt group found the British coöperative system was far from being a strictly modern movement born of present day circumstances.

In 1769 a group of poor Ayrshire weavers clubbed together to buy oatmeal; in 1797 some 1,400 poor townsmen of Hull combined to own a windmill; in 1844 the Rochdale pioneers pooled their pennies, bought a store and brought clear emphasis to the "dividend upon purchase" idea.

The Plan.

The Rochdale plan was, simply, that the surplus remaining after goods bought in common had been retailed to members of the group at market prices should be distributed to members in proportion to their purchases.

Today this plan, designed to eliminate profit making, claims between one-third and one-half the families of Britain as participants, with more than 7,000,000 individual members.

These members own 1,135 retail coöperative societies. The societies in turn own and control three wholesale societies in England, Scotland, and Ireland, which manufacture, produce, and buy merchandise.

Members collect cash dividends, if desired, ranging from 25 to 75 cents on each $5 in merchandise. Profits of the wholesale society are passed along to retail societies through dividends, amounting to 8 cents on each $5 in merchandise with an extra 6 cents for dividends if the merchandise is produced or manufactured by the wholesale society itself.

4 BUSINESS MEN BACK ROOSEVELT; LAUD NEW DEAL

New York, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Two bank presidents, a department store head and a manufacturer tonight declared New Deal measures were largely responsible for business recovery and urged the reëlection of President Roosevelt.

They spoke on a nation-wide broadcast sponsored by the Democratic national committee.

"No clear thinking business man would discharge an executive under whom business had climbed from failure to success and hire some unknown who promised to reduce total expenditures without reducing any one expenditure," Filene said, speaking from Boston.

"Some call the New Deal reckless experimentation," he continued, "but the most reckless experiment in which America could now engage would be to stop Roosevelt."

RETURN SUICIDE VERDICT.

Suicide while despondent over ill health was the verdict of a coroner's jury yesterday at an inquest into the death of Mrs. Dorothy Sperry Larkin, who was found shot on Thursday in her home at 3121 North Cicero avenue.

CHICAGO DENIED DAYLIGHT TIME FOR RAILROADS

U. S. Commission Allows Michigan Change.

The interstate commerce commission in Washington ruled yesterday against the petition of the city of Chicago asking that the railroads be permitted to operate under the permanent daylight time system adopted here on March 1. At the same time the commission granted a petition to put the railroads in the peninsula of Michigan on eastern time, thus advancing the official eastern time zone to the eastern shore of Lake Michigan.

The commission pointed out that its ruling will not affect the daylight time system adopted in Chicago, but requires common carriers to operate on central time, as is done now in Chicago. The commission took a similar position when it denied a Michigan petition for eastern time in 1922, but it reversed itself on Michigan in the ruling yesterday.

Fear City Domination.

In its decision the commission said that individual states or their subordinate municipal governments should not be permitted to change the time for carriers, since they would thus enforce their will on other communities which might not desire the change. The ruling pointed out that in hearings on the Chicago petition held here in February, downstate farmers and the state of Wisconsin opposed the change of time in Chicago.

"The shifting about of the standards to suit the opposed needs of individual states or communities, either the year round or for the summer months, compels neighboring states to yield their equal rights of sovereignty and to concede to the powerful communities the domination over time standards, regardless of the effect upon operations in interstate commerce or the laws of the United States governing interstate carriers and government offices," the commission said.

Declares Advantages Offset.

The commission further ruled that advantages which Chicago would gain through time parity with the east would be no greater than advantages lost by changing from the central time to the middle west.

"It is not here apparent," the commission said, "that a parity of time with financial and industrial connection to the east of Chicago would be of any greater importance to the convenience of commerce, taken as a whole, than is the existing uniformity of time between Chicago and the agricultural and commercial sections in the middle west."

Situation Aids Michigan.

In reversing itself on eastern time for the lower peninsula of Michigan, the commission declared that the adoption of fast time there has gone beyond the experimental stage and that the change for railroads can now be made without difficulty.

In 1922 the commission rejected Michigan's plea for fast time because the western edge of the state opposed the change and because Chicago was on central time. Some observers here suggested yesterday that the reversal on Michigan indicates that the commission regards the Chicago time change as a permanent measure, thus justifying the extension of the eastern time zone through Michigan.

Ordinance Approved Last Fall.

The Chicago city council approved a permanent daylight time ordinance last fall, after eighteen years of experiment with summer daylight time, and the measure became effective on March 1. In February the city asked for the change in railroad time, and Michigan took advantage of the opportunity to renew its once rejected plea for the change.

During the summer the city asked the commission to withhold its decision on the time question, pending the outcome of a referendum planned at the Nov. 3 election. Petitions calling for such a referendum are now being circulated. Corporation Counsels Samuel A. Ettelson in 1919, Frank S. Righeimer in 1920, and Barnet Hodes in 1935, gave opinions that the city council lacks power to put the question on the ballot under the existing state laws.

Husky at 80, Husband Faces Cruelty Charges

A romance that blossomed last fall and culminated in the marriage of a woman of 50 to a man of 80 appeared ended yesterday when Mrs. Mamie Horne, 4332 North Keeler avenue, filed suit for separate maintenance in the Superior court against George M. Horne. The suit, which charges cruelty, adds that despite his age Horne is "strong and healthy and is given to outbursts of yelling and temper." The husband is a retired carpenter.

11 PASSENGERS HURT AS TWO STREET CARS COLLIDE; 50 SHAKEN

Eleven persons were injured and nearly seventy others were shaken yesterday morning when a rear truck of a north bound Western avenue street car was derailed and smashed into a south bound car discharging passengers at Western avenue and Cemak road. An iron bolt lying in a groove of the street car track was believed to have caused the accident.

Six of those injured were on the northbound car, and five were on the rear platform of the southbound car, which was crushed by the impact. The passengers became panic stricken and sought to fight their way out of the car. They were quieted, however, by Motorman George J. Wickman, of the northbound car, and Motorman Joseph Badin of the southbound car.

The injured, who were treated at nearby doctors' offices and sent home, were: Helen Senney, 2134 Huron street; Irving Simon, 2952 Belmont avenue; Edward Murphy, 3340 Adams street; Ida Cangurski, 3133 Flournoy street; Lawrence Dufor, 218 North Homan avenue; Leroy Hawkins, 220 North Wood street; Charlotte Kuprewicz and Jean Kuprewicz, 1275 North Wood street; Ruth Nicholson, 305 West 65th street; William Cheap, 2139 Thomas street, and A. DANCER IN SCOBIE SUIT SEIZED ON LICENSE CHARGES

Miss Lenore Miller, 1100 North Dearborn parkway, was arrested yesterday on a charge of operating without a city license a dancing academy at 28 East Jackson boulevard.

In Miami, Fla., Miss Miller has a $100,000 suit pending against David Pennistone Scobie, wealthy Lake Forest insurance broker, whom she charges with breach of promise and seduction. The suit states Miss Miller discovered in January, 1935, that Scobie was married, that he promised to divorce his wife and marry her, but failed to do so.

At the detective bureau last evening Miss Miller said: "This is the outgrowth of the trouble I am having with Mr. Scobie. They are trying to frighten me and make me withdraw the suit." Later she was released on $200 bond.

On his return to his home at 730 South Ridge road, Lake Forest, from a summer vacation recently, Scobie said his answer to Miss Miller's suit would be a denial of her charges.

SIX SENTENCED TO COUNTY JAIL IN AUTO COURT

Driver Blames Gunman for His Collision.

Six persons were sentenced to serve terms in the county jail for trafic violations in the Safety court of Judge Joseph A. Graber yesterday.

Edward J. Miller, 366 East 63d street, a musician, got a 15 day sentence for reckless driving. He told the court that a gunman entered his automobile and was driving it when it crashed into the car of Paul H. Smith, 2654 South Harding avenue, at California and Ogden avenues early this morning. After the accident, Miller said, the gunman fled.

There was a girl with him at the time, Miller testified, but he refused to name her. After the court had passed sentence, Mrs. Mary Hollenbeck, 2721 Ogden avenue, appeared to verify Miller's story. Judge Graber stayed the sentence until Monday to permit her to testify.

Owner Brings In Driver.

Ray Savich, 25 years old, 3255 East 91st street, was sentenced to 30 days in jail for leaving the scene of an accident, when he was brought into court by Harold Dezey, 26 years old, 9001 Commercial avenue, who had been previously sentenced on a similar charge.

Dezey told the court that Savich was driving his car when it was involved in an accident at 83d street and South Shore drive on July 10. Police, tracing the number, arrested Dezey, who was granted a stay to permit him to bring in Savich.

Others sentenced yesterday by Judge Graber were:

Sylvester Ambrose, 37 years old, 1152 West 51st street, 10 days for reckless driving.

He died early today in the Evangelical Deaconess hospital. Witnesses told police Klein's car stalled at the intersection, and he left it in gear while he pulled it forward. The car started suddenly and he fell beneath it.

William Thompson, 73 years old, 5257 North Paulina street, a salesman, died in the Swedish Covenant hospital yesterday of injuries received when he was struck on Tuesday by an automobile driven by John Burns, 38 years old, 4551 Malden street. Testimony showed that Junker was driving in the wrong trafic lane at the time of the accident. He admitted having had some beers shortly before the crash.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 601 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1, according to the coroner's office. Of these 458 were killed in Chicago. During the same period 11,411 were injured in trafic accidents within the city.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

EDUCATION'S END

By CALEB

AN unfortunate impression exists that education is a matter of so many years spent in the formal acquiring of specified knowledge. Having once acquired a diploma and degree, whether new ideas and additional learning are ever entertained by the graduate or not, he is educated! So the inference goes.

Education, as a matter of fact, is scarcely begun in college. It is carried on, for the most part, for those who want education, in every situation of life from then on.

The parents of a five-year-old child, for illustration, are likely to learn that little turtles eat ant eggs—and will crawl out of water onto a rock when called. They are likely to learn that huge Emperor Moths have fernlike feelers, velvety legs, and bodies of exquisite color. They are likely to learn that ants have a social organization far more highly developed than any civilization on earth—and had it long before men had any organization at all.

These things in themselves may not be important. They may not swell the family income or solve the family's problems. But they will help keep the adult minds of the family sensitive to the wondrous world about them.

In the days of falconry, a sportsman would release his falcon to capture a bird. The falcon, swift-winged and sure-taloned, would bring the bird which, otherwise—to the sportsman—was in an entirely different world and realm.

Curiosity is your falcon—and mine. If you have neglected and deadened or otherwise subjugated your curiosity, begin now to make amends. Curiosity, if permitted and encouraged, will reach out unerringly to bring back to you strange and interesting things for you to know. Curiosity is a distinguished parent of education.

If curiosity be kept alive, your mind will find room for enlightenment on little turtles and great economic problems—on the habits of ants and the ethics of international politics. Curiosity will serve education's interest, no end. But falcons do not work without encouragement.

We like the merchandising business because it constantly rewards curious people who are always moving forward—people whose education never ends.

QUACK SUSPECT SURRENDERS; 11TH ARREST IN DRIVE

Hunted 'Clinic' Associate Deserts Apartment.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Norman F. Allemier of 6824 Perry avenue yesterday surrendered in the County court and was released on a real estate bond of $6,000. He had been sought by deputy sheriffs since Tuesday night on a charge of practicing medicine without a license, brought by the state department of registration and education. His office is at 6859 South Wentworth avenue.

Allemier is the eleventh person arrested in the department's drive against persons allegedly violating the medical practice act. The drive was initiated Tuesday by John J. Hallihan, director of the department. Allemier, with several of the other suspects, will appear at a hearing next Thursday in the County court.

A new information was filed and a capias was issued late yesterday against Rudolph Ellman of 1746 Humboldt boulevard, who the department of registration and education claims practiced dentistry without a license.

Seek "Institute" Associate.

Department investigators and the sheriff's office still are seeking C. W. Roth of 6430 Glenwood avenue who is accused of practicing medicine without a license as an associate of the Natural Health institute at 1869 North Damen avenue.

Deputy sheriffs reported late in the day that they had visited the Glenwood avenue apartment of "Old Doc" Roth and found that the furniture was moved out early in the morning. The Damen avenue offices also were vacated, they reported.

The Natural Health institute is connected with the Mother Helen herbs store on the first floor of the building on Damen avenue, with which two other men under arrest also were associated, operating at other addresses, the department investigators under W. J. Jones, assistant superintendent, said.

They are Moritz H. Fleishman, who is charged with treating a state investigator at a herb emporium at 1851 Chicago avenue, and "Prof." John Strahler of 650 East 47th street. "Prof." Strahler, who treats colored patients largely, prescribed Pur-Erb Kidney Tonic, No. 6, for a colored investigator, it is charged, and applied a heat lamp after diagnosing his mythical illness as a social disease.

Both "Dr." Roth and "Dr." A. L. Ross, who was arrested at the Natural Health institute late Tuesday, treated a woman investigator for the department at the Damen avenue address, according to complaints. Lurid handbill advertisments circulated by the institute, which the state plans to introduce as trial evidence, proclaim that "90 per cent of all sickness springs from 'B. P.' [body poison]."

The ad continues to list the ailments successfully treated by their "combined double system." The list includes arthritis, asthma, appendicitis, anemia, Bright's disease, diabetes, gallstones, goitre, hay fever, heart trouble, kidney trouble, nervousness, pneumonia, tuberculosis, rheumatism, ulcers, and varicose veins.

Woman Tells Experiences.

An investigator, relating her experiences at the Natural Health institute, said:

"A nurse took my history, and called in a 'doctor' she later said was 'Dr.' Roth. He said it sounded like possible ulcers, gall bladder infection, or gall stones. It would take a great deal of concentrated treatment, one a day for two weeks at least. They told me to remove my dress and any tight garments.

"The 'doctor' came back, took my blood pressure, said it was low, used a stethoscope on my heart, pressed my stomach, and then began talking about money. He made up a list of treatments I would need which resembled a laundry list and estimated one week's treatments would cost me $35. Eventually he came down to $15 a week."

Urged to Bring Friends.

Old Doc Roth urged her to bring in any friends who were ill, saying he would give her a discount, she said, and then demanded at least $5 then and there, which she paid. He then gave her a treatment from an electrical machine. The cost of the medicine, she said, was extra.

On her next visit, she said, an attendant told her: "Of course you know that most any physician could give you relief possibly, but you want a permanent cure, and we give you the same treatment you would get at the Mayo Brothers' clinic." She got out by paying $6 instead of the $10 originally demanded, her report said.

ARRAIGN 4 ARMY MEN ON CHARGES OF RAPING GIRL, 13

Allegan, Mich., Aug. 21.—[Special.]—Four army men, arraigned here today on charges of statutory rape, demanded examinations when they appeared before Justice Volney W. Ferris. They are alleged to have raped a 13 year old Allegan girl near a depot here Aug. 13.

The accused, all held in jail here in default of bond, are Joseph Kaine, 25; James MacFarlane, 35, and Bernard Bridamour, 29, all of Fort Sheridan, and Cecil H. Richardson, 34, Denver, Colo. According to Sheriff Fred W. Miller, who arrested the men, three have been identified by the victim. The hearing will be held Aug. 27.

RULES ON MOVIES

DORIS KENYON.
[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Through the six years since Milton Sills died, Doris Kenyon, his widow, has preserved his last two movies so their son might some day see a living, speaking image of his father, whom he does not remember.

Today she has virtually given up the idea.

"I can't face it myself," she said. "And I'm not sure it would be a good thing for my boy."

Her son, Kenyon Sills, is now nearly 10. Shortly before his death, Sills starred in an early talkie, "The Sea Wolf." Miss Kenyon obtained a print of the film, and one of "Men of Steel," in which she played opposite her husband.

IF WAR OFFICE IS RIGHT HE'S KIDDING HIMSELF

New York, Aug. 21.—[Special.]—The United States government insists that William B. Clayton died in the world war. Mr. Clayton, however, insists that the report is grossly exaggerated.

Mr. Clayton, and particularly his wife, has decided that it is no longer amusing. Today, for the fourth time, Mrs. Clayton received word of the death of her husband. Mr. Clayton is a member of the staf of the Nassau county clerk's office, at Mineola.

He served in the world war and in 1918 when he was in France the war risk insurance division of the war department advised Mrs. Clayton that her husband had been killed in action.

She hardly had learned that the report was false when she received notification that Mr. Clayton had been reported missing from a front-line trench. She again learned the report was false. Then the department wrote her that her husband had been taken to a field hospital for treatment.

The whole matter was dropped after Mr. Clayton's return from France and the incidents almost forgotten when a letter from the war risk insurance division arrived in this morning's mail.

It announced in sorrowful language that Mr. Clayton had been killed in action in France. Mr. Clayton said he believed some mix-up in the records had brought about the notifications, but that he is going to write the division tomorrow in an effort to "make myself alive."

DEMOBILIZATION OF WAR GAME TROOPS PUSHED

Battle Creek, Mich., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Troop trains and motor convoys today speeded the three-day demobilization of 20,000 National Guardsmen of Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin, concentrated here for final maneuvers following the war games in western Michigan.

The first of the motorcades and the 26 special trains were already on their way. The last of the troops will reach their home cities by midnight Sunday. The first detachment to leave, consisting of units of the 33d division, Illinois National Guard, departed by truck.

Troop transports waited at piers at Grand Haven and South Haven, Mich., to receive Milwaukee contingents and many of the Illinois units.

Cavalry and horse-drawn artillery companies of the second army were marching home. The 12th brigade of the regular army will leave tomorrow for the national rifle matches at Camp Perry, Ohio.

Studio Denies Mary Astor Will Lose Movie Contract

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Persistent reports that Mary Astor's motion picture contract would be canceled by Columbia Studios were formally denied today by Harry Cohn, president of the company. He said her contract expires in April, 1937, and calls for two more pictures from her. These, he added, will be made. He said he had not considered cancelation.

SATURDAY NEWS OF NEW BOOKS

'Lost Morning' Takes Heyward to New Field

Problems of Artist Theme of New Novel.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Lost Morning," by Du Bose Heyward. [Farrar & Rinehart, $2.50.] Published on Thursday.

DU BOSE HEYWARD, who has come, through "Porgy" and "Peter Ashley" and the novels in between, to seem the authentic spokesman of black and white in the lush atmosphere of the south, and who has been a recorder of a vividly localized psychology, has left his native soil in "Lost Morning."

Not that he has left the physical roots of the south—for the action of this novel takes place entirely, except for the last chapter, in a Carolina town. And he comments often on the influence of the town on his characters. But the perplexed hero is no typical southerner but a typical artist, and his strife is not with his environment but with his artistic conscience.

He is a successful etcher, made so by a skilfully managing wife. But he is no longer the passionate, eager artist propelled by his dreams. Propulsion has gone out of him, his morning of passion for his work is lost. How he regains it at the age of 45 is the theme of "Lost Morning."

Most of Mr. Heyward's devoted readers will miss the rich, full tapestry of the south, against which his characters have heretofore moved and had their vivid being. Exeter seems merely another small city anywhere, with a country club life, and the assorted manifestations of hospitals, politics, twenty story buildings, and small city gossip.

Mr. Heyward is concerned in "Lost Morning" with the problems of the artistic and not the southern temperament, with the taking of artistic stock before it is too late, with the values and vagaries of the creative instinct.

"Porgy" was one of the modern American classics. "Lost Morning" is not. It is, however, a sincere contribution to the literature of the baffling subject of the artist and his relation to success, society, and marriage.

I am just back from motorings here and there, with memories: of Provincetown, because so many authors had found it a comfort [among them John Dos Passos, whose just published "Big Money" solaced us for the jammed-in little "quaintness" of the town]; of the supremely beautiful island of Mount Desert, visited because Henry Van Dyke has said it was the most beautiful small island in the world; of the tender little church in Quebec where the two children in "Shadows on the Rock" went every afternoon to worship [apparently unchanged since those far off days]; of one startlingly frank sign on Cape Cod which declared, in protest against the "Antiques" signs which decorate every other house, "New Furniture Sold Here"; of meeting a delightful woman who taught me to knit and who proved to be a relative of Helen Waddell, author of "Peter Abelard," and who knew Lord Tweedsmuir, governor general of Canada [John Buchan to you, whose "The Man From the Norlands" is just out]; of very accidentally coming upon the 78 year old first president of the Booksellers' Association of America, Mr. Wolcott, who now has a tiny shop in Skaneateles, N. Y.; of watching from a turret room the full glory of dawn bursting out of the impenetrable blackness of the sea off the Gloucester rocks; of seeing everywhere life reflected in the books we had read or crying to be caught in words to be read.

CHICAGOAN WRITES OF THE LAND

Louise Redfield Peattie has written about the love of an American family for its inherited groves in "American Acres." The book chronicles the land's beneficent influence over the whole Honeywell clan. Mrs. Peattie has lived many of her own short years near Chicago in such a grove as she writes about so feelingly. She is the wife of Donald Culross Peattie, author of "Green Laurels."

Wells to Head Staf of Experts of Cyclopaedia

BY FRANK SWINNERTON.

LONDON.—[Special Correspondence.]—Just after that astonishing septuagenarian had written his own imaginary obituary notice, which gave him a further seventeen years of life, came the news that H. G. Wells is embarking upon a new Universal Cyclopædia of Modern Knowledge in which he will direct a body of experts and achieve his magnum opus.

Mr. Wells, of course, is not quite 70, but he will attain his birthday soon, and a younger man of 70 does not exist. He looks no more than 60; his energy is extraordinary; and his brain and tongue are as rapid as ever. There is not the least sign of any dimming of the old brilliance.

And now that Mr. Wells has moved to a spot in which he can enjoy the open air from one of London's great parks, and hear the lions roaring at night in the zoölogical gardens, he seems to grow younger day by day. The "imaginary obituary notice" which he wrote was one of a series organized by the British radio periodical, the Listener; and various well known people will pretend to tell what the press will say of them after they are dead. No doubt the inspiration of this series arose from E. M. Forster's little joke of the same kind which is printed in "Abinger Harvest."*

Another septuagenarian, Ernest Rhys, the editor of Everyman's Library, is producing an odd and entertaining volume which is called "Letters from Limbo" [Dent]. It consists of a collection of letters sent to Mr. Rhys by all sorts of famous or interesting people in the course of his long life, and the writers range from Walt Whitman to Ezra Pound and Charles Morgan. Robert Browning, Bernard Shaw, George Moore, and W. B. Yeats are also among the contributors.

No author has been more ecstatically praised than Ernest Bramah, whose "Wallet of Kai Lung" has become a modern classic, largely as a result of the applause given it by Hilaire Belloc, Sir John Squire, and other admirers.

Now there is to be a Kai Lung Omnibus [Philip Allan], in which all of Mr. Bramah's writings in this mock eastern vein are to be gathered together. Mr. Belloc, after describing "The Wallet" as a masterpiece, adds that "no critic can pretend to establish the cause." Perhaps now that all the stories are available in a single book some critic will make the attempt!

Zoo Guidebook Is Help to Vocabulary of Authors

In the copiously illustrated and textually illuminating guidebook to the Chicago Zoölogical park [which, incidentally, has an introduction by one of our favorite human beings, John T. McCutcheon, who is president of the Chicago Zoölogical society] there are names of animals to be found which would greatly enlarge a writer's vocabulary when he is looking for descriptive epithets. Our favorite is that of one of the classes of lizards, the "skinks." What more blasting than calling some one a "skink"—an etymological cross between a skunk and a missing link.

Mysteries of the Week

BY MORTIMER QUICK

A GOOD solid mystery story for those who like their murders quietly and practically executed is "The Penrose Mystery" [Dodd Mead, $2] by R. Austen Freeman. Not that it lacks originality, either, or a certain lightness of touch, but when Dr. Priestley sets his mind to work the result is an orderly succession of disorderly details which promptly fall into a reasoned whole. And this continues to astound Priestley's Watson-like friend, Jervis, and the Scotland Yard man assigned to the case, whoever he may be.

In this particular story an eccentric Mr. Penrose is the victim. He is a collector of curios of doubtful value, and on this enthusiasm the mystery hinges. It is a little overamplified in spots and rather meager in others, but of its type is satisfactory and pleasing.

"The Doctor Died at Dusk" [Morrow, $2], by Geoffrey Homes, is a horse of another color. You may remember young Bishop who, in an earlier book, "The Man Who Murdered Himself," was hunting missing heirs in a highly reprehensible manner. Now he has returned to journalism and is covering a strike of fruit pickers in the San Joaquin valley when murder begins to pop. He stands by until all crimes are solved. His methods are, to say the least, odd, but he gets his man with great sureness of touch, and the resulting yarn is distinctly entertaining.

This book is tough but not too tough and neither are young Bishop's softer moments too soft. It is to be hoped that Mr. Homes will uncover fresh escapades of this daring and determined young man and plant them in and among equally eccentric scenes and characters.

GONE WITH THE WIND

A whole summer's reading in one novel. "I take this book with me wherever I go. I have read it twice and am now starting on Page One again." Not a dull page in all its 1,000 pages . . .

"Anyone in search of a summer's reading could do no better than invest in GONE WITH THE WIND." . . . . "It has no rival as the Book of the Year." . . . . "A book to own and re-read and remember forever." . . . . "The year's triumphant volume—There is nothing quite in its order in our day." . . . . SPANISH REBELS OPEN 'BIG PUSH' AGAINST MADRID

Advance on Capital Under Artillery Barrage.

BULLETIN.

BARCELONA, Spain Aug. 21.—(Havas))—Cordoba, southern rebel stronghold, has been captured by loyalist forces, the Catalonian government announced tonight.

PAMPLONA, Spain [by Courier to French Frontier], Aug. 21.—(AP)—The "big push" on Madrid was launched by the rebel northern army at dawn today.

Military headquarters at Pamplona said three rebel columns atop the Guadarrama mountains, northwest of the loyalist capital, had opened their long awaited drive. The rebel forces included Moorish troops brought from the southern armies of Gen. Francisco Franco, regulars, Fascists, and Carlists.

A terrific artillery barrage by land batteries and bombing by airplanes accompanied the advance.

Rebel officers said the push would be halted after several miles to consolidate positions, and then would be resumed in a fierce attempt "to take the capital within a short time."

Rebels Shift Headquarters.

VALLADOLID, Spain, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Vastly reënforced rebel troops started forward today in the Guadarrama mountains in an effort to take Madrid.

Rebel headquarters were shifted here from Burgos. Rebel leaders said their forces numbered 200,000 in the northern provinces alone, swelled from 25,000 in mid-July.

Gen. Milan Astray, the one-eyed founder of the Spanish Foreign legion, reviewed 2,000 tassel capped fighters. The youthful "falangistas," composed of the fascist troops of José Primo de Rivera, son of the late Spanish dictator, included many young girls dressed as men.

Hand to Hand Fighting.

[Copyright: 1936: By the Associated Press.]

IRUN, Spain, Aug. 21.—Hand to hand combat broke out on this battle-front tonight. Government troops, under "do or die" orders, recaptured two hills taken earlier in the day by rebels. Insurgent patrols on the hills a few miles suthwest of here fired on the Irun-San Sebastian highway.

The government rushed a column of 500 militiamen, armed with rifles and home made dynamite grenades, to retake the hills at any cost. The leftists started a brush fire at the base of the slopes. The smoke, providing a screen for the counter attack, whipped up to the summits and drove the rebels back.

The government troops followed the fire to the crest of each hill and defeated the rebels in hand to hand fighting.

Madrid Claims Victories.

MADRID, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The government claimed progress of its forces in several sectors today.

Col. Julio Mangada reported victories at Navalperal. Other reports asserted government loyalists forces had captured Capse, near Saragossa. The loyalists also proclaimed a steady advance by their forces on Palma, capital of the Island of Mallorca. Heavy fighting was reported in Mallorca.

Four hundred rebels were captured, the government reported, in skirmishes in the Guadarrama mountains, north of Marid, along with quantities of ammunition and supplies.

Claim Capture of Huesca.

BARCELONA, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Loyalist forces loosed a terrific artillery barrage tonight against the City of Huesca, near Saragossa, and succeeded in driving out the rebels, official reports stated.

Government troops, they said, prepared to enter the city, which was described as being in ruins after the loyalist bombardment.

Report Fighting in Malaga.

CORUNA, Spain, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The Fascist rebel broadcasting station here said tonight the loyalist garrison at the southern city of Malaga had revolted and a furious battle was going on in the streets.

Loyalists Take Guadelupe.

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

LISBON, Portugal, Aug. 21.—Guadelupe, in Caceres province of Spain, was taken in a bayonet charge by the loyalist "phantom column" of militia under Capt. Urubarri today after a forced march of eleven miles. A number of insurgents are said to be still holding the fourteenth century monastery outside Guadelupe, while Capt. Urubarri with his main force is continuing to advance toward Canamero, seven miles westward on the way to Caceres, the chief city of the province.

SPANISH REBELS SAY 15 FRENCH PLANES BOMBARD

LISBON, Portugal, Aug. 22 [Saturday.]—(AP)—The Lisbon Radio club in a broadcast today said the rebel Spanish command had declared a squadron of fifteen French war planes, flying their own colors, had bombarded Navalperal and other rebel strongholds.

[Navalperal is 53 miles northwest of Madrid, in the Guararrama mountains.]

The radio club asserted it had been officially informed that the rebel administration at Burgos, Spain, intended to notify all nations in Europe it was protesting the bombardment in strong terms.

Representatives of all countries will be invited to visit the war zone districts, the station said it had been told, "to certify the effects of the bombardment by French war planes."

HOW SPAIN IS DIVIDED BY CIVIL WARFARE

Spain's civil war is a series of little wars. In the Guadarrama mountains north of Madrid there is something that might resemble a defined battle line. The rest of the country resembles something like a case of spotted fever. Battles for cities and towns go on daily. Loyalists hold towns in rebel dominated territory and vice versa. Catalans, who for purposes of war are fighting with the Madrid forces, appear to control their own province of Catalonia and are aiding Madrid forces in the drive on Saragossa.

The rebels, who are concentrating for the moment on the capture of Madrid, are composed of various factions with rightist political beliefs, including Fascists, monarchists and clericals. Their purpose is to overthrow the government at Madrid, which is controled by leftist elements, including Republicans, Socialists, communists, and anarchists.

Catalonia, which already has taken steps to secede from Madrid, is dominated by various factions of extreme leftists. They have dismissed officials appointed by Madrid, confiscated all private property, and set up a communistic form of government similar to that of Russia.

RUSSIA COOL TO PROTEST

MOSCOW, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The German ambassador to Moscow, it was learned tonight, was given little satisfaction in reply to his demand that propaganda against Germany cease. Newspaper attacks on Germany continue unabated.

The official communist organ, Pravda, replied to the allegation in some Berlin newspapers that the trial here of persons alleged to have conspired against the soviet union was organized to attract attention away from what they said was the communist internationale's policy of foreign intervention.

"It is doubtful whether Fascists, whose intervention in Spain is getting more and more insolent, will succeed in diverting attention from the terroristic activities of the gestapo [German secret police] agents in this fashion," Pravda said. "The Trotzky trial here will reveal this."

BRITAIN WARNS SPAIN

[Copyright: 1936: By the Associated Press.]

LONDON, Aug. 21.—Great Britain tonight warned that Spanish waters would become a naval battleground if either the Spanish rebels or government forces molested British vessels on the high seas.

In pungent terms, Great Britain followed Nazi Germany's "force against force" ultimatum and warned the Spanish belligerents that England would take "stern measures" against ships or warplanes which menace British lives or property.

If a British vessel suffered interference, it was said, the commanders were instructed to drop three warning shots across the bows of the offending ship, then "take aim."

The British action, parallel to that of Germany, was said to be independent of any moves of the Reich.

The London ultimatum was issued after it had been decided officially that neither of the Spanish warring factions under international custom was within its rights in searching neutral vessels on the high seas.

It was said that before such a right could be recognized by Great Britain a state of belligerency must first be recognized. None of the European powers officially has gone on record as recognizing a war in Spain.

Second, it was said officially, international law specifies that a blockade is a blockade only when it is effective. Until these conditions prevailed officially, British government sources said, no nation was entitled to exercise belligerent rights such as "visit or search" on the high seas.

SPAIN THANKS RUSSIA

MADRID, Aug. 21.—(AP)—About $13,000,000 was donated by citizens of soviet Russia to the cause of the socialists-communist Spanish loyalists. This was disclosed today when the loyalist premier, Jose Giral, thanked Michael Koldzov, editor of the Russian newspaper Pravda, for the sympathy of the Russian people. Pravda is the official organ of the Russian communist party.

Mussolini Promises to Stay Neutral in Spanish War—'If'

ROME, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Fascist Italy tonight officially promised to ban arms shipments to Spain if the other European powers would pledge themselves to do likewise.

Accepting—with reservations—the French neutrality pact proposal, Premier Mussolini's foreign minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano, guaranteed that his government would place an embargo on shipments of arms, munitions, war materials, airplanes, and warships if the other powers fell into line.

Hits "Indirect Interference."

Ciano, who made the decision public after a long conference with the French ambassador, Count Charles de Chambrun, appended to the pact a declaration dealing with "indirect interference."

This was taken to mean public subscriptions or enrollments of volunteers by a foreign power to aid either of the Spanish belligerents.

Italy also agreed that the embargo would be applied to contracts already in force.

Italy also favored reciprocal notification by the powers of all measures taken to further the arms embargo.

Includes Arms Manufacturers.

The Italian government also declared that to make the accord binding European nations which manufacture arms should be included. This would apply to such countries as Czechoslovakia.

The points of agreement defined in a communique issued by Ciano were:

1. Prohibition of shipments or transits of arms.
2. Application of this to contracts now in the course of execution.
3. Interexchange of information among other interested states.

Ciano specified that the arms embargo should be extended to Spain, Spanish possessions, and Spanish Morocco.

POLAND ENTERS ARENA

WARSAW, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The Polish chargé d'affaires at Madrid lodged a firmly worded protest today against the alleged arrest and shooting by the Spanish peoples' militia of the Polish consul at Valencia, Spain.

Poland demanded a full explanation of the incident. Officials, however, pointed out that the consul, Vicente Noguera, a Spanish citizen, did not enjoy the diplomatic privileges to which a citizen of another country would be entitled.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Invoking a "moral" embargo against exports of war materials to Spain, the state department indirectly has advised inquiring munitions dealers that sales to either faction in the Spanish conflict would be incompatible with America's neutrality policy.

The department disclosed today that several concerns within recent days had solicited its views on the propriety of filling orders from Spain for arms and munitions.

Officials of the munitions control board said today there had been no neutrality violations so far.

SPANISH REVOLT FACES DEADLOCK; LOYALISTS 'DIG IN'

Circle Cities with Barbed Wire and Trenches.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HENDAYE, France, Aug. 21.—The Spanish civil war entered its fifth week today with the insurgent armies of Gen. Emilio Mola and Gen. Francisco Franco maintaining a dominant position throughout the country, but in serious danger of being stalemated unless they gain a decisive victory soon.

This is due to a change which has taken place in the loyalist ranks—a change which is significant of what may happen throughout Spain if Mola continues his present tactics. The loyalists in the north, who at the beginning of the week were panicky and rapidly collapsing, have been reenforced by 800 hard-boiled Catalonian anarchists, who crossed through French territory by train. They have received eight wagon loads of munitions—nominally shipped from Catalonia via France also, but according to some rumors of purely French origin—and several French and German emigre reserve officers are gradually whipping the loyalist mob into something like an army.

Loyalists Intrench Selves.

Under the guidance of these officers, the Madrid forces have been digging trenches, putting up barbed wire and establishing strong machine gun nests all along the front, and the rebels are going to have a much tougher time getting into San Sebastian than they would have had a week ago.

The same thing is happening on the front at Madrid and in Catalonia. The rebel high command realizes this perfectly and may try to cut it short by seeking a decisive engagement in the next few days.

Mola, up until now, has been counting heavily on internal dissension in the loyalist ranks to win the war without ever fighting a real battle. There have been some signs to show his reasoning was sound. In many parts of the territory nominally held by Madrid, civil guards and the loyalist militia, who started out as allies, have turned to massacring one another.

Fear Catalan Defection.

In the same way it is quite possible that if the war drags on a while without any decisive result, friction between the left republican and extremist elements of the Popular Front may lead to an open split.

Then there are the Catalonians, who are capable of leaving Madrid in the lurch by declaring a separate Catalan state without awaiting the end of the war. An important step in this direction was taken Wednesday by Luis Companys, president of Catalonia, under pressure from separatist elements.

Finally there are the Basque nationalists, who may yet be led away from the government, with which they have nothing in common except hatred of the rebel generals.

Whether Mola's reasoning is sound or false and whether he will stick to it or finally decide to shoot his way into Madrid at any cost, the plain truth is that there has not yet been a real battle in this bloodiest of modern civil wars.

BANDITS RUN WILD IN CATALONIA; REFUGEES STREAM INTO FRANCE

PORT VENDRES, France, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Refugees flooded across the Spanish border today in flight, they said, from banditry and sudden death in Catalonia.

The government, they declared, was completely broken down. Large numbers of merchants and industrialists who said they were favorable to the Spanish popular front, declared neither the Catalonian government council, nor the political parties were able to cope with armed looters pillaging the province in bands.

More than 200 persons were summarily executed in Tarragona, they said, and several hundred others were shot without trial at Lerida. Only one priest, a fugitive said, escaped execution in the town of Villa Franca Del Panades. That was because he carried a gun and wore a red amulet.

An industrialist, who said he belonged to the party of President Manuel Azana, declared all his factories had been seized by outlaw committees not recognized by the government council. The council recently decreed "collectivization of all privately owned industry in autonomous Catalonia on a communistic pattern."

Nazis Resume Mass Trials of 215 Franciscan Friars

COBLENZ, Germany, Aug. 21.—Mass trials of 215 Franciscan friars accused of improper relations with their young charges were resumed today after being recessed during the Olympics. Brother Gratian was sentenced to a year and nine months' imprisonment. Reports published by the Nazi press said he had confessed. He was the 35th friar to be sentenced.

SPLIT IN MEXICAN CABINET SEEN IN ROW OVER POWER

At Least Two Ministers May Quit Posts.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 21.—(AP)—A new crisis in President Lazaro Cardenas' 18 months old government was foreseen today following the resignation of Emilio Portes Gil as president of the national revolutionary [government] party.

Two or more cabinet members, informed sources expected, will follow the astute Portes Gil, whose leadership of the revolutionary party gave him political power second only to that of Cardenas.

Gen. Saturnino Cedillo, thick-set, conservative secretary of agriculture, and Eduardo Suarez, secretary of the treasury, were the two believed most likely to resign, these sources said.

Others who might resign from the cabinet, informants stated, were Gen. Eduardo Hay, foreign secretary, and Jenaro Vazquez, secretary of labor.

That view gained credence in that Portes Gil's resignation was said authoritatively to be the culmination of a behind-the-scenes struggle for power with Gen. Francisco Mujica, radical secretary of public works.

PORTUGUESE REVOLT REPORTS ARE DENIED; PRESIDENT IS SAFE

LISBON, Portugal, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Reports that the Spanish revolt had spread to Portugal were said by government officials tonight to have been "totally unfounded."

Commander Jayme Athias, general secretary to the president, said President Oscar Carmona was "quite well and happy." [Reports reaching London had said Carmona had been killed.]

Government officials said tonight the country remained quiet.

The silence last night of the Lisbon radio station, which ordinarily broadcasts frequent bulletins on the Spanish civil war, had led to reports in London that a state of revolt prevailed.

BOWERS SAYS HE DOESN'T PLAN TO RETURN TO SPAIN

HENDAYE, France, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Claude G. Bowers, United States ambassador to Spain, said tonight he had no immediate plans for leaving this border city.

Bowers left Spain some time ago aboard the U. S. coast guard cutter Cayuga, where he set up a temporary embassy to direct the exodus of American refugees. Previously he had taken refuge in a cellar at Fuenterrabia, Spain, after rebel forces besieged San Sebastian, Bay of Biscay resort where he had his summer embassy.

An official of the British embassy said he planned also to remain here indefinitly. Staffs of other embassies and legations, however, indicated they might leave for Barcelona and then return to Madrid.

MINORITIES IN THE U. S. A.

Of Gov. Landon's many wise sayings, published from day to day on THE TRIBUNE'S first page, none is more characteristic of his spirit and of his grasp of American principles than that which appears today.

"A government," he said in his Kansas day address last January, "is free in proportion to the rights it guarantees to the minority." That statement would have been applauded in the immortal convention which, as Gov. Landon reminded his hearers, was framing a constitution not to give us rights we already possessed, but to protect them.

The statesmen who laid the foundations of the American system of government knew its operation must rest upon the decision of majorities. But they recognized that a popular majority could be as ruthless and unjust as any monarch and they intended to limit and restrain its power. They hoped they had accomplished this not only by separating the powers of government and limiting them by fundamental guaranties, but also by preserving the sovereignty of the states to insure local self-government. By this scheme of checks and balances they hoped to prevent the concentration of power and among other things to protect minorities from oppressive majorities. Hamilton or Madison, writing in the Federalist under the style of Publius, explained that "by comprehending in the society [nation] so many separate descriptions of citizens as will render an unjust combination of the whole very improbable, if not impracticable," minorities would be protected from oppression.

No doubt this has been in the main fulfilled. But it has not worked as well as the optimism of our forbears inclined them to expect. Majorities have oppressed minorities and deprived them of their political and civil rights. Our system goes a long way to restrain this evil of popular government, but we now have a political régime possessed of great powers, which has shown its intention to enhance the authority of government over the states and over the individual, and to centralize that authority.

Inevitably this movement not only has reached the individual, but threatens all minorities—racial minorities, religious minorities, territorial minorities, economic minorities. Every citizen is, at one time or another, or in one political situation or another, a member of a minority, so this question of the protection of minorities concerns every individual, and not merely those who belong to the self-conscious and permanent minorities determined by race or religion. Such minorities have indeed special reasons for fearing any great concentration and expansion of government power, though it may not seem at the time to be hostile, for it will place in the hands of "impulsive majorities" what those minorities hold most precious in life. But all citizens may find themselves in a minority or even in several minorities based on the region in which they live, upon their occupation, or upon their rights of property. Therefore it is of vital interest to every citizen that the protection of minorities should not be weakened by the concentration of governmental power by the breakdown of the restraints and limitations our constitution places upon it.

What has happened to minorities in Europe since the end of the world war, and especially since the rise of the dictatorships, in Russia, in Italy, in Germany, leaves no excuse for any literate American to ignore the constitutional aspects of this campaign.

"A government is free in proportion to the rights it guarantees minorities." That is the saying of a man who is profoundly American, an American typical not only of a prairie state but of all Americans in every state who still love liberty and understand its essentials.

THE TROJAN HORSE AGAIN.

Certain elements exist in every division of the business world that yern for government standardization of prices and practices. This frame of mind, the antithesis of aggressiveness, clings to the hope that all articles will eventually be sold from the shelf, so to speak, marked with an unalterable price, fixed by law and observed by all makers of similar articles. The characteristic is particularly in evidence in the managements of public service institutions, encouraged perhaps by the mistaken belief that price policing has improved conditions in the railway industry.

Two years ago many bus operators felt that frozen fares would bring the millenium. The fear that patrons might secure lower prices by "shopping around" would be removed. While stabilization of the industry was the announced purpose, the real objective was the elimination of competition and the establishment of monopoly —the privilege of politely telling travelers that they could pay the stated fare or walk.

A burocratic government is always willing to oblige, so that highway transportation had little difficulty in securing the necessary legislation, only to discover, too late, that liberty is the most wonderful thing in the world. Regulators are never content to codify prices alone. They invariably invade the management of the processes of production. First came orders to establish a licensing system for chauffeurs. Next came regulation of insurance and a ponderous legal jungle to govern tariff making and routing. The latest is a law fixing forty-five miles per hour as a maximum speed. That figure is considered adequate in Texas supposedly because it has been adjudged the upper edge of safety in the District of Columbia. Automobile drivers know well the result. "Funeral processions" will form behind the buses on two lane highways because the opportunities for passing the larger vehicles are extremely limited. More instead of fewer accidents are bound to occur because the motorist who will take a chance is the rule rather than the exception.

Some progressive individuals are threatening to dispute a few of these orders in the courts. If they are wise they will test the constitutionality of the whole law before highway transportation assumes that lethargic state of "contentment behind the bars" that so long characterized the railways.

THE RUSSIAN CONSPIRATORS.

Russia is again proving truths which have been well proved before. Dictatorships exist by force. The remedy sought against them is assassination. The consequence is more repression or more terrorism or both. What was back of the dramatic confessions in court made by the veteran associates of Lenin and Trotzky can only be conjectured. Zinoviev, Kamenev, and the other conspirators may have been tortured to a breakdown, although there is a defiant pride in their declarations that they intended to kill Stalin and four high rank commissars.

In the Russian courtroom a crazy world is disclosed. For the most part the accused declaim against themselves, sometimes against each other, but for the most part each against himself, like so many state prosecutors. When Zinoviev said that to regain power he was going the whole route from terrorism to Fascism it's as if a lunatic were talking, and possibly was—either that or a man in deadly fear of a most painful end if he did not make his testimony an eloquent tribute to the success of Stalin.

Persons groping for any reality in the mists of the Russian political mind will remember that Mussolini, not getting anywhere as a socialist, had no troubles of intellect or conscience in pouncing upon his former brethren as a Fascist. Any road to the dictatorship. These Russian conspirators were done as communists. Possibly they thought that what Mussolini had done they could do. The dictatorship is the thing, with or without the proletariat.

The communists, as soon as they were relieved of outside pressure from White Russians, counter-revolutionaries, and hostile nations, fell upon each other. Although supposedly indoctrinated from a common source and unquestionably dominant within their own country they were unable to keep in agreement with each other. They established what they called the dictatorship of the proletariat by class warfare. If they did not exterminate all the classes they opposed they reduced them to abjection. They have been at work on a new generation which has known nothing but the Marxian plan of society.

Both Lenin and Stalin were forced to retreat from the letter of the book and modify the true word because the true word would not work, but these were supposed to be expedients needed in a period of transformation. A plan of society which can work does not produce a divided leadership of irreconcilable enemies. It does not try to work through assassination and capital punishment.

If nothing were revealed of the economic imperfections of this planned society its inability to gain a position where it is safe from internal violence would be enough proof of its abject hopelessness.

Editorial of the Day

[Railway Age.]

Those who were privileged to hear the address of Judge R. V. Fletcher, vice president and general counsel of the Association of American Railroads, at the recent meeting of the accounting officers at Detroit, will not soon forget what they heard. It was a "keynote"—if a word may be used which is coming into disrepute because of its connotation of politics—of a new aggressiveness and youthful vigor on the part of the railroad industry. The man who delivered this address, one bears in mind, is the principal contact between the railroads and the federal governmental authorities, and those who heard him can have no doubt whatever that the railroad attitude in the national capital is to be one of self-respecting insistence on the rights of free citizenship, and not one of hat-in-hand servility before burocracy and politics.

The railroads exist to serve the American people and American industry; not to provide livings for a horde of hair splitting legalists who now fatten upon the bewildering procedural and precedental maze into which federal regulation has degenerated. What industry and the American people need are rates which will move the business of the country; and not the dog-in-the-manger prohibitions [such as the fourth section] which inhibit rather than foster the free movement of interstate commerce.

We hope that others will take up the demand for a simplification of regulation which Judge Fletcher has uttered [indeed, several railroad spokesmen have done so already] and will urge it repeatedly upon the public and industrial leaders until relief is forthcoming. The public respects individuals and institutions who are upright and have the courage of their integrity to insist upon treatment as honorable and competent citizens, and not as criminals or mendicants. The railroads are no exception to this general observation.

The streamlined train and modern high speed freight service are not evidences merely of technical advance in the art of transportation. More important than that, they symbolize a new aggressive spirit, born of the emergence of success in surmounting almost insuperable difficulties. Individuals who have won the battles through which the railroads have passed in recent years have an experience and an impetus before which the simpler difficulties of a period of recovery should quickly dissolve.

November, 1920. Our Hometown Legion football team was playing the Edgeville Legion. Our boys had been good once. And if they had trained on corncob pipes and (some of them) on moonshine licker, they were still better than the Edgeville squad, which also trained carte blanche.

The day of the game arrived and we trouped to Edgeville. The atmosphere was tense, as it should have been. But why the air of supreme confidence? All of Edgeville was offering to bet big money, tens and twenties, at even odds. The Hometown sports who were along said it was like old wheat in the mill and wagered to the extent of their pocketbooks.

Immediately after the Hometowners scored a touchdown we understood. From a barn outside the field trotted five lithe young men. Ere long we recognized them—college players of the year who had been rated All-State by the metropolitan experts. They took the places of five already winded Edgeville players. We fear the collegians were not strictly amateur that afternoon.

There was no joy in Hometown that night. We had been had by experts. The score: Edgeville, 45; Hometown, 7.

WHEN THE BABY VOMITS.

BABIES vomit easily and no mother should be bothered unduly if the youngster goes through this performance now and then. Furthermore, nothing should be done to stop it, as it may be regarded as positive evidence that the baby's stomach contains too much food or possibly improper food.

If a baby eats too rapidly air will be swallowed, and if thereby the stomach becomes overdistended, after a bit, up will come some of the material. In a breast fed infant a considerable amount of air may enter the stomach when a child nurses at a milkless breast, or it may be sucked in and swallowed if the bottle is empty. If the feedings are correct in amount and in proportion, the bottle should be retained only as long as it contains food. In other words, do not permit the babe to continue playing with an empty bottle.

Many a mother will be much disturbed that the milk returns "curdled," but this is normal. All milk will clabber as soon as it comes into contact with the ferments of the gastric juices; in fact, this is the first step in digestion.

But what are some of the avoidable causes of vomiting? Some mothers believe that the baby's abdomen needs to be retained within a tight girdle, and I have seen bellybands pinned so snugly as to crowd the stomach upward against the diaphragm and greatly reduce its capacity. Binders, if used at all, should be relatively loose and employed only to protect the abdominal muscles when the baby cries.

Sometimes feedings are too far apart and, because of great hunger, this leads to rapid eating or the bolting of food. Again, youngsters are often handled too much. Picking the baby up, jouncing him up and down, or tipping him upside down most certainly will be followed by the loss of food. Now and then the milk contains too much fat. In such cases the bowel movements are whitish or light colored. If the cream percentage is too high digestion will be upset. This also is regulated easily.

There is one kind of vomiting that must be regarded with concern, namely, that which shoots out rather than flows from the mouth. This is called projectile vomiting and is rarely associated with nausea. It is accompanied, however, by intense thirst and hunger. Occasionally it may mean that there is an obstruction at the lower end of the stomach, called pyloric stenosis—that is, a tightening down of the stomach outlet. This must be managed with great skill. Careful feeding may remedy the difficulty, as each day should bring with it a gradual increase in the size of the opening. The object is to get enough food through this partial obstruction to prevent loss of weight, in the hope that medical treatment will greatly relax the muscle fibers so that food can pass normally. The danger point is reached, however, if the child is losing weight, and no baby is too young, if need be, to submit to a rather delicate but relatively simple surgical procedure for the release of the blocked parts.

If a baby is not hungry and continues to vomit he is ill. It is probably a sign of indigestion, but fever may be present and there may be some intestinal infection. In this type of vomiting care must be exercised to make certain that the child is receiving an adequate amount of fluid.

As a rule, in infective diarrheas, the temperature will rise, and the great loss of water may lead to the condition known as acidosis. Vomiting is a prominent sign, and the best treatment until the doctor comes is to withhold food entirely. Liquids may be given, although it is usually wise not to attempt to administer them by mouth, as the stomach is often irritable and vomiting may be increased. Cleanliness of feeding bottles and nipples is very necessary, and they should be boiled before use. It may be well also to boil the baby's milk. This will not change its nutritive quality in the slightest degree.

PAIN IN THE BACK.

M. F. writes: 1. What is the cause of pain across the back under the shoulder blades? It comes and goes. I am troubled a lot with gas. I am 53 years old. 2. I am also bothered with sleeplessness. I will fall asleep and in about 20 minutes wake up and may not get back to sleep for hours. I do not nap during the day.

REPLY.

1. Pain in the back, under the shoulder blades, is due in most cases to indigestion, flatulence, or biliousness. Other causes that must be thought of include: gall bladder disease, angina pectoris, arthritis, and neuritis. In your case I would suggest that the digestive tract be investigated, particularly the gall bladder. The institution of a proper diet will help.

2. For sleeplessness, I would suggest that you follow a specific plan, which should include a light evening meal followed by a quiet, restful period. The half-hour before retiring should be spent in light exercise, walking in the open air preferred. When ready for bed, a cupful of hot milk sipped slowly should prove comforting. The bedroom should receive an adequate supply of cool air and the surroundings must be quiet and absolutely dark. A warm bath before retiring has been of value to many insomniacs.

BROWN SPOTS.

Mrs. P. writes: Are skin cancers light brown in color? Is the skin smooth over the brown spot and not raised? I have a light brown spot about the size of a dime on my body which has the appearance of a small bruise. I have had this for some time and it seems to be increasing in size.

REPLY.

Cancer of the skin may begin as a flat, pigmented affair varying in size from a pinhead to a large area. Sooner or later there is a thickening of the patch accompanied by slight signs of inflammation. A cancer may develop from a preëxisting benign lesion such as a birthmark or mole. A light brown patch such as you describe, which is not elevated, is probably a form of chloasma or liver spot. This is not cancer.

NEED SKILLED TREATMENT.

M. G. A. writes: Is pus in the urine serious? What are the causes? I am 19 years old and have had it for several years.

REPLY.

Pus in the urine is a symptom of infection. Its seriousness depends upon its character and location. The inflammation responsible for the pus may lie anywhere along the urinary tract. The condition will no doubt yield to skilled treatment.

A "HIT" FROM THE BEGINNING

DAY BY DAY IN THE MAKING OF THE CONSTITUTION

BY JAMES MADISON.

[Father of the Constitution and Fourth President of the United States.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 22, 1787.—In convention. [Importation of slaves considered.] Mr. Sherman of Connecticut was for leaving the clause as it stands. [No duty, no prohibition.] He disapproved of the slave trade, yet as the states were now possessed of the right to import slaves, as the public good did not require it to be taken from them, and as it was expedient to have as few objections as possible to the proposed scheme of government, he thought it best to leave the matter as we find it. He observed that the abolition of slavery seemed to be going on in the United States and that the good sense of the several states probably would by degrees complete it. He urged on the convention the necessity of dispatching its business.

The Infernal Trafic in Slaves

Col. Mason of Virginia: This infernal trafic originated in the avarice of British merchants. The British government constantly checked the attempts of Virginia to put a stop to it. The present question concerns not only the importing states alone but the whole Union. Had the slaves been treated as they might have been by the enemy [the British], they would have proved dangerous instruments in their hands. But their folly dealt by the slaves as it did by the Tories. Maryland and Virginia, he said, had already prohibited the importation of slaves expressly. North Carolina had done the same in substance. All this would be in vain if South Carolina and Georgia be at liberty to import. Slavery discourages arts and manufactures. The poor despise labor when performed by slaves. They produce the most pernicious effect on manners. Every master of slaves is born a petty tyrant. They bring the judgment of heaven on a country.

Mr. Ellsworth of Connecticut: As he had never owned a slave, could not judge the effects of slavery on character. He said, however, that if it was to be considered in a moral light we ought to go further and free those already in the country. As slaves also multiply so fast in Virginia and Maryland that it is cheaper to raise than import them, whilst in the sickly rice swamps foreign supplies are necessary, if we go further than is urged we shall be unjust toward South Carolina and Georgia. Let us not intermeddle. As population increases, poor laborers will be so plentiful as to render slaves useless. Slavery in time will not be a speck in our country. Provision is already made in Connecticut for abolishing it. The abolition already has taken place in Massachusetts.

Mr. Pinckney of South Carolina: If slavery be wrong it is justified by the example of all the world. In all ages one-half of mankind have been slaves. If the southern states were left alone they probably will of themselves stop importations.

[The disputed part of the section was recommitted by a vote of 7 to 3, Massachusetts absent.]

HARDY PERENNIAL.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—The opera season will soon be with us again and I would like to know if there is a good reason why opera in America is always given in a foreign tongue.

A few days ago I was invited to hear a group of students give "Madame Butterfly." I had heard this opera several times, but never before did I enjoy it so much, because this was the first time I had heard it in English. I am just an average music lover, and in attending opera my knowledge is usually limited to the general plot and some familiarity with the arias. I know now that that is not enough to fully enjoy opera. Until I heard "Butterfly" in English I never realized how much I had missed in not being able to understand the splendid drama-filled lines as they were spoken.

If foreign stars either cannot or will not sing in English, why not recruit talent from American singers? Those I heard were very fine and now, having heard both, I would much rather listen to them in English than to Metropolitan stars in French or Italian. Believe me, being able to understand every line more than doubles the enjoyment of the hearer.

I don't want to be told that English is not a beautiful language. It is. And never mind advising me to "study the libretto." While I have ears to hear and money to spend for tickets why should I be put to the task of memorizing the lines before attending the performance?
LISTENER.

HISTORY MADE TO MEASURE.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—In your editorial today, "Fool's Paradise," you state "Business has been stimulated by governmental spending. . . . Alfred P. Sloan tells the stockholders . . . sales and earnings are ballooned by extraordinary governmental expenditures." If I recall correctly, President Roosevelt in creating the NRA did so in the belief that business would employ more people and at higher salaries, and that this in turn would place more money in circulation. Here Roosevelt gave business an opportunity to create its own prosperity, but business failed to employ more people and at higher salaries on the scale anticipated by President Roosevelt, and President Roosevelt, in his belief that the distribution of wealth would bring back prosperity, found it necessary to tax and let the government do the spending, the thing business should have done in the first place. The fact that we have prosperity through this method, even though it might be "undesirable and artificial" in its present form, at least proves that Roosevelt was on the right track. Money in circulation has brought back prosperity and it is up to the capitalists to find a way to keep this money in circulation without resorting to the "undesirable and artificial" governmental spending it complains about.
HERMAN FOLKMAN.

ONE CERTAINLY DOESN'T.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—One never knows what to expect as the next popular fad. We no sooner get through with the What's Thises than we were indulging the pun making Knock! Knocks.

Now we are engaged in the so-called Hi Li which has swept the country, as did the Yo Yo's, the jig-saw puzzles, the tokens [1½ mills], and the chain letters.
G. M. GRIDLEY.

THE MIDDLE WAY.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—Reading favorable comments frequently on the book by Marquis W. Childs, "Sweden, the Middle Way," and also seeing that the President, Mr. Roosevelt, got so interested in the same that he sent a commission over to Sweden to study the subject in its own setting, I, being a Swede by birth but also a naturalized American for thirty-five years, thought I would read it myself—which I did.

How Mr. Roosevelt could find it interesting is more than I can understand, as one will look in vain for any statistics on millions of slaughtered pigs, crops plowed under, or values destroyed of any kind in order to bring "abundance of life" to the people. JOHN N. ROSEN.

THE FACTS OF LIFE.

Joliet, Ill., Aug. 18.—Parrish is undoubtedly a swell cartoonist. I rather like him at times, but isn't he old enough now to be made acquainted with some of the facts of life?

Couldn't some elderly friend break it to him in a delicate way, of course, that a goose capable of laying eggs, even golden ones, is commonly referred to as "her" and not "him"? J. W. OWEN.

CITIZENSHIP STATUS.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—[Friend of the People.]—1. I would like to know if an American born man, now 30 years of age, is still an American citizen.

He was taken to Europe at the age of 6 and signed up for the Czechoslovakian army. Did this signing make any difference?

2. Has he a chance of coming to America? M. M.

1. Section 2 of the act of March 2, 1907, provides as follows:

"That any American citizen shall be deemed to have expatriated himself when he has been naturalized in any foreign state in conformity with its laws, or when he has taken an oath of allegiance to any foreign state [34 Stat. 1228; U. S. C. t. 8, sec. 16]."

If he took an oath of allegiance when he signed up for the Czechoslovakian army he lost his United States citizenship thereby.

2. If he lost his United States citizenship he should communicate with the nearest American consul with a view to making application for an appropriate immigration visa.
FRED J. SCHLOTFELDT,

HANDLING OF ESTATE.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. How can I get a list of all the money that came in and went out on my mother's estate? My brother is the executor but he has never shown the rest of the heirs the bills, and when we ask about them he feels we don't trust him. So I would like to get an itemized list if it is possible.

2. Is there a standard court cost for the closing of an estate? If so, how much is it? C. K.

1. He is required to file an accounting in the office of the clerk of the court. If he refuses to do this and the matter is being handled in Cook county you should get in touch with Assistant Judge Kelley in the county building.

2. No, but the Illinois statute says that the executor's fee shall not exceed 6 per cent of the personal property.

RUSSIAN PLOTTER ADMITS HE TRIED TO SHOOT STALIN

Tells Court Trotzky Gave Him His Orders.

[Copyright: 1936: By the Associated Press.]

MOSCOW, Aug. 21.—The admitted ace-triggerman in an alleged plot to overthrow the soviet government declared from the witness stand today he attempted to kill Dictator Stalin under direct orders from Leon Trotzky.

The witness, Fritz David, testifying at the trial of 16 confessed counter-revolutionary plotters, said he sat at the congress of the communist internationale in July, 1935, with a gun in his hand, waiting to shoot the Soviet leader.

"The chance did not come," he related, "because I sat far away from the platform and had no opportunity to get near Stalin. Secret police were in the same box with me."

The congress was held in the same hall in which the accused men are on trial for their lives.

Stories of Intrigue Told.

The day brought accounts of intrigue and devices used by the plotters—including a secret code to smuggle information to them across Russia's borders. The code was mysteriously based on "The Arabian Nights."

There were also reports of secret compartments in trunks, invisible ink, shadowy foreign secret agents, disguised bombs wrapped in "diplomas" and other subterfuges, as the trial moved swiftly to a climax.

Ordered to Kill Stalin.

He testified that in November, 1932, he was ordered by Trotzky, former bolshevik leader now in exile in Norway, to carr yout a "historic mission" to kill Stalin.

"I accepted his proposal," the scholarly, well-dressed David said in the hushed courtroom. "In proposing that I go to the U. S. S. R. to kill Stalin, Trotzky advised me, for the sake of secrecy, not to maintain open relations with Trotzkyites but outwardly to adhere to my position with the central committee of the communist party in Germany."

David teamed up with K. Berman-Yurin, another of those accused, in the planned assassination, he related. Berman-Yurin failed, however, to get into the congress.

The prosecution asserted it was this plot which came closest to succeeding of all those mentioned at the trial.

Call Trotzky Arch-Plotter.

Both the government and the defendants accuse Trotzky of plotting and shaping the scheme for a dramatic coup to plunge the soviet union into chaos and to erect a Fascist state on the ruins of communism.

Edward Solomonovich Holzmann, with reluctance and confusion, told how he traveled as liaison man for the ring, taking coded messages from T. Smirnoff, head of the Trotzkyites in Moscow, to Trotzky's son, Syedoff, in Berlin.

"Smirnoff gave me a copy of 'The Arabian Nights,'" Holzmann, 54 years old, bald, and perspiring, related. "In some way which I do not remember it served as a secret code.

"Upon meeting Syedoff in Berlin I handed him Smirnoff's report on economic and political affairs in the U. S. S. R. and 'The Arabian Nights code.'"

He told of meeting Trotzky in Copenhagen, and quoted the alleged ringleader as saying:

Holzmann said he disagreed with Trotzky and did not pass on to Smirnoff orders given him at the Copenhagen meeting to start the terror.

Dr. Nathan Lazarevich Lourier, another defendant, declared a German engineer and agent, Franz Veis, abetted the terrorist plans in Moscow in 1932. Lourier said he learned later Veis was sent to Russia by Heinrich Himmler, chief of the Nazi secret police.

Wanted Lives of Others.

He said Stalin was to have been the chief victim, but the plotters wanted also the lives of Klementi Voroshilov, the war commissar; Lazarus M. Kaganovich, commissar of transport, and Gregory K. Orjonikidze, commissar of heavy industry.

Lourier testified Moses Lourier instructed him to kill Andre A. Zhdanoff, successor to the assassinated Sergei M. Kirov as secretary to the Leningrad communist party. He said he was to have shot him at a great May day celebration in Leningrad but could not get close enough.

Lourier said long made plans to shoot Voroshilov failed because the commissar's car "always drove too fast." Then bombs were deemed necessary, he said.

Corroborating testimony that there were three separate attempts to kill Stalin, witnesses said bombs labeled "diploma" were to have been sent him as he stood on the tomb of Lenin in Moscow's red square during the last May day celebration.

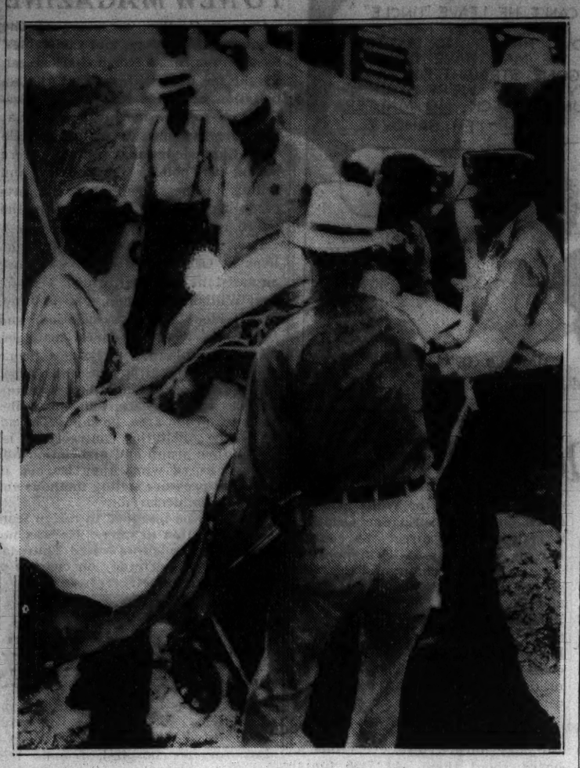
High Leaders Under Fire.

As the trial proceeded officials high in the communist party were placed under investigation to determine their connection with the conspiracy. Prosecutor Vishinsky announced the names of five men whose record was being scrutinized and the names of two others already under criminal charges.

Under investigation, he said, were Nicolai Bukharin, editor of the government publication Izvestia; Karl Radek, prominent soviet commentator; M. P. Tomsky, former chief of trade unions and now head of the state publishing house; Alexei Rykov, commissar of posts and telegraphs, and Gregory Pyatakoff, assistant commissar for heavy industry.

Gregory Sokolnikoff, former ambassador to the court of St. James and M. Seredyakoff, a former vice minister of communications, were under criminal charges.

BRING SURVIVOR FROM MINE



Demmer Sexton, one of two men rescued from coal pit at Moberly, Mo., probably will recover from effects of three days' entombment, according to physician. The picture shows him being taken to ambulance. The other survivor, A. W. McCann, apparently was little affected by his experience. [Associated Press Wirephoto.]

TELLS STRUGGLE TO SURVIVE IN POISONOUS MINE

Sees Two Co-Workers Killed by Monoxide.

[Copyright: 1936: By the Associated Press.]

Moberly, Mo., Aug. 21.—(AP)—The following account of a three day entombment and subsequent rescue from a collapsed coal mile in which two companions perished was told to the Associated Press tonight by A. W. McCann, one of the two survivors:

"It must have been 4 o'clock [Tuesday] when I learned that the fire had broken out.

"The others were back in the tunnel getting ready to shoot [charges of blasting powder]. I headed for the shaft and saw the flames overhead. It was useless to go back and warn them. They had fired four shots and already were coming toward me.

"We used the old mine trick of going far back in another tunnel [the one in which rescuers found them] and barricaded ourselves against the fire damp.

Seek Fresh Air.

"We were there for a couple of hours. When the air started to get a little stale Stoner and Dameron [Edward Stoner Jr. and George T. Dameron, colored, the two men who died] and I started out to look for fresh air.

"We got into the gas; pretty soon Stoner dropped. I knew he was gone.

"I turned to Dameron and we started back.

"He went down and said he was too weak to get up, the damp was so bad. So I left him.

"It must have been fifteen hours before I went over our barricade again looking for water.

"Sexton [Demmer Sexton, 37, the other survivor] was in pretty bad shape and wouldn't come with me.

Finds Drink of Water.

"Down the tunnel I found a bucket with a drink of water in it. I took that. Stoner had said there was a jug full of water beside the pony [a work pony entrapped with the men].

"The pony was killed almost instantly by the gas.

"I got the water and went back to Sexton. We must have been there thirty-six hours before I could get Sexton to move around with me.

"He was very weak.

"I could hear the men working up in the shaft.

"I pounded on the timber and tried to make them hear me. I guess they didn't.

"We didn't have any idea what time it was. Stoner was the only man who had a watch—and it stopped."

One Experience Enough.

"That's about all I can say. It's all I want to, anyway. I don't like to think about it.

"I never want to go through anything like that again."

McCann appeared hearty and cheerful. Firmly he grasped a drinking tube and sketched on the bed covers a diagram of the mine tunnels, showing how the trapped men had traveled back and forth seeking a way out.

He joked with nurses and asked for a shave "so I'll look presentable," and that his hair be "parted in the middle."

Dr. F. L. McCormick said his pulse was "strong and steady" and his general condition "excellent."

"He has a fine chance of recovering permanently," Dr. McCormick said. "If pneumonia does not set in, it appears he will not be harmed at all. He has remarkable stamina."

BISHOPS CLOSE GERMAN PARLEY; FEAR NAZI ACTION

FULDA, Germany, Aug. 21.—(AP)—German Catholic bishops, concerned over the possibility of repressive measures against the church, closed their conference today after but three days of sessions. In previous years the meetings have lasted a full week. The bishops maintained strict secrecy concerning their decisions, but it was learned authoritatively they were especially worried over reports that the Nuremberg Nazi party convention, beginning Sept. 6, might take a hand in religious education of youth.

'WHITE DAMP' MINE TERM FOR MONOXIDE; 'BLACK' IS DIOXIDE

Moberly, Mo., Aug. 21.—(AP)—"White damp," the deadly gas which took the lives of two men trapped in a coal shaft here, is the miners' name for carbon monoxide.

The product of imperfect combustion of carbon, it has a strong tendency to combine with additional oxygen. When breathed it causes death by absorption of that oxygen from the blood. It is actively poisonous.

"Black damp" is a less deadly gas—carbon dioxide, the product of full combustion of carbon. It causes death by suffocation when it is present in such quantities as to leave insufficient free oxygen in the atmosphere.

Neither gas in pure form has any color or odor.

RESCUE 2 ALIVE, 2 DEAD AFTER 3 DAYS IN MINE

Two Victims Live Few Hours After Cave-In.

dotted with friends and relatives of the entombed men—had milled about the mine entrance, grinding the soil to fine dust in their ceaseless tramping to and from the operator of a temporary telephone line who kept up a steady stream of bulletins from the rescue crews.

The rescue brought a stirring climax to the tense atmosphere that had pervaded Moberly since the collapse.

Once anxious miners, their patience frayed by the apparently fruitless rescue work, threatened to defy Griffith and storm down a gas-filled, water-logged air shaft in an attempt to reach the entombed men.

Griffith immediately posted special guards at the air vent to ward off the threat.

Entrance into the shaft, he warned the miners, would have brought them death. It was filled with black damp.

As the rescue crews reached the miners' tunnel prison this afternoon the air was so full of gas they had to return to the surface while special pumps forced fresh air into the hole.

Dameron was married last week. His widow had gone home shortly before his body was brought to the surface. McCann is not married. Stoner, survived by his widow, was co-owner of the recently reopened mine with Sexton.

SEXTUPLETS ARE BORN TO MOTHER OF 9; ONE ALIVE

Mendon, Wyo., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Dr. W. H. Lucas reported tonight a 36 year old farm woman had given birth to sextuplets—but five were born dead.

The physician said he delivered a ten pound daughter and five other babies, all dead, to Mrs. Adeline Speichinger Aug. 9. He said the five stillborn babies apparently had died in the embryo stage at about 2 months.

The sixth is Marjorie Louise Speichinger, a healthy, apple-cheeked baby much admired by her nine older brothers and sisters.

"Marjorie Louise weighed about ten pounds at birth," the 80 year old Dr. Lucas said.

Gunmen Bind Physician, 2 Others; Hunt for Dope

Two gunmen entered the office of Dr. N. Allen Masor, 6590 Sheridan road, last night, tied up the physician and two other men, robbed them of a total of $6, and then ransacked the office in a search for narcotics. They found none. David E. Linn, 2417 Monticello avenue, was waiting in the reception room when the robbers entered. They bound him with towels and taped his mouth, then did likewise with Dr. Masor and a patient, Merle H. Chamberlain, 1222 Touhy avenue, when the latter came from the inner office.

TRAFIC CURBED ON MISSISSIPPI BY LOW WATER

Levels Reach Record Low; Illinois River Drops.

Record low water levels in the Mississippi river in the last few days have severely hindered navigation, according to dispatches yesterday from several points along the river. Water in the Illinois river has dropped enough to slow up navigation, but has not reached the low mark of early July.

The Mississippi river at St. Louis now stands at an all time record low for the month of August, the level being 3.7 feet below zero. [Zero is the "established" low water level.] This level, resulting from the long drouth, is 14.9 feet below normal and compares with the previous August low of 3 feet below zero in 1934.

Barge Service Stopped.

The Federal Barge Lines has had to discontinue operations above Debuque because of the low water. Scheduled runs between St. Louis and Dubuque, which ordinarily require 5 days, have taken 8 and 9 days, and as many as 12 days has been required for barges to reach New Orleans from St. Louis, normally a 7 day trip.

The Mississippi at La Crosse, Wis., dropped Thursday to the lowest level on record and river navigation there is practically at a standstill.

New Orleans reported a recent moderate rise there with the water level above both the 1935 and 1934 lows. There is no interference with river trafic.

According to J. B. Kinzie, lockmaster at the federal dam at Starved Rock, the level in the Illinois waterway is still about 1½ feet above the low point of July 1. The level is still a foot or more below the stage necessary to maintain the 9 foot navigation depth in the waterway required by law.

Too Low at Peoria.

At Peoria the Illinois river is slightly above the 1936 low, but still about a foot below the level necessary to maintain the 9 foot depth. Before the sanitary district of Chicago was forced to reduce diversion from Lake Michigan the average stage at Peoria used to be 6 feet higher than it is now.

Robert I. Randolph, president of the Mississippi Valley association, an organization of shippers which has urged the war department to authorize an increase in diversion of lake water at Chicago, pointed out yesterday that a larger diversion would aid trafic in the Mississippi river below Grafton as well as in the Illinois waterway. Army engineers, however, deny they have power to order the increase.

FRENCH FORTRESSES ON GERMAN BORDER REPEL SHAM ENEMY

PARIS, Aug. 21.—(AP)—France's new fortifications along the German frontier successfully withstood an "enemy attack" today. The Maginot line of fortresses was put to its first test in the Montmedy region as the army's fall war games began. France has called about 100,000 men, the largest number in years, for the maneuvers.

Army observers said "enemy" troops with the newest and speediest equipment were able to penetrate only at a few places and in small numbers. The line had been occupied in thirty-six hours by reservists from the interior of France.

A delegation of generals from soviet Russia observed the practice "battle" to demonstrate the line's strength against the first shock of invasion. France and Russia signed a defensive military alliance last March.

COLLECT FUNDS IN ITALY TO AID SPANISH VICTIMS

ROME, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Spanish refugees are returning to Spain, an authoritative source disclosed today, to enlist under the banner of the Fascist rebel government. The source said the number returning was too small to make any important difference in the fighting—probably several hundred men.

Through the "white embassy" in Rome, which has not yet been recognized formally by Italy, subscriptions are being raised to aid refugees arriving without means. Many were held in Genoa through lack of funds, but a few made their way to Rome.

At the same time informed quarters said the Italian government was arranging facilities for the comfort of impoverished refugees. The Spanish consul at Genoa, loyal to the Burgos government, was authorized to devote available consulate funds to care for these Spanish refugees.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Bob Becker

Cattle Yards Empty.

Aug. 21, 1936.

The cattle yards at the Yorkville experimental farm, usually filled with staring whitefaced steers, are empty for the first time in nearly two years. When we were there the other day we felt that there was something missing around the place, and soon woke up to the fact that the Herefords were not present to answer roll call.

Since the farm has had between 200 and 400 steers most of the time since the fall of 1934, the place looks a bit empty now that the final bunch of them has been sent to market.

Binks, Clarence's little fox terrier, will miss the steers more than the men. The men had to feed and water the hungry herds, so they meant a lot of work, but for Binks the steers provided a great deal of entertainment. He liked to jump up on their concrete watering tank and nip their noses while they were drinking. Their usual retaliation was to bump the little ten pound pest off the trough to the ground. Binks also liked to cause miniature panics among the steers by running pell-mell through their yards, running between their legs and occasionally stopping to bite one of them.

Until the farm gets another shipment of cattle Binks will have to amuse himself by carrying on a campaign against the rats and mice in the barns.

Taken for a Ride.

Russell Johnson, one of the workers on the Yorkville farm, was "taken for a ride" against his will the other day. He was driving Cap and Corp hauling a load of fertilizer to one of the fields when one of the lines got caught in Cap's flynet and startled the horse enough to make him want to run away. This team had not been broken to harness very long, and the tangled line and net was something new. The horses ran full speed across the field, but it wasn't long until Russell had straightened out the tangle and calmed the horses.

Hope for More Rain.

Clarence was telling us the other day that the farmers in the Yorkville area are still looking skyward for signs of more rain. The rains which fell early in the week did a lot of good, but several more just like them would help even more. The shower which fell in Chicago Wednesday almost missed the Yorkville district, there being only one shower that morning. It registered only .03 of an inch on the farm rain gauge.

There seem to be a lot of cheaters on the Wheaton experimental farm lately. We noticed the other day that one Muscovy duckling was "gypping" his 14 brothers and sisters and that the turkeys were having a sort of war with the sheep.

Learns to Swim.

One of the Muscovy hens has 15 birds, now about 10 days old, in her second hatch of the season. Rawlings let them have the run of the barnyard at the Wheaton farm and provided the family with a pan full of fresh water. All 15 of the birds were near the pan with their mother, and several of them were drinking, when suddenly this duckling "cheater" decided to use the drinking bowl as a swimming pool.

Before the rest of the ducklings knew what was going on the little yellow boy was taking his swimming lesson and making the rest of the family wait for him to get out before they could resume their thirst quenching.

Turkey-Sheep Feud.

Trouble between the sheep and the turkeys has been caused by the sheep upsetting the turks' water fountains. The men put some of these new metal fountains in the fields, away from the barns, so that the turkeys could drink without coming back to the barnyard.

The sheep evidently meant no harm, but they thought they were just as entitled to water as the turkeys, and proceeded to try to drink. The water openings were meant for fowl, not sheep, and consequently the fountains and their contents were all over the ground before very many sheep had visited them. As a result the poor turkeys had to trot all the way to the barnyard for their water.

Tired of Two Dogs' Lives, She Demands a Divorce

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 21.—[Special.]—Mrs. Sally Ethel Blair, attractive young matron, collapsed on the courtroom floor today after finishing divorce testimony in what she described as a veritable dog's life. She testified that George I. Blair, oil salesman, insisted on having his two dogs, Sugar and Darling, sleep between him and his wife every night.

KIN BEGIN TRUST AS MEMORIAL TO SMITH REYNOLDS

Winston-Salem, N. C., Aug. 21.—[Special.]—The beginning of a charitable trust fund to honor the memory of Z. Smith Reynolds, who was mysteriously shot to death in 1932, was revealed here today when it was learned that his brother and two sisters have filed a charter for the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation, Inc. The foundation will administer the 37½ per cent of the $31,000,000 estate left by the late R. J. Reynolds, tobacco magnate, to his youngest son.

R. J. Reynolds Jr., Mary Reynolds Babcock of Greenwich, Conn., and Nancy Reynolds Bagley of New York are the incorporators and life trustees. Reynolds was named temporary president and Stratton Coyner, Reynolds' attorney, was named secretary. W. N. Reynolds, brother of the late R. J. Reynolds, and W. B. Hubner, vice president of the Safe Deposit and Trust company of Baltimore, are named trustees.

The incorporators declined to estimate the amount which will be available for the fund. They issued a statement in which they pointed out that "as there are no funds available and the organization is not in its permanent form, no consideration will be given at the present time to the selection of charitable objects." It was estimated that no money would be available for a year.

The amount for the trust is the same as that awarded to Anne Cannon Reynolds II., first child of Smith Reynolds. Attorneys said recently that her share would approximate $11,000,000 before the taxes and other charges are deducted.

ASKS QUIZ INTO DIVORCE MIXUP; GRANTS DECREE

Judge Joseph B. David yesterday recommended an investigation by the Chicago Bar association when William H. Brown, 58 years old, appearing on a petition for a divorce, said a divorce was granted him about a year ago, but that his attorney at the time failed to validate it by presenting a decree to Judge Joseph Sabath for signature.

Brown, a radio entertainer of 648 North Dearborn street, asked Judge David for a divorce from Kathryn Smith Brown, a dancer, who he said deserted him in November, 1933, and is now in Trenton, N. J. They were married in March, 1928. Judge David granted the divorce, signing a decree immediately.

Wade Schaubel, Brown's attorney, told Judge David that Brown was represented in his earlier divorce action by Attorney Earl W. Wiley. At a hearing in July, 1935, Brown testified, Judge Sabath said he would grant the divorce. A search of the court records disclosed that Wiley did not secure Judge Sabath's signature to a decree.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Photographic incidents will be described in musical form in a new show titled "The Musical Cameraman," with Josef Cherniavsky, Chicago conductor, at the baton. Show is due to start Oct. 25 on NBC. . . . The Community Sing business is spreading westward from New York like a prairie fire. Chicago has a couple on the way. Present Gloom-dodgers' show on WBBM is to take the form of a big Sunday Sing sometime this fall. And local NBC headquarters are also warming up a similar feature—a Hymn Sing.

Jerry Belcher of "Vox Pop" fame is to introduce a new type of informal program which he calls Our Neighbors via NBC Sept. 6. The idea is to carry the microphone right into typical American homes to discuss with members of families their minor woes and major pleasures.

Amos 'n' Andy will return to Chicago Oct. 1, but it likely they will live in California a good bit of every year henceforth. . . . C. L. Menser, NBC production chief, is to fly to California this morning to arrange details of the first First Nighter broadcast Sept. 6. Fred Ibbett, representing the sponsor's advertising agency, leaves by train today for the west and will supervise the show throughout the season. . . . The Heat Waves are leaving WBBM and the College inn after an 18 weeks stay to make an appearance at a radio convention in Tulsa next Thursday.

Frances Clark, NBC writer, is to become the bride of Wells Simmons in October. . . . Eugene Ormandy, it is likely, will direct the concerts by the Philadelphia Symphony orchestra for the chain of banks that is to sponsor them. Leopold Stokowsky, veteran conductor of the Philadelphia Symphony, is reported about set for a contract calling for his services as director of a west coast symphony of 100 men to be used on the air by an electric concern.

Nobody has ever seen a molecule. But, like purple cows, every one has heard about them. At 7:30 tonight the sound of the somersaulting of molecules is to be put on the air via the Columbia Workshop on WBBM. In an unusual demonstration Dr. Orestes Caldwell will demonstrate on the air that these minute bits of matter turn over in their beds of steel, creating sounds which when magnified are not unlike those of the sonorous tones of an organ, the trebles of piccolo stops, and many notes in between. This demonstration will be the first of a series titled, "How to Get the Most Out of Your Radio."

Last year the sponsor of "Stars of the Milky Way" broadcast over CBS; this year a switch is being made to the Mutual network with W-G-N as local outlet. The new show will be aired at 6:30 Sunday evenings, starting Sept. 27, and will star Gina Vanna, soprano; Wayne Van Dyne, tenor; Gunther Decker, baritone; the Doring sisters, the Grenadiers, and an orchestra under the direction of Bob Trendler.

The king is traveling incognito as the duke of Lancaster. French papers report he is enjoying his cruise to such an extent that it will be prolonged beyond the period formerly planned.

Mrs. Simpson's name has appeared recently on the court calendar as among the guests at intimate dinner parties given by the king or at parties at which the king was a guest.

The king's other guests are Lord and Lady Louis Mountbatten, Alfred Duff Cooper, war minister, and Lady Diana Cooper, Lady Cunard, who was also born an American, and Lord and Lady Brownlow. King Edward VIII., like his grandfather, King Edward VII., will have about him on these holidays only those people whom he finds sympathetic and amiable, according to French press articles dealing with the royal cruise.

DENIES KNOWING OF RACKET ANGLE TO NEW MAGAZINE

Charles C. Roe, secretary of the Magistrates, Justices, and Constables' Association, Inc., 6 North Clark street, sought for questioning about the solicitation of funds for the organization's proposed magazine, appeared at the detective bureau yesterday. He denied knowledge that solicitors were posing as police commanders and telling business men that the proceeds were to be shared with the police benevolent association.

Roe, who is 73 years old and who lives at 6603 Ellis avenue, was once an assistant state's attorney. He said that William T. Bishop, who is blind, is president of his association, and George L. West is general manager. The group planned to issue a magazine under the title Law and Order, and a directory listing all magistrates, justices of the peace, and constables in the Chicago area, he said. The advertising solicitation contract was let to another group and association officials objected when they learned of the high pressure selling methods employed, Roe declared.

Roe said he intended to resign from the association at once. He was not held. Five solicitors seized Thursday were booked yesterday on charges of disorderly conduct.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

The business girl will like four new floral colognes. She can use the one in the scent of her choice as a daytime perfume and as a refreshant as well. They're inexpensive and are bottled in half pint and pint sizes.

How does the idea of good, exhilarating floral colognes in half pint and pint bottles strike you? We are all for it, since we're of the opinion that in warm weather the only thing nicer than a little cologne is a whole lot of it.

One house has brought out colognes in four fragrances, moderately priced, that you should know about if you're a cologne fan. If any one of the four odors strikes your fancy—and you've a choice of gardenia, lilac, jasmine, or sweet-pea—you can stock up for weeks with a pint bottle.

Each odor is true and completely charming in its fashion. We think these are good buys for the business girl who prefers to use a light scent and not too much of it during the day. Using one of these colognes as a body rub after the morning bath, or as a freshener during the quick cleansings that are necessary in the course of a working day, gives the skin fragrance in just the right proportions. The light odors, too, are suitable for business hours.

It's a clever dodge to add a bit of your favorite cologne to the rinsing water when you launder collars and cuffs and lingerie. This scents them lightly. And it's an excellent idea, we've discovered, to sprinkle cologne in your favorite fragrance on the lining of your purse. Your gloves and handkerchiefs will echo the scent.

When you find colognes as inexpensive as these you can afford to use them generously.

Robert Taylor and Stanwyck Lead This Cast

'His Brother's Wife' Should Be Box Office.

BY ANNA NANGLE.

Although this movie sports a darn silly plot, it also features Mr. Robert Taylor, the current idol of the feminine screen fans, and will undoubtedly be a box office success. He does not exactly slay me, but he and Miss Stanwyck are a personable young couple, have an excellent supporting cast and the skilled directorial guidance of W. S. Van Dyke.

Mr. Taylor's fans will have an opportunity to see him being a playboy in New York, a family lad who takes his obligations earnestly, and a stubborn young scientist risking his life on a jungle expedition.

The film opens with the playboy rôle and I can't blame any one for having difficulty in getting away with it, because such terribly cute people are always bores. His partner in pranks is pretty Barbara Stanwyck, and they find that it isn't so easy to stop the merry-go-round once they're on it.

Chris has financial and business obligations, neither of which he is ready to meet—but finally, with the aid of a couple of gentle but very firm shoves from his more staid brother, Tom, he starts off on a scientific expedition. He can't forget his fun, however, and comes home shortly, only to find that the girl he didn't marry is already in the family, wedded to Tom. She did it only for spite, and the situation is very tough on her unwanted husband—so Chris entices her off to the jungle with him.

The joke is on her, though, because the object of her somewhat unreasonable affections has a streak of meanness in him, too, and after Tom divorces her Chris announces that she can scram for herself.

Of course, no good movie fan will get excited about that, and the way in which Rita sweeps away such rudeness and creates the happy ending is genuine, juicy melodrammer.

Miss Stanwyck has a pretty difficult rôle, but she also has genuine acting ability; consequently she's able to give naturalness and poise to her Rita. Mr. Taylor is handsome and pleasant, and Jean Hersholt is swell. John Eldredge does his bit, as Tom, sufficiently well. The story sustains interest, and most of the dialog is smooth and smart.

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

A FRESHMAN at Maine Township High school who wanted to read a dog book was told by his teacher about the dog stories of Terhune and G. B. Stern and Christopher Morley. When the pupil came home from the library, book in hand, he explained that the dog books the teacher had suggested were off the shelves, but that he had chosen one himself he thought he would like. It was "Kenilworth."

IT was—in spite of our story recently—no physician in Lake Geneva who first held a watch over a supine souse and exclaimed, "Either this man is dead or my watch is stopped." It was reported thus to this department, but the facts are that the diagnosis was made by Dr. Groucho Marx in "A Day at the Races," which the mad Marxes presented recently at the Palace theater in the form of a preview to their next picture. In this opus were included some 150 other laughs, mainly the work of Al Boasberg, who also is headman of Jack Benny's gag staf. The best of these laughs, as determined by the response evoked during this preview showing, are to be retained for the picture.

* *

BACKSTAGE at the theater a few weeks ago Boasberg and the Marxmen discussed their conception of humor, and a coworker, Larry Wolters, digs up for us what he can remember of the conversation. Jokes about death usually are sure fire, according to Boasberg, who cited as an example the supine souse and doctor jest. But if death may be the subject of mirthful sallies a bride and a wedding almost never may be. There are potent jokes about married life, but few about weddings have universal appeal. The finality of death allows a comic treatment, Boasberg pointed out. The uncertainty, the anxiety, the suspense in connection with all weddings make them an uncertain subject for laugh-getting.

* *

THE Marx brothers and Boasberg recalled a clinical session which they and other comedians and gag writers had attended at which the surest fire joke ever heard was discussed. A runner-up was the ancient "Who was the lady I seen you with last night?" But the smash-bang laugh-getter of modern times is, they agreed, the one in which the comedian opens up his routine with, "I'm glad to see so many ladies here tonight! What a lot of dirty dishes there must be in the sink!"

"Dick."
"Dictation."

Knock-knock to end knock-knocks.

'Knock! Knock!"
"Who's there?"
"Amsterdam."
"Amsterdam who?"

Jean Ericson Will Be Bud This Season

Family to Return from West on September 1.

BY JUDITH CASS.

WHEN Mr. and Mrs. Chester F. Ericson return from California Sept. 1 they will make plans to introduce to society their daughter, Miss Jean Armour Ericson. Miss Ericson, who was graduated from the North Shore Country Day school with several of the coming season's debutantes, is a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. M. Cochran Armour who lived in Evanston and then in Pasadena. The Ericsons, who rented their Winnetka home for the summer, have been guests of her sister, Mrs. Armour Morris, who has a home in Pasadena.

One party already has been arranged for the debutante, a small luncheon at which she will share honors with four other buds. It will be given by Mrs. Kenneth S. Templeton on Sept. 17 at her home in Lake Forest. The other young women for whom Mrs. Templeton will entertain are Miss Louise Blossom, Miss Margot Reid, Miss Mary Warner and Miss Margery Nicol.

The Templetons' daughter, Mrs. Sidney D. Johnson, will be here at the time. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson are arriving in Lake Forest right after Labor day to spend two weeks with the Templetons. On the 14th, which is the first wedding anniversary of the former Josephine Templeton and Mr. Johnson, the Templetons will give a dinner to which they are inviting all of the young people who were in the bridal party. Miss Margaret Taylor, who was a bridesmaid, is expected to come from Pittsburgh for the dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson have moved from New York to Cincinnati. Her brother, James, is returning on Saturday from Europe where he saw the Olympic games in company with a group of boys from St. Paul's school, where he is a student. Kenneth Jr. will arrive at home next week from camp.

Miss Blossom to Bow Sept. 10.

Miss Blossom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Blossom, will give a dinner-dance for her on Sept. 19 at the Indian Hill club. Miss Blossom is to be presented formally at a tea on Sept. 10 at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Blossom Jr., in Lake Forest. Miss Blossom is leaving on Sept. 20 for Sarah Lawrence college.

One of Miss Blossom's assistants at the tea, Miss Barbara Totman, is arriving at home next Thursday with her mother, Mrs. Arnold Washington Totman, and her younger sister, Miss Priscilla Ann. Mrs. Totman and the girls have spent the summer in Europe as the conclusion of a round the world trip. Mr. Totman and their eldest daughter, Miss Evelyn Totman, returned earlier this summer from the same trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Totman, whose home is in Winnetka, have not decided if they will give a formal debut party for Miss Barbara, but when she and her mother arrive next week they will make a decision. Miss Totman is a student at Sarah Lawrence. Miss Evelyn has finished her college career—she went to Smith. Priscilla is a freshman at the North Shore Country Day school.

Miss Ericson's plans for the fall are indefinite, but it is not likely that she will pursue the same courageous career that her mother followed when she was just out of school. Mrs. Ericson left her school books to go to Labrador where she spent three years assisting Dr. Grenfell with relief work.

Charles F. Glores to Give Dance.

Grand National Making Strides in Film World

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 21.—[Special.]—A new film company rising from the ashes of several prior production ventures, notably the old Pathé group, is beginning to make Hollywood take some notice. The new outfit is Grand National, headed by Ed Alperson as president. It is well enough financed to sign up Jimmy Cagney, Charlie Bickford, and Douglas McLean, and well enough equipped to have six pictures now in the cutting room and two more completed and in shipment in its first seventeen weeks of activity.

Although the two finished films, "Devil on Horseback," a melodrama in color with Lili Damita and Fred Keating, and "White Legion," a drama of the Panama canal and the fight against the mosquitoes, have both attracted some local attention, most interest in Grand National centers on its future, which promises to be lively. "White Legion" features Ian Keith and Tala Birell.

Sidney H. Biddell, the story editor, arriving from conferences with Cagney in the century old farmhouse that outdoorsy actor bought himself on Martha's Vineyard, announced plans to launch Cagney in his first picture since Jimmy walked out of Warner Brothers and their $3,500 a week a year ago. The picture will be "The Great Guy." James Edward Grant, one time Chicago newspaper man, will do the film version, adapting it from three short stories which Grant wrote. The story will have a Chicago locale.

Charlie Bickford, whose contract with Grand National binds him as both actor and director, will start work acting and directing in three weeks. His story will be "The Wild Man." Bickford himself wrote it. Ed Finney, who is the advertising manager, also is one of its alliance of semi-independent producers, holding a contract to produce eight westerns called "Boots and Saddles Productions."

Other producers in this alliance include George Hirliman, soon to start Conrad Nagel and Eleanor Hunt in "Navy Spy," a story with plot thread partly paralleling some recent sensational disclosures; Douglas MacLean, now the Grand National's production chief, who soon will remake "23½ Hours' Leave," in which MacLean—then as comedian—starred in silent films in 1919; Benny Zeeidman, who is to bring out "Sweetheart of the Navy," and Boris Petroff, Mae West's recent film manager, who will produce "Hats Off," a musical with Skeets Gallagher and probably with Bob Crosby, Bing Crosby's orchestra leader brother.

President Alperson is just back from England, where he carried on negotiations to expand the new company's producing and releasing activities abroad.

The organization will shortly have a location troupe under Ray Friedgen, in Pensacola, Fla., where a nature adventure about a shark, an octopus, and an old sea captain is to be shot. It will be a full length feature. Another nature feature is to be made in the Sierras under Frank Gay with Rex, the wild stallion, and Cloudy, another trained horse, as leading actors, and five humans playing the "character" rôles in the cast.

Ian Keith had a bad fall at his home, fracturing a lower veterbra and will be out of films for some weeks.

Charlie Butterworth gets the biggest rôle of his career in "Morning, Noon and Night" in which he plays opposite Carole Lombard at Paramount in a part combining pathos and comedy. It's a story of a triangle—boy, young man and a girl—in a night club. Oscar Hammerstein II. is writing it.

Several months in advance of its publication, which will take place in London this autumn, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has bought the new novel by Erich Remarque of "All Quiet on the Western Front" renown. His new novel is about world war comrades in present day Germany and is titled "Three Comrades."

ENGAGEMENT

Fifteen Cities to Get WPA Drama of Lewis' 'It Can't Happen Here'

Washington, D. C., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Plans were announced tonight by Works Progress Administrator Harry L. Hopkins for a simultaneous fifteen city production of a play based on the novel "It Can't Happen Here," under auspices of the WPA theater projects.

The performances, Hopkins said, would take place Tuesday night, Oct. 20, in Boston, Newark, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Denver, Chicago, New York, New Orleans, Cleveland, Dallas, Tacoma, Indianapolis, Syracuse, Detroit and either Jacksonville or Miami, Fla.

Hopkins said Hallie Flanagan, national director of the WPA theater projects, has completed arrangements with Sinclair Lewis, author of the book, and his collaborator, J. C. Moffitt, for dramatization of the novel.

Casting and rehersals will begin in the fifteen cities by Sept. 7. Lewis will personally supervise the New York presentations.

Copper Tones Are Popular in Fall Jewelry

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Some of the costume jewelry featured for early fall thin wool street clothes and the first of the snappy short jacketed suits combines gold and copper, a contrasting get-together that should please the practical soul.

This jewelry can be the accent for dull black, for all the slick new copper browns, and, better yet, for the stunning gold tone velveteens, and nothing could be better for kelly green and forest green shades.

You can buy effective necklaces in copper or the green gold metal made of three graduated strands of fine flexible link stuff. There are larger and longer necklaces with four inches of the gold and four inches of the copper in alternate formations. Clips of the same gleaming, good-looking metal to match the necklaces also are available. There are plenty of smart costume pieces, inexpensively priced, for your tweeds and woolens. You can find all kinds of glittering dress parade designs combining rubies and emeralds [simulated] and glittering rhinestones. Earrings and huge clips and pins are giving the necklace ideas a race. The lovely black velvet gowns for dinner and party wear provide grand opportunities for the earrings and clips. Even the tiniest of watches that really double as good timekeepers are surrounded with rhinestones and precious jewels. These come in pendant styles that look like long, decorative clips. They are worn at the deep V necklines or pinned high on the shoulder or at the belt.

Less expensive clip watches come with high colored enamel cases, bright practical baubles for tailored suits and street dresses. Lether encased clip or pendant watches are still going strong for fuzzy wools and tweeds.

Robert Montgomery Sues to Void Agency Contract

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 21.—[Special.]—Robert Montgomery, movie star, yesterday filed suit to void a contract made last February with Small-Landau, moving picture business agents. Montgomery was to pay $4,000 yearly besides a percentage of his screen salary. The actor said he signed the agreement upon the agents' contention he would owe them large sums under prior agreements if he did not sign. Later, he says, he learned the prior agreements were void.

SYNOPSIS.

Shortly after the world war Roger Mallard, handsome young Englishman, is embittered by the loss of hearing in one ear from a war injury. Mal has been raised by his godfather, William Grimwold, an actor. Grimmy persuades Mal to attend a New Year's eve party, where he meets lovely young Pamella Wyeth, though he forgets her on meeting Zelda Manners. A month later Mal marries Zelda. The marriage ends disastrously. In a rage at his failure to make a living on the stage, Zelda flings a mirror at Mal and unknowingly destroys the hearing of his other ear. Fourteen years later Mal, under Grimmy's tutelage, has become a great success in pictures, hiding his affliction from his public. Zelda has refused him a divorce. Pamella Wyeth has a home in Pasadena. David Barkley, son of an old friend, boards with her. At the premiere of Mal's latest film David meets Ellen Greet and invites her to a New Year's eve party at the hotel where Mallard lives, and asks Pamella along as chaperon. Mal is mourning the sudden death of Grimmy. David, as a joke on Ellen, has a boy page her with a message that Roger Mallard wants to meet her. Mal, skilful at lip reading, is sitting at the next table. Attracted by Pamella, Mal introduces himself and asks to join their party. David and Ellen desert Pamella. Mal takes her home. There Mal drops on her couch unconscious. Pamella thinks he has had too much to drink. She is unable to rouse him. In the morning David calls. He's been arrested because Mallard has disappeared, apparently kidnaped. Pamella calls Dr. Ware. He says Mal has collapsed from shock and worry; that he mustn't be moved from her house.

INSTALMENT XXIV.

A FRIEND AND HOSTESS.

"Where is Ellen working, David?" Pamella asked.

"At the fustiest old law firm you ever saw. Worn leather chairs all in a row. Miles of tan and red books. Crowds of elderly female secretaries. And young Ellen in the midst of all this antiquity, looking like a lovely little bronzy chicken just popped out of the egg. How she stands it! And, of course, the oldest boy in the bunch has her constantly at his elbow with her little pad. Mr. Gordon Geddes."

"Why, he was a friend of father's. If Ellen works for him, she's got a job she—and her unemployed friend—can be proud of."

"Well, she does, and her friend's got employment. I'm going to stack that load of firewood you had hauled in yesterday."

"Be careful and don't hurt your hands. Mr. Geddes may have already taken pity on his poor little stenographer and given her a treat at his place down in Oak Knoll. If he has, what I have to offer will seem pretty tame."

"Not if Mr. Mallard can be pried loose from his rest cure," said David, tiptoeing elaborately across the room and out the door to show that he didn't wish to disturb anybody.

Pam went into the library rather thoughtfully. She sat down at her father's handsome carved walnut desk, and with many pauses to stare out the window, wrote a little note. Presently, she called Ruben.

"Please take this up to Mr. Mallard."

Ruben's black face fell.

Mal's talisman reared its magnificent beauty from a clear glass bud vase on his dresser. He looked at it now and then as he stood before the mirror, knotting a pale yellow tie neatly striped with cherry. He was wearing cocoa-brown flannels, a lemon-colored sweater under his belted jacket. The tie tucked down in the sweater V struck him as the proper adornment with which to celebrate such a glorious, golden morning.

He saw Ito cross the room hurriedly to answer a knock. Mal whirled about to face the door on two unsteady legs which the increased pounding of his heart didn't strengthen any. The open door, however, revealed only Ruben, grave and impressive.

Ruben came into the room and handed Mal a note.

"I'll come up to see you only on one condition," was written firmly across the page of a double sheet of gray note paper. "That you promise on your word of honor you'll never ever—say the things you think you ought to say about being taken ill in my home. Such apologies would make me miserable—as if I'd failed you as a friend and a hostess."

Mal's first impulse was to dash downstairs and give his promise by word of mouth. But his bath and his dressing had left him rather tottery, and he couldn't bear to stagger back to her across the living room in much the same way as, he could dimly remember, he had left her.

He tore off the page containing her message and put it in his pocket. Then, borrowing a pencil from Ruben, he wrote across the blank page that remained.

"You haven't failed me! I'll promise anything on what few scraps of honor left me, if I may only see you at once."

Mal went out on his balcony and leaned on the railing between two tubbed white azaleas and looked down over the garden. It seemed to him a perfect Italian arrangement. Transverse terraces cut across the hill, and two long lines of magnificent Irish yews flanked a broad walk which descended the terraces in shallow steps to end finally at a graceful circular fountain far below. The tangled beds on the terraces cried out for flowers. All the trees and shrubs needed trimming. There was a great deal to do.

And then she came, and caught him unaware in spite of his efforts while he was again looking down at the garden.

He turned quickly, feeling sure that she had spoken. She stood in the balcony door, looking at him. She seemed far more lovely than he remembered her, in the clear morning sunlight and in the simple white wool dress she was wearing, a big purple pansy caught in a button loop at her throat. Her hair shone like silver. It appeared to him that the radiance in her face had lately been disturbed by some sudden thought, just passed. But she was smiling; her eyes a trifle wet, as if dimmed for a moment with a mist of shocked understanding. He wondered how long she'd been standing there. . . .

He came toward her in two or three eager strides.

"I'm so sorry! Mooning here deep in your garden's beauty, I'm tardy in greeting deeper beauty." He caught up both her hands.

"Look me in the eye."

This was an unnecessary command since he had never been given a more direct gaze than was now lifted bluely to his.

"Do you really wish me to stay here?"

"Yes, I do. . . . That is, if you really wish to stay."

"God—how I want to!"

"Then stay."

Miss Ellen Greet was shamelessly taking the firm's time to compose a private letter. Beneath a legal beginning: "The party of the first part [hereinafter designated as the San Gabriel Water and Improvement company]" she had written: "Dear Mr. Mallard."

"Please don't think because I'm writing you," Ellen clicked away on the typewriter, intending to copy the letter on her best paper and in her most dashing chirography later, "that I'm trying to intrude upon your rest and privacy. Frankly, through David Barkley I know where you're staying, but hasten to assure you that I'm guarding this confidence.

"I simply can't bear to have you think I walked out on you New Year's eve. Especially after your kindness in wanting to meet me. I was never so thrilled! It was all Mr. Barkley's fault. And was I furious!

"I am sending you a book of my favorite poems, hoping you may enjoy glancing through them.

"With kindest wishes and hopes that you will take good care of yourself, I am yours most gratefully and admiringly. . . ."

Having read it over, she approved of it. And that part about the poems was simply inspired. She had gone into Pasadena's leading book shop and asked a solicitous young gentleman wearing spectacles if he would kindly recommend a book of poems as a gift for a mature and literary friend. The young man seemed to sense at once that the friend was of the masculine persuasion. He thought the new edition of Francis Thompson's "Selected Poems" might be suitable.

Ellen had never heard of Francis Thompson. But she liked the big-eyed portrait of him, age 19, in the front of the book, whose neat format of raspberry colored linen, embellished with golden laurel leaves, was just slender and small enough to slip handily into a well tailored tweed coat pocket.

Restraining a desire to write on the flyleaf, she modestly inserted her card, and asked the salesman to wrap the book for mailing.

Joan Bennett Wins Fight to Change Name of Her Daughter

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 21.—(AP)—After Joan Bennett, screen actress, and her writer husband, Gene Markey, had testified today, Superior Judge Arthur Crum granted her petition to change the name of her young daughter, Diana Bennett Fox, 8, to Diana Bennett Markey.

Judge Crum dismissed objections of the child's father, John Marion Fox, member of a wealthy Seattle family. Fox said he would appeal the decision.

Judge Crum asked Miss Bennett to state her reasons for requesting the change in Diana's name.

"Because," the actress said, "she has never known any other father except Mr. Markey. Fox abandoned me when she was 2 months old and he has never seen her except once in 1935."

Princess Lines Flattering

LITTLE GIRL'S FROCK.

It is not difficult to find attractive garments for an infant, but the years between 4 and 10 are hard ones in the matter of chic. Little girls of those ages have awkward figures to clothe charmingly. However, fashion hit upon the princess dress as the one most flattering to sub-sub-debs, and the pattern illustrated today is a particularly attractive version of this popular mode. The pattern includes trim French panties.

The frock buttons down the front in the traditional princess mode, and has panels from shoulder to hem, affording grace to growing silhouettes, which are mostly angles and possess few curves. The little Peter Pan collar has scallops, which detail of trimming is repeated in the cuffs on the little puffed sleeves. If the young miss prefers, the dress may have long sleeves this autumn, with the shoulders puffed in the manner of the Gibson girl silhouette sponsored by fashionable big sister.

The original of this dress is in navy poplin with white collar and cuffs. The panties are navy. Pin dotted percale, plaid gingham, checked wool finish cottons, and wool crepe, in addition to the always attractive silks, are other lovely mediums for this princess dress.

Style No. 3156 is designed for sizes 4, 6, 8, and 10 years. Size 8 requires 2¼ yards of 35 inch material, with ½ yard of 35 inch contrasting for the dress and 1 yard of 35 inch material for the panties.

BY MARY MEADE.

A surprise today, young cooks! We thought we were going to learn to make frosted ginger creams today, but we've decided to postpone that lesson for a week in favor of—what do you suppose? Why, a blackberry roll!

This is a nice, fruity dessert made with a biscuit dough to which we are going to add grated cheese. Blackberries [or other berries or fruit, if you like] are spread over the dough which is then rolled up like a jelly roll, and baked. Then when you serve it, you slice the roll and top it with whipped cream, perhaps, although it is good just as it is, served hot.

BLACKBERRY ROLL.

First, let's get together our equipment—mixing bowl, wooden spoon, two knives with which to cut the shortening into the flour, a measuring cup, the measuring spoons, and a pan in which to bake the roll.

Then for the ingredients. In addition to 2½ cups of berries mixed with three-quarters cup of sugar, we'll need two cups of flour, four teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, four tablespoons shortening, one cup of grated American cheese, one-third cup milk. [You can use canned berries if you like, but they must be well drained.] Now let's get started.

1. Sift together three times the two cups of flour [measured after sifting once], four teaspoons baking powder, and one-half teaspoon salt.

2. Using the two knives cut in the four tablespoons of hard shortening until the mixture is in coarse lumps. You may rub the shortening in lightly with your clean fingers if you prefer.

3. Mix in the one cup of grated cheese very lightly.

4. Add the one-third cup of milk to make a stiff dough. During the baking the cheese will soften the dough, so it should not be too soft after the mixing.

5. Knead lightly on a floured board for about one minute.

6. Pat out the dough [or roll with a rolling pin] to about one-third inch in thickness.

7. Mix three-quarters cup sugar with the 2½ cups fresh raspberries or other fresh fruit and spread the berries over the dough.

8. Carefully roll the dough with the berries in it, like a jelly roll.

9. Place on floured baking pan and bake in a high moderate [375 degrees] oven for 40 minutes, or until the pastry is well browned.

10. Remove from oven, slice, and serve hot, with or without cream or whipped cream.

Next week we'll make the frosted ginger creams. Won't you write in and let us know what other recipes you'd like to see in our Saturday cooking column?

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

Herewith is presented another portion of Mr. Culbertson's latest work on contract, the "Gold Book of Bidding and Play," which is being reproduced in this column in daily instalments.

CHAPTER 1—INSTALMENT VI.

Anticipatory Bidding.

By means of strategic methods and conventions of bidding the player anticipates the various types of hands that may be dealt and bidding eventualities that may arise. He now finds himself prepared to meet them, not in a superficial helter skelter manner, but scientifically. This same anticipation or looking ahead before bidding and play is one of the basic, strategic habits to acquire.

Before I make a bid I anticipate partner's possible response as well as opponents' possible course of action. I then ask myself what will happen to me if and if and if. Not too many "ifs" or I may become, pardon this pitiful pun, "if-meshed," but a couple of "ifs," anyway.

One of the important differences between a good player and a dub is that the former treats his bids of any specific deal as a strategical whole in which each bid plays a logical rôle supporting other bids so that he finds himself prepared for more important future eventualities; the beginner treats each bid as an isolated, complete event in itself, blissfully oblivious of dire events to come, perhaps at the next corner.

That part of strategy which deals with psychological factors is treated in detail elsewhere. Here I will point out only that strategy must not be confused with strategems, as it sometimes is. A strategem is an artifice or trick designed to outwit the adversary. The new Culbertson system is full of effective trap bids and plays [effective except when indulged in by fancy Felixes and smart Aleck strategists], but such strategems play the same rôle in bridge strategy as an ambush plays in a sweeping strategic maneuver of war masses.

Strategy in bidding finds its counterpart in the tactics of play. In bridge the actual battle starts with the opening lead, and the dummy is the battlefield. It is the object of bidding strategy to select the most favorable combination or bid. It is the object of playing tactics to make the most of the situation. To use a military analogy, bidding is strategy, a series of planned maneuvers to secure the best position [contract], while play is the actual battle or tactical execution of the planned campaign.

TODAY'S HAND.

South, dealer.

NORTH
♠ Q J 10
♥ 9 7 5 4
♦ A K 10 9
♣ 10 2

WEST
♠ K 9 8 4

SOUTH
♣ A Q

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 hearts	Pass	3 diamonds	Pass
3 hearts	Pass	5 hearts	Pass
7 hearts	Pass	Pass	Pass

South knew that his final bid was overenthusiastic, but, being far behind on the score, decided to "shoot the works." West opened the eight of trumps. Declarer won, drew the outstanding trump, and led the spade queen toward his ace. When East played small, declarer went into a huddle, trying to decide whether to finesse the spade or the club [he could discard his loser in either one on dummy's long diamond]. West, a "smart Aleck," felt secure in the knowledge that he held both black kings behind South's marked aces, therefore flashed the kings at declarer, saying, "Come on—take your licking!" Declarer merely grinned. He went up with the spade ace, ran off every trump and every diamond, discarding a spade, and thus squeezed West into a fatal discard, making the contract.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: Both sides were vulnerable and my right hand opponent opened the bidding with one spade. I held:

♠ 3, ♥ K Q J 7, ♦ A K 10 9, ♣ A K Q 3.

What should I have bid?

In-Between Age Children Often Are Difficult

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

You might think that making a list of all the types of behavior parents are apt to encounter as their children go from childhood into the years between 7 and 11 couldn't possibly be helpful or constructive.

But it is. It prepares parents for what is likely to happen, if their children mature as they should. And instead of finding themselves worried and bewildered, they will be able to recognize these symptoms of growth and handle them understandingly.

Often exact directions for handling these inbetweens aren't given because behavior patterns always can't be classified by the use of general terms. You have to study your child and adjust your handling of him accordingly.

There is a time for leniency, and a time when you will need to be firm.

There is a time when he should have more freedom, and a time when you will need to exert authority.

There is a time when you'll have to be blind to 90 per cent of his actions and deaf to 100 per cent of the noise he makes.

There is a time when patience will be your greatest asset.

When you can't understand him and fathom his motives, often all you can do is to bide your time and hold your tongue. All the admonitions in the world would be ineffectual.

This may not seem like constructive help, but when the reasons for certain kinds of behavior are undecipherable, we get the greatest results by doing little, but "standing by" with patience and love, even though we cannot give them understanding. In tomorrow's article more definite suggestions will be given.

[Copyright: 1936: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Knowing what to expect helps you with your inbetweens—the children from 6 to 12. Mrs. Bevans' booklet, "Living with Our Inbetweens," will be sent out on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

Posture, Poise and Pose Keys to Beauty Today

Now Held Essentials of Girls' Education.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

It's the initial P now, girls, for your observation and study. Poise, Pose, and Posture! Without which your beauty education is totally and absolutely without foundation.

Pose, for your information, is an attitude of mental and physical ingredients.

Posture is a physical attitude.

Your pose as well as your posture may be slouchy, slovenly, without grace, and expressing a mental state that lacks refinement.

Your poise, if it is good poise, emulates the ease of a well trained speaker or stage professional of years of training. If it is poor poise, you exhibit constant shifting of feet, hands darting to face, hair, or indulging in jittery tappings. You say the wrong thing through sheer scatterbrained lack of control.

Good posture is that which you see in the woman whose clothes have an air, who steps along with an air of being anything but a downtrodden slavey. Standing, walking, sitting, reclining, the woman of importance never loses the lines which distinguish her grace. In walking, you'll note she has on shoes in which she can step along with an easy swing and resilient sole. Some one has suggested, and rightly, that when posture is to be corrected begin at the ground. The stilted, awkward posture, seven times out of ten, at least, may be laid to the feet pointing outward and to high heels which prevent a straightening of the knee.

The movement of the knee is not cited often enough in criticism of walks. I have had under direct observation a case of a young person whose knees project with every step and the effect in walking is slovenly. She is working daily now in an attempt to overcome this fault and, of late, there has been a marked improvement. The striking thing noticed is the improvement in the whole body. She draws herself up taller, holds her chest up better, and her abdomen flatter. In this case, an inherited tendency has been fought. More often, however, it is faulty training or no training at all that brings children to adulthood with the awkward gait.

So intricately involved are the three, pose, poise and posture, that any single effort directed at one or the other of them results in an improvement for all of them.

Sally to Announce List of Baseball Winners Tomorrow

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Some years ago I had the idea that little boys liked baseball better than little girls, but since I've been conducting parties for children every summer I know that that's all wrong. Girls are just as wild about the national game as any one else, and the number and tone of their letters prove it.

All the youngsters who wrote in for invitations to our next party, which is to be held at Wrigley field next Thursday when the Chicago Cubs play Philadelphia, will be able to end your suspense tomorrow. Names of the winners will be announced in my column and personal invitations will be in the mail so that they'll reach you well before party day.

Ocean Wave.

BY NANCY CABOT.

The state of Maine has more quilt patterns to its credit than almost any other state. "Ocean Wave," a quilt of Maine origin which is symbolic of the blue of the sea and the perpetual motion of the ocean waves, was one of the first of many pieced patterns with a nautical motif. The pattern contains two patches—triangles—and measures 16 inches square when completed. Only 30 pieced blocks are required for a coverlet containing all pieced squares.

BOLTON TELLS OF DETECTIVE'S 'CUT' IN HAMM RANSOM

Also Links Policeman to Bremer Kidnaping.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 21.—[Special.]—Byron Bolton, confessed kidnaper whose testimony has sent a dozen gangsters to prison, today reiterated his story before a civil service board here that Detective Thomas Brown, former St. Paul chief of police, was to receive $25,000 of the $100,000 ransom paid for the release of William Hamm Jr.

Bolton also threw a bombshell into the hearing when he linked Brown to the kidnaping of Edward G. Bremer in St. Paul on Jan. 17, 1934. The detective, Bolton testified, was to have received $5,000 of the Bremer ransom, but "did not get the money because he killed Homer Van Meter." Van Meter, John Dillinger lieutenant, was slain in St. Paul by Brown and three other policemen in August, 1934.

Brown was suspended and later dismissed, following Bolton's testimony in the recent trial of John P. Peiffer, Twin Cities night club operator who committed suicide after being convicted and sentenced to 30 years' imprisonment.

Heavy Guard in Court.

In preferring charges against Brown the city alleged five instances of malfeasance and nonfeasance, including participation in the conspiracies to kidnap both Hamm and Bremer, "tipping off" police and federal agents' activities to the kidnaping mob, and failing to obey orders of Thomas E. Dahill, then chief of police, to investigate a suspected kidnaping hideout in St. Paul.

Bolton, who has been in Ramsey county jail for 18 months waiting sentence, was taken to the courtroom where the hearing was in progress under heavy guard of federal agents and sherif's deputies.

Before the civil service appeals board and a crowded courtroom he related again, in detail, the story he had told at Peiffer's trial of the movements of the Barker-Karpis gang and of hearing arrangements made for Brown to receive $25,000.

Original Sum Exchanged.

Bolton described the split-up by the gang in a cottage at Long Lake, Ill., of the ransom proceeds after the original $100,000 had been exchanged at Reno, Nev., for a slightly lesser amount of "cool dough."

"I had returned to Elmhurst [where he lived at the time], and Goetz [Fred Goetz, alias George Ziegler, one of the conspirators, now dead] came to me and said I should go to Long Lake for the split-up," Bolton testified. "He said Karpis would drive me over."

The reference was to Alvin Karpis, now serving a life term in Alcatraz federal prison, who is alleged to have made a statement while in the county jail here absolving Brown.

Meeting in Bedroom.

"Karpis took me to Long Lake," Bolton continued. "There I saw Fred and Doc Barker, Fitzgerald [Charles J. Fitzgerald, member of the gang] and Volney Davis [another member of the gang].

"We went into a bedroom and split the money. Volney stayed on the porch. He had no part in the kidnaping."

"How was the money divided?" Bolton was asked.

"Fred Barker said they had it all figured out," the witness replied. "He counted the money out of a brief case. First he counted out $40,000."

"What was that for?" Bolton was asked.

"He said $10,000 was for Jack Peiffer," the witness continued, "$25,000 for Tom Brown [the detective]; $2,500 for Jack Davenport, a friend of Peiffer's; $2,500 for another man—they didn't seem to be sure who it was for; $2,500 for Farmer for attorney's fees in Kansas City; $700 for Davis, who had just got out of prison and was broke, and $500 for Bartholomey [Edward Bartholomey, former Bensenville, Ill., postmaster, sentenced to six years in the kidnaping conspiracy]. We split the rest six ways, $7,000 each."

22 INDICTED FOR SYNDICALISM IN TERRORIST QUIZ

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 21.—[Special.]—The one man grand jury which has been investigating the Black Legion here indicted 22 men today, among them Virgil H. [Bert] Effinger of Lima, O., so-called national chief of the terrorists, on charges of criminal syndicalism. They are accused of plotting to overthrow the United States government.

The action represented a new departure in that Circuit Judge James E. Chenot and Assistant Attorney General Chester P. O'Hara, conducting the inquiry, did not resort to prosecution for murder, kidnaping or other such crimes.

They pursued a different theory—that merely belonging to the Black Legion is a crime in itself.

The action was largely based on a new affidavit from Dayton Dean, talkative trigger man of the organization.

In his affidavit, Dean said Effinger had declared at various Black Legion meetings throughout Michigan that the organization was going to resort to arms and take over the government in a sudden uprising, scheduled for Sept. 16.

Shortly before the indictments were made public, Circuit Judge Joseph A. Moynihan sentenced two Black Legionnaires, Frederick A. Gulley and Thomas F. Cox, to serve from three to five years in Jackson prison. He convicted them last week of false imprisonment. They took Robert Penland, Ecorse steel worker, to a Black Legion meeting, against his will.

GUNSHOT DEATH ACCIDENTAL.

BULLET VICTIM

SAMUEL ZANGARA.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Samuel Zangara, 39 years old, a war veteran, was found shot to death yesterday in a room behind the shoe shop he operated at 5204 Broadway. Apparently Zangara was murdered. A .32 caliber Spanish revolver, its chamber fully loaded but none of the shells fired, was found beside him, as though he had drawn it too late to protect himself.

There was no motive for suicide uncovered in an investigation begun by Capt. Martin McCormick of the Summerdale police, who said Zangara may have been killed in a feud. In his clothing was found $315 in cash. His cash register contained $210 and veteran's bonus bonds worth $900.

Zangara was unmarried and lived at 1303 Foster avenue. He was shot in the left side of the face, where seven powder burns were found.

So far as the police could learn, Zangara was not related to the Giuseppe Zangara who shot and fatally wounded Mayor Anton Cermak in February, 1933, at Miami, in an attempt to assassinate President Roosevelt. Giuseppe Zangara was executed.

OVERPAYMENTS OF NEW DEAL RA TOTAL $181,000

Errors Lead to Extra Pay Roll Checks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 21.—[Special.]—New Deal Santa Clauses gave employés of the Rural Resettlement administration from two to four pay checks during the organization of the unit a year ago. This was learned today when the treasury was revealed to be making efforts to collect every penny of overpayments totaling $181,000.

All of the overpayments but $20,000 has been collected to date. In the process of correcting the pay roll blunders it was reported that the treasury will spend almost as much as was lost through multiple payments.

Errors Over Four Months.

The bookkeeping bungling occurred in the months of June, July, August, and September as Rexford Guy Tugwell was launching his more abundant life agency, according to Max J. Wasserman, RA director in charge of finance. In the hectic days of the organization of the unit, checks were issued by the treasury department and also by treasury account officers in the field.

As employés were hired, dropped, and reassigned to various divisions of the RA, the error mounted. It was reported that errors totaled $1,000,000 but RA officials said they did not reach the $200,000 mark.

Blunder Is Discovered.

The blunder was discovered in the general accounting office and accounts officers were set to work quietly to recover the money. Collection from employés still on the rolls was comparatively easy but difficulty came in collecting from overpaid employés who were dropped.

Some of these denied having received duplicate payments and were prevailed to make restitution only when confronted with the checks. Others have refused to make the repayments and because they were in the lower ranks and not bonded the government can only resort to civil action if the payee remains stubborn.

KERNER RULING CALLS RELIEF TAX LAW VALID

Attorney General Otto Kerner of Illinois yesterday made public an opinion in which he held that the state relief tax law is valid and that tax anticipation warants issued under it are legal. The law provides for a tax of 30 cents on each $100 of property valuation.

Under the law, the tax is imposed twice in a number of townships partly within and partly without the city limits of Chicago, once by the city and once by the locally elected township assessor. Because of the double taxation feature the law firm of Chapman & Cutler has advised bankers that it considers the law illegal and the warants consequently questionable.

City officials here stated that the Kerner opinion, which was made in answer to points raised by Elmer J. Mohan, state's attorney of La Salle county, did not touch upon double taxation, and that the difficulty of selling warants in Chicago continues to exist. This problem is peculiar to Chicago, Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes said, pointing out that La Salle county is not thus concerned.

BURNS TO DEATH IN BED.

Charles F. McCarthy, 50 years old, a waiter, was fatally burned yesterday in his bed in the Globe hotel, 147th street near Chicago road, Dolton, where he was employed. Dolton police said McCarthy apparently had been smoking in bed.

RILEY SMITH TIGHTENS GRIP ON QUARTER BACK JOB

HARD BLOCKING OF 190 POUNDER MARKS DRILLS

All-Stars Will Hold Game Today.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Riley Smith, for three years the field general of the Crimson Tide of Alabama, demonstrated yesterday why he was chosen as No. 1 quarter back on the All-American football team which plays the Detroit Lions at Soldiers' field the night of Sept. 1.

Through two spirited practice sessions Smith was at the quarter back post on the No. 1 blue team, the team which the fans of the nation designated as the eleven which will start against the professional champions. And through those two sessions his generalship, speed, blocking, kicking, and passing ability convinced the staf of All-Star coaches that even if he had not been picked by the fans they would have been forced to rely on him as their pilot for the greater part of the game.

Maniaci in Back Field.

Under the deft guidance of Smith, this back field, moving along with almost machinelike precision behind a powerful line, made substantial gains on offense against a white eleven made up of some of the best linemen on the squad. Smith, although he was trained in the Notre Dame system at Alabama under Frank Thomas, last year's All-Star coach, showed that he has rapidly mastered the Minnesota style of attack taught by All-Star Coach Bernie Bierman.

Built Like a Full Back.

Built more like the popular conception of a full back than a quarter back, Riley was throwing his 190 pounds into every play in which he took part yesterday afternoon and last night.

Though he is one of half dozen of the greatest quarter backs in the game who are in training with the All-Star squad, he showed conclusively that he will be master of the situation when the kickoff starts the battle between the collegians and the professional champions. His greatness can best be measured by the fact that he stands out in a squad which includes Babe Le Voir and Glen Seidel, Minnesota's field generals; Stan Pincura of Ohio State; Wally Fromhart of Notre Dame, and Bobby Wilson of Southern Methodist.

Two Other Teams Work.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bloomfield Hills, Mich., Aug. 21.—The Detroit Lions, cloistered in luxury at the aristocratic Cranbrook school, returned to work today for the All-Star game at Chicago on Sept. 1, engaging in two drills preparatory to three days of scrimmage planned for the weekend.

Both drills were light and were designed principally to loosen up the 39 players after yesterday's day off. After an hour of dummy scrimmage, passing, wind sprints and signal drill, the sessions were concluded with the Lions' own brand of volley ball in which they use the cross bar on the goal posts for a net and play with a football.

Ernie Caddel, veteran half back, Sid Wagner, rookie guard from Michigan State, and James Steen, former Syracuse tackle, were sent to the hospital to undergo treatment for infections. Caddel's developed from a blistered heel; Steen's was the result of a scratch on the leg and Wagner's knees were banged up in scrimmage early in the week. None was regarded as serious, although Steen will remain in the hospital for two days.

Clark in West.

Between drills the squad congregated in the parlor of Stevens hall, where it is quartered, and named Dutch Clark, veteran quarter back, as captain again this year. Clark will return early next week from Pueblo, Colo., where he is opening the Colorado state fair and delegating his duties as general manager of the exposition to an assistant.

Newspaper men visiting the Lions today found them ensconced in one of the most elaborate training camps ever provided for an athletic team. Nestled among the hills and pretentious estates in this exclusive residential section, Cranbrook school covers 94 acres. It is a new institution built from private, and apparently unlimited, capital and contains the finest of modern conveniences. The Lions have the run of the place. They practice in utmost privacy, roam about the lawns and carefully groomed flower beds, and in general disport

Schmeling and Braddock Bout Off Till June

New York, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The heavyweight championship fight between James J. Braddock and Germany's Max Schmeling probably will be held next June instead of next month, as originally scheduled.

The New York state athletic commission today gave Braddock three weeks to be cured of an arthritis attack, but the promoters, disregarding the possibility of staging the bout this year, went ahead with arrangements for holding it next summer.

Joe Gould, Braddock's manager, announced a few hours after the commission meeting that he had signed for Braddock to meet the conqueror of Joe Louis at the Madison Square Garden bowl either June 3 or June 10, 1937. Madison Square Garden officials, co-promoters of the bout with Mike Jacobs' 20th Century club, then set about getting Schmeling's signature on a contract.

Becomes Official Monday.

That business was accomplished in short order and the Garden announced the postponement until June would become official when the contracts are filed with the commission next Monday.

After hearing the report of Dr. Fred Albee, bone specialist, who examined the champion Wednesday, the commission went into executive session, then announced Braddock would begin treatments at once and report back to the commission Sept. 15 for another examination.

Visibly upset and disappointed, Schmeling lost no time getting back to Germany. He booked passage on the Bremen sailing at midnight.

Plans Louis Bouts.

The postponement was not unexpected to Max, but he was apprehensive lest things be maneuvered around so that Louis gets a match with Braddock before Schmeling gets his chance. He cheered up when Commissioner Bill Brown assured him Braddock will not be permitted to box anybody in New York state until he fights Schmeling.

Mike Jacobs, who had been working on a return match between Schmeling and Louis, said he would sign Louis for a bout with Al Ettore to be fought in Philadelphia Sept. 22.

10 FAST HORSES RACE TODAY IN SHERIDAN STAKE

Handicap at Washington Park Wide Open.

Sheridan Field

THE field for the revival of Sheridan handicap carrying $7,500 in added money at a mile and an eighth for 3 year olds, which will be run at Washington Park this afternoon, arranged in the order of post positions, follows:

Horse.	Wt.	Jocky.	Prob. odds.
Infidox	108	C. Corbett	8-1
Bow and Arrow	115	J. Renick	7-2
Sir Jim James	115	J. Rosen	5-1
Understand	103	T. P. Martin	12-1
Bill Bo	105	J. Cowley	25-1
Bolo	112	G. South	4-1
*Threadneedle	107	H. Callahan	6-1
*Lady Montrose	105	No boy	6-1
Valiant Fox	105	L. Balaski	20-1
Gyral	106	B. James	15-1

*Morris Vehon-J. Lowenstein entry.

BY FRENCH LANE.

More of a neighborhood scrap than a race out of which any great championship angle will develop is today's revival of the Sheridan stakes for 3 year olds at the Washington Park course.

Regardles s of which horse may win, the $7,500 added money prize is bound to remain in the west, for only western owned colts and fillies have accepted the issue. This should make it a rip-roaring battle, for there is no decided choice among the overnight field of ten.

After the field was made complete at the regular hour of entry yesterday morning the betting indicated that three in the overnight group would muster slightly more support at post time than the others. These three are Hyman Friedberg's Bolo, Col. Edward R. Bradley's Bow and Arrow, and E. W. Duffy's Sir Jim James.

Stake Is Wide Open Race.

Still, there was no heavy plunge on any of them, which was a good indication that it may be the most wide open race, as far as the wagering is concerned, that has been run in Chicago this season. Some predicted that the favorite might be as good as 4 to 1 unless there should be wholesale withdrawals today. This hardly seems likely, as none of those in the field are materially affected by any possible change in track conditions.

The one outsider which many believed has a royal chance to get home first in the Sheridan is Morris Vehon's filly Threadneedle. This daughter of Reigh Count has trained in splendid fashion for the race, and her trainer, Jake Lowenstein, believes she will be better today than at any time this season. This filly was second in the Kentucky Oaks last May. She has not been campaigned hard this season, which is the reason wny many horsemen believe that she will be hard to beat for the remainder of the season.

Good Ones at Nice Odds.

Long shots in the race will be the Northway stable's Valiant Fox, which was second in the Santa Anita Derby; Charley Bidwill's Gyral, which now and then turns in a race of championship caliber; A. B. Leteller's Bill Bo, and the Blue Ridge farm's vastly improved Understand.

The Sheridan is one of Chicago's oldest turf fixtures, and for that reason was revived this year when it was decided not to run the American Derby because of the lateness of the Washington Park season. The Sheridan dates back to 1884, when it was first run at old Washington Park and won by the great horse Kosciusko. Other noted winners of the race included Emperor of Norfolk, Proctor Knott, Rey El Santa Anita, and Robert Waddell. Some of the great horses that were beaten in revivals of the Sheridan were Spokane, Pink Coat, and Wyeth.

At old Washington Park the Sheridan was at a mile and quarter. Its revival today is at a mile and an eighth. If all start the race will have a gross value of $9,270.

Tigers Beat White Sox, 8 to 6; Dietrich Wild and Hit Hard

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 21.—The White Sox got tough enough this afternoon to slip another knockout to their cousin, Lynwood Schoolboy Rowe, but it didn't mean anything. Despite the blasting that removed the famous gentleman from the picture, the Chicagoans fell before the champion Tigers in the opener of a four game series because their own pitchers wilted in the face of prosperity.

The score was 8 to 6, principally as the result of a joyride taken by the title holders in the eighth inning. Quite confident of their thumping ability against Rowe, the Sox let go with both barrels in the second inning and furnished Bill Dietrich with a four run lead. The bespectacled lad, shy on control, wilted immediately and was gone before the third inning was completed with the score tied. Sugar Cain then pitched hitless ball until handed a one run lead which caused Rowe's banishment in the eighth. He was shelled out of action in the same inning and Clint Brown couldn't restore order until four decisive runs had scored.

Dietrich Very Generous.

If Dietrich had remained much longer he might have given away Mr. Lou Comiskey's entire ball club including the manager. He surrendered two passes in the first inning, one in the second and two in the third. This last pair was followed by three hits, hence the three run damage.

After this sad session for bespectacled Bill, the Tigers didn't produce another hit until the eighth when Goose Goslin tied the score with his 22d homer. Cain then yielded another pass and hit and Rescuer Brown one pass and two hits, the most costly one being Pitch Hitter Jo Jo White's single with the bags loaded.

Rip Radcliff continued to show signs of eluding the jinx that has been functioning successfully against him for the past couple of weeks. He belted a triple for the fifth hit off Rowe in the second inning, the long smash driving in two runs. Rip singled in the eighth to start the rally that gave the Sox the lead for the second time. And a snappy running catch by Wildman Gerald Walker was all that kept Rip from padding his day's record with another extra base blow in the ninth.

Mr. Rowe strutted impressively about the mound while dispatching three Sox in order in the first inning

Talking It Over

[Copyright: 1936: By The Chicago Tribune.]

MEMBERS of the British Walker cup team, who will meet the American team at Pine Valley, N. J., next month, have been going to Belgium for instructions from Henry Cotton, former British open champion, now stationed at Brussels. . . . Jack Sharkey's defeat by Joe Louis was the twelfth of his career and his fourth by a knockout. . . . The Cardinals take in nearly $30,000 a year on exhibition games. . . . After Purdue plays Wisconsin at Lafayette, Oct. 10, it will not make another appearance at home this fall until Nov. 21. . . . Purdue and Indiana play only three home games. . . . Jacques Archambault, a Canadian golfer, has scored six aces. . . . The Giants have won only two of their eleven ladies' day games at the Polo grounds. . . . Dave Levin, who is recognized by California as heavyweight wrestling champion, keeps a diary. . . . It is different, no doubt, from the diary of another Californian. . . . Lloyd Cardwell, Nebraska's fleet half back, recently underwent a minor operation. . . . Every one of the fifty-three members of the All-Star football squad has been approached by professional clubs, some by as many as twelve. . . . Gov. Frank Fitzgerald of Michigan plans to fly to Chicago to cheer the Detroit Lions against the College All-Americans. . . . Don Brennan, Cincinnati pitcher, who bats right handed, says he never has hit a ball to left field.

American Olympic officials, disgusted with the controversy over the sex of certain feminine competitors, are urging separate Olympic games for women. . . . While Avery Brundage, president of the American Olympic committee, is staying in there catching wallops to both cheeks, this department ventures the hope that the United States always will have a man as competent, honest, and enthusiastic directing amateur sport. . . . Bob Weiland, formerly of the White Sox, was the first pitcher in the International league to win twenty games this season. . . . Gordon Richards again is nearing the jocky championship of England. . . . He has 120 winners to his credit. . . . His nearest rival has ridden only half that number. . . .

Grover Cleveland Alexander served in the world war, but did not collect a bonus. . . . He mislaid his identification papers. . . . Johnny Kilbane, former featherweight champion, is a boxing instructor for the Cleveland board of education. . . . Don Lash, Olympic distance runner, is a janitor in a girls' dormitory at Indiana university. . . . Joe Greenberg, brother of the Detroit first baseman, is playing with the Johnstown, Pa., club of the Mid-Atlantic league. . . .

University of Chicago is selling season tickets to its six home football games for $7.70. . . . Nordic Country club is planning installation of a watering system. . . . Burgess Whitehead is the one New York Giant player who has appeared in every game this season. . . . Jim Wilson, professional at Park Ridge Country club, who is serving his twenty-ninth season in American golf, was in South Africa for twenty months during the Boer war. . . . He enlisted in the Scottish Horse brigade from North Berwick, Scotland. . . . Members of the All-Star coaching staf say they have one consolation. . . . They know in advance that, win, lose, or draw, they will be fired immediately after the game. . . . It sometimes takes a couple of months for college executives to get around to firing a coach. . . .

Ten Years Ago Today—Frankie Frisch, who deserted the New York Giants, returned to the team with no explanation and Manager John McGraw suspended him indefinitly. . . . The St. Louis Cardinals won their eighth straight game and moved within a percentage point of first place.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Cubs, pushed around by the habitual second division Cincinnati club in nine games this year, finally got ashamed of their meek and smug demeanor yesterday, became a little tough, and won themselves a ball game in the opener with the Reds at Wrigley field, 7 to 2.

The first Chicago run was a homer by Bill Lee, first of his major league career, and matched a first inning circuit smash by Ival Goodman. The other Cub runs, the entire half dozen, were made in the fifth inning off Bill Hallahan and Gene Schott, after the Cubs were trailing 2 to 1.

Manager Charles [That Will Cost You $1,000] Dressen, who has enjoyed much success against the Cubs by getting the players sore and surly with a series of fines for not hustling, eating with their knives, tipping over the clubhouse cuspidor and other offenses, major and minor, tried to inspire his heavily assessed chattels.

Lee Frightens 'em.

Yesterday he was exhorting his boys to slay the Cubs from his usual station off the diamond until Lee found his control a little uncertain, hit two batsmen, and frightened several others. Dressen then started to fine the players right and left, according to reports, but the fines, many of them in Chinese money, alarmed the Reds less than Lee's fast shots. Thus softened, the Reds were as meek as the Cubs have been these many days, and the fifth inning was a soft touch, indeed.

While the Cubs showed a degree of fight and zest, virtually negligible qualities for a month, a mere victory over the Cincinnati odds and ends leaves much to be accomplished. The faded champs looked great in the fifth inning, and Hartnett made a single and Jurges a double in the eighth, but they had their accustomed doldrums in five of the innings and might have slept through the entire performance had not Lee showed fire both as a pitcher and batsman. After all, the fellows have a lot of the right kind of pride if some one each day can find a way of setting it off, as Lee did yesterday.

Homer in First Inning.

The Reds started off as though they were going to play over their second division heads, as has been their harrowing custom this year. Goodman, second batsman of the afternoon, drove a homer into the right field stands. Scarsella later singled and Lombardi was hit by a pitched ball. However, Babe Herman and Riggs neutralized everything but the homer by striking out.

In the first of the second Kampouris

TWO DEAD HEATS RUN IN DAY AT WASHINGTON PK.

First for Winning Purse, Second for Place.

Kabo and Double Kerry finished with their noses together in the six furlong third race, so Harry I. Day's Eye in the Sky called it a dead heat. Inches back of them were Naughty and Bon Centime.

The second race was won quite handily by Petty Taw, but Mrs. Clarence Dale's Well Heeled and R. F. Carman's Mucker ran a dead heat for second money. The close finishes just added to the heat of the sweltering afternoon.

The dead heat in the third race found Kabo paying $26.80 for a two dollar ticket to win and Double Kerry $10 on the same investment. Double Kerry came from far back in the run down the stretch and no doubt would have won in another stride.

After he rode the crazy horse Pharosay in the South Shore purse which featured yesterday's program Jocky Paul Keester packed up his boots and saddle and said it was perhaps the last race he would ever ride in this country. He worked himself into a frenzy trying to make weight of 117 pounds, but when he stepped on the scales he weighed 121. He told friends he would make a short visit with his relatives in Newport, Ky., and then go to France, where jockies carry much more weight than they do in this country.

Capt. Cal won the South Shore after Pharosay ran for the outside fence soon after the start was made. Capt. Cal came up from behind, headed Boston Mary a half furlong out, and then went on to win by a length and a half. Boston Mary saved second money and Reaping was third.

Pharosay ran without blinkers and demonstrated that he won't behave himself that way equipped any better than he will when he wears the rogue's badge. About $6,500 was wagered on Pharosay, which is a lot more than the scalawag is worth.

He was the 13 to 10 favorite. The sooner they run this sort of horses off the tracks the more the horse players will eat for breakfast the next morning.

Pharosay was barred at Arlington Park after he had acted very much like a maniac in one of the stylish races run there.

Why he should have been permitted to annoy a Washington Park crowd to the extent of a $6,500 loss is something to write to your congressman about when you send in for grass seed next spring.

Apprentice P. Crowhurst, a native of Chicago's north side, made his debut in the saddle astride Panic Relief in the third race yesterday.

YANKEES DEFEAT RED SOX, 4 TO 1; FERRELL QUITS

Boston Pitcher Is Fined $1,000 and Suspended.

New York, Aug. 21. — (AP) — The league leading Yankees opened their home stand successfully today, defeating the Boston Red Sox, 4 to 1, behind Monte Pearson's four hit pitching.

The victory, Pearson's 16th of the season, was clinched when the Yankees shoved three runs across in the sixth off Wes Ferrell.

Ferrell walked from the mound during the scoring splurge without getting orders from Manager Joe Cronin, and was fined $1,000 and suspended indefinitly by the Sox pilot for doing so.

MOON MULLINS—HELP! HELP!

Sight of Home, Lee's Pitching Revive Cubs

was hit by a pitched ball and raced to third when Hartnett, trying to stop him from stealing, threw the ball into center field. But he died on third when Hallahan and Walker struck out.

Hallahan walked Hack and Galan, first batters in the Cubs' second, and they advanced on Hartnett's sacrifice. Jurges flied to Walker and Hack was doubled at the plate.

Lee Ties Score.

Lee, who scored the Cubs' only run the last time he pitched, decided at the start of the third that he would have to set an example to his meek mates. So he tied the score with a shot over the left field wall. The smack did not immediately inspire his timid brethren, however, Allen, English, and Bill Herman forthwith supplied infield outs.

The Reds went ahead, 2 to 1, in the fifth on a single by Walker, an error by Allen, and Babe Herman's single.

Drive Hallahan to Cover.

In the fifth the Cubs executed an old time champion rally, causing Hallahan to be knocked out. With one down Jurges singled to center and went to third on Lee's single to right. Allen's drive got away from Walker for a two base error, Jurges scoring and Lee stopping at third. Lee scored and Allen took third on a wild pitch. Then English singled to right, Allen scoring. Bill Herman flied to Walker, but Demaree and Hack followed with singles, English scoring.

It was at this point that Schott replaced Hallahan. Galan tripled over Babe Herman's head, Demaree and Hack running home with the last scores of the afternoon.

COLORED BALL PLAYERS DRILL TODAY FOR GAME

The eighteen players chosen to represent the west in the fourth annual colored all-star baseball game tomorrow afternoon at Comiskey park will report to Manager Bingo De Moss this morning. After a brief meeting De Moss will send the squad out to Sox park for a lengthy drill.

Six of the west's stars are members of the Chicago American Giants, of which De Moss is manager. Other members of the western squad are under contract to the Cincinnati Tigers and Kansas City Monarchs.

Tonight the first of the eastern stars will arrive. Others are coming in early tomorrow morning and immediately after arrival will be sent through a practice by Manager Oscar Charleston, who during the regular season directs the Pittsburgh Crawfords.

Heading the eastern delegation will be Satchell Paige, the lanky right hander, who is regarded as the greatest colored pitcher of all time. This season Paige has won 24 games and lost 3 for the Pittsburgh Crawfords. Paige was the star of the 1934 game which the east won, 1 to 0, for its lone victory in the all-star series.

CHICAGO LEGION NINE DEFEATED BY MIDDLETOWN

Middletown, O., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Buffalo and Middletown went into semi-finals of the American Legion's Junior baseball tournament here today, the New Yorkers scoring five runs in the eleventh inning of their game with Ecorse of Detroit, to win 11 to 6, and the Ohio champions routing Chicago, 5 to 3.

Middletown's winning margin of three runs came in the ninth with one out, on a single, a double by Hursh, another single and two wild pitches by Ed Zydowsky.

Chicago had scored twice in the first inning on a three singles and a walk. Scores:

8 MIDGET RACES RUN TONIGHT AT TORRENCE TRACK

Eight events of midget auto racing will be presented tonight at the Torrence speedway, 169th street and Torrence avenue. Pat Warren and Emil Andres again will drive. Racing starts at 8:30 p. m.

Warren, recovered from injuries suffered ten days ago, and Andres, appearing in a new Duesenberg special, will seek to undermine the prestige of Wally Zale, winner of the last two features on the south side track; Jimmy Snyder, 1936 indoor champion, and Zale's most persistent annoyer, and such other well-known drivers as Marshall Lewis, Ted Tetterton, Paul Russo, Art Hartsfeld, Carl Peterson and Cletus Cowboy O'Rourke, who are in contending positions.

Derringer and Carleton Pitch in Game Today

Tex Carleton, who revived quickly from a smelling salts treatment after the final in Pittsburgh Thursday, will pitch for the Cubs in the second game of the Red series this afternoon. He will be opposed by Paul Derringer, who had lost nine of ten decisions until the Cubs put him back in the victory column a week ago.

Babe Herman, who walked out on the Reds last Tuesday in a huff over non-payment of a bonus, returned to his left field spot in the lineup yesterday after receiving orders from Commissioner K. M. Landis to report to the club immediately. His only comment on returning to action was, "I'm not saying anything."

Landis' ruling was made after a conference with Herman, Manager Charley Dressen, and Larry MacPhail, business manager. If at the end of the season the difficulty over the bonus has not been adjusted, Landis instructed Herman to report back to him for settlement of the argument.

The Cub yesterday announced the outright purchase from the Des Moines club of the Western league of Albert Paul Epperly, right handed pitcher. He has won 11 and lost 4 games this year for the Eau Claire club of the Northern league, where he is under option for the Des Moines club.

1876 Contest to Precede Cub Game Today

The Cubs and their friends this afternoon will celebrate the 60th anniversary of the National league with a number of ceremonial features, not the least of which will be the playing of a three inning ball game under the rules in effect in 1876. One of the teams will impersonate the Chicago team of that year and another group will prance on the field en costume, in the rôles of members of the Cincinnati Reds of sixty years ago.

The old time game will start at 1:30 o'clock and will follow immediately a luncheon which President P. K. Wrigley will give to seventy-five old timers, baseball officials and other baseball folk at the Congress hotel.

The game and the luncheon are the only features that have been announced in detail, but Charley Drake of the Cubs and Bill Brandt of the National league have been working hard evolving some surprise stunts which they promise will delight the assemblage.

The first Chicago National league game was played on May 11, 1876, and today's mustachioed performers have studied photographs of the players in that game with a view of staging the most faithful reproduction possible.

DENIES FIGHTER WAS FORCED TO TAKE A DIVE

New York, Aug. 21.—[Special.]—Charges by Pancho Villa, New Bedford, Mass., lightweight, that he was forced to take a dive in his fight with Aldo Spoldi of Italy last night at Fort Hamilton army post were denied today by Sergt. Cowan, director of boxing. Spoldi knocked out Villa in the second round.

"It's a lot of baloney," Sergt. Cowan said. "Soldiers were assigned to protect the fighters in their corners, as is always done during fights at the fort. It was a good left hook which made Villa hit the canvas for the count. Why, he was very groggy at the end of the first round."

but was less pompous when melted down with the four run blast in the second. Bonura and Appling led off with singles. Hayes bunted and Rowe tried to reach the ball with his bare hand before it hit the ground but missed connections, so Hayes enjoyed a hit and the bags were loaded with none out.

Piet scratched a single past Rowe and Bonura scored. Gehringer went into short right center for Sewell's popup and wasn't especially wide awake after making the catch, so Appling sprinted home from third with the second run. Dietrich avoided the possibilities of a double play by sacrificing. Then Radcliff took charge of Rowe's first pitch and hit the 371 foot sign in right center for a triple, Hayes and Piet drifting across the plate. The profitable session ended with Rosenthal looking at a third strike.

And Out Goes Dietrich.

Before getting into the jam that necessitated his removal in the third, Dietrich surrendered a run in the second. A single by Owen, a pass to Cochrane and a single by the impetuous Walker did this damage. The third developed complications when Goslin and Simmons walked with one out. Owen scratched a hit to Hayes, filling the bags. A single by Rogell sent Goslin and Simmons over the plate. Cochrane's single scored Owen with the tying run. Cain then came to Dietrich's relief and Rowe kindly bounced into a double play.

After the Tigers had touched off their fireworks in the third there wasn't another hit from either side until Sewell doubled to right center with two out in the seventh. Cain surprised everybody including himself by lining a single over third and, although the odds were greatly against him, Sewell took a chance on reaching the plate. Goslin's throw nailed him easily.

The eighth opened with Radcliff's single beyond Gehringer's reach. Rosenthal failed in a couple of bunting attempts so he settled for a single to right. Kreevich drew the first pass issued by Rowe, loading the sacks. Bonura, who dearly loves the pitching of the Schoolboy, then started a legitimate line single toward center. Rowe leaped up and deflected the ball toward Rogell who was able to force Kreevich at second, Radcliff scoring. Rowe promptly begged off on the plea he had bruised his pitching hand on the Bonura drive. Lawson stepped in and Appling bounced into a double play.

Walk Fills the Bases.

As soon as his mates gave him a lead Cain allowed his first hit and it tied the score. Goslin swung at a 3 and 2 pitch to start the eighth and sailed it into the new upper right field deck, which is only 315 feet from the plate. Cain then got Simmons on a pop up, but walked Owen, who went to third on Rogell's single. Cain was excused and Brown took over the vacancy.

Brown's first offense was the walking of Cochrane, filling the bags. White batted for Lawson and, with the infield drawn in, pushed a single past Bonura to score Owen and Rogell and put Cochrane on third. Parker ran for Cochrane and scored on Walker's single to center. Walker was nailed trying to reach second on the throw in and the disastrous inning ended when Bonura made a one handed stop of Burns' grass cutter.

The Sox tried to bounce back in the ninth, but the production was limited to one run. Hayes opened the inning with a single to center off Sorrell. Haas batted for Piet and doubled to left, Hayes stopping at third. Hayes ran home on Sewell's fly. Dixie Walker batted for Brown and lofted to Goslin. Radcliff then lined to right center, but Gerald Walker flagged it on the run.

STRONG TO PLAY IN AMERICAN PRO FOOTBALL LOOP

New York, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The American Professional Football league made its first raid on the established National league today when James L. Bush, president of the New York Yankees, signed Ken Strong, a star member of the New York Giants for several years, to play with his club this season.

Dr. Harry A. March, league president, said Strong had been dissatisfied with his contract with the Giants and had refused to sign this year.

Irish Sweepstakes Ticket Distributors Fined $1,400

New York, Aug. 21.—The first persons convicted here of using the mails to distribute Irish Hospitals Sweepstakes tickets—Oscar Stevenson and his son, Lincoln L. Stevenson—were fined a total of $1,400 today by Judge John W. Clancey. The elder Stevenson was fined $200 on each of two counts and his son, who was said by the government to be the official distributor for the tickets in the United States, was fined $500 on each count.

Vernon Kennedy to Pitch Today Against Tigers

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 21.—Manager Jim Dykes of the White Sox will place Vernon Kennedy in charge of the pitching tomorrow in the second of the series with the Tigers.

Manager Mickey Cochrane said he felt pretty good today so forgot about his threat not to start another game this year. It was his first start since his health went bad several months ago.

About 12,000 ladies' day guests were present and they added to the male's discomfort of a hot afternoon with their series of screeching yells such as "Yea, Walker," "Yea, Goose," etc.

Start Play in State Net Meet Today

Dr. Eugene McCauliff of Detroit and Miss Catherine Wolf of Elkhart, Ind., head the seeded lists for the men's and women's singles in the Illinois State Tennis tournament, which opens this afternoon at the River Forest Tennis club.

McCauliff, formerly one of the first ten players in the United States, is followed on the seeded list by Russell Ball of Northwestern university, last year's city champion; Julius Heldman of California, national junior tennis champion; Don McNeill of Kenyon college, O., who is both eastern and western junior singles and doubles champion; Chester Murphy, University of Chicago; Robert Kamrath of Austin, Tex., present South Dakota state title holder; Edward Lejeck of Chicago, former Big Ten champion; Frank O'Connell of South Bend; Eugene Quinn, Chicago, and William Murphy, University of Chicago.

Notable among the unseeded entries is Milton Douglas of New York. Seventy-nine racqueteers are entered for the men's singles title of Illinois.

Miss Wolf, who is five times western lawn tennis champion, heads a roster of eight seeded players. Second seeded star is Miss Margaret Stiel of River Forest, Chicago's second ranking woman player, and following her are Berenice Ayer, Berenice Surrillo, Josephine Scarnavack, Florence O'Connell, Eleanor Rosenbaum and Sarah Hinde, all Chicagoans.

Besides the men's and women's singles events, trophies will be awarded winners and runners-up in both men's and women's doubles, mixed doubles, junior singles and doubles, boys' singles and doubles and girls' singles.

Finals will be held Sunday, Aug. 30, on the clay courts at Lathrop and Quick avenues in River Forest.

Mahoney Raps U. S. Olympic Team Leaders

New York, Aug. 21.—[Special.]—A charge that the American Olympic team was autocratically and inefficiently led by "individuals seeking their own aggrandizement rather than the comfort and success of the team" was made here today by Jeremiah T. Mahoney, former president of the A. A. U.

Mahoney particularly condemned the actions of Avery Brundage, president of the A. A. U. and the American Olympic committee.

"You must agree with me,' says Brundage, 'otherwise you are grievously wrong and you must be condemned,'" Mr. Mahoney's statement said.

"'I am the American Fuehrer, in charge of American sports, and I shall act as I see fit, regardless of justice and regardless of consequences.' It is in this strain that Brundage thinks and acts."

Mahoney made particular reference to the dismissal of Eleanor Holm Jarrett, the swimmer, from the team; the dropping of Ernest Lee Jahncke from the Olympic committee and the suspension of Jesse Owens. He charged that Jahncke was dropped because of his criticism of Hitler and the Nazi régime.

Mrs. Jarrett, bitter at Brundage, returned yesterday. Owens is on his way back—and may find, when he arrives, that a committee is working to raise funds to buy him a house. Gov. Martin J. Davey of Ohio has appointed a committee for the purpose, headed by Francis W. Poulson, Mr. Poulson announced here today. Mr. Poulson, chairman of the Democratic state committee in Ohio, is here conferring with other Democratic leaders.

CASE ACE HURT; WILL NOT GO IN HOPEFUL STAKE

New York, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Case Ace, two year old star from Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Milky Way farm of Chicago, today was declared out of the $40,000 hopeful to be run at Saratoga, Aug. 29, and possibly for the remainder of the season.

The son of Teddy, leading money winning juvenile and undefeated until he came east, injured himself at the Gate Wednesday at Saratoga when he met his first defeat in a race won by E. R. Bradley's Billionaire. He had won three straight races in the west, including the Arlington Futurity, and was an outstanding contender for the two year old championship.

Bob McGarvey, trainer for Mrs. Mars, said the colt had a bad knee and when he further injured himself this week, he gave up hope of getting him ready for the Spa's richest stake. Whether he keeps his engagement in the $100,000 Futurity at Belmont Park in September depends on whether the injury heals in time to permit him to get in condition.

GIANTS DEFEAT BEES, 3 TO 2, FOR TENTH STRAIGHT

New York Half Game Out of Lead.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 21.—(AP)—The fast traveling New York Giants pulled out a 3 to 2 decision today for their tenth straight victory, checking the Bees' ninth inning rally just short of tying the score. The triumph moved the Giants within one-half game of the league leading Cardinals, who lost today.

Gabby Gabler won a suit of clothes from the Giants for turning in his eighth pitching victory, but he wasn't on hand at the finish. The Bees chased him with their closing rally, and Dick Coffman finished the game.

New York, Aug. 21.—With the exception of bonds of the highest grade, the market turned downward today coincident with the development of weakness in stocks. Declines of one to two points among the more speculative issues, including convertibles, were numerous.

While this was going on, some of the treasury bonds were continuing their upward movement. Ten of the obligations bettered their old peaks for the year before reacting. The group as a whole closed irregular.

2¾s Touch Peak of 103.

The 2¾ per cent bonds, which the market found difficult to absorb because they figured in auction sales a year ago, touched 103 for the first time. They sold close to 98 last year. Today's price improvement was accomplished with little actual trading. Few bonds were offered for sale.

High grade corporate issues had difficulty holding their ground, while the lower types were slipping. A few of the best sold fractionally higher. There were declines of 1 to 2 points or more in International Telephone debenture 4½s and 5s, Alleghany 5s of 1950, Erie refunding 5s, Great Northern convertible "G" 4s, Illinois Central 4s of 1953, Manhattan first 4½s, New Haven 4s of two series, New York Central 6s, several Missouri Pacific issues, Pan-American 6s, Cotton Belt 4½s, and Youngstown 3½s.

Foreign List About Steady.

In the foreign list prices were generally steady. An exception was Lautaro Nitrate 6s, which were unfavorably affected by the announcement of a capital readjustment plan which would offer a noncumulative income 4 per cent bond in exchange for the 6s.

The decline in the general list was accompanied by slightly more active trading, sales aggregating $9,502,000, par value, compared with $7,505,000 the day before.

STOCKS SLUMP; FEAR SPREAD OF WAR IN EUROPE

Two Selling Waves Sweep Market.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 21.—Two brief but highly damaging selling waves swept over the stock market today, unsettling prices from one end of the list to the other and making for the weakest session of the summer. Final prices were around the worst of the day. Losses of 2 points in the general run of stocks were common and some issues declined as much as 6 points. In fact, it was the second sharpest break in the last two years.

Trading picked up as prices fell and this fact was considered to have discouraged the speculative contingent which had been looking for early resumption of the forward movement. Total transactions for the session amounted to about 1,478,000 shares. On two different occasions the high speed ticker tape fell a minute behind actual operations on the floor.

Sudden Slump Surprises Brokers.

Brokers were at a loss to account for the sudden pressure put on the list, but it was generally agreed among financial experts that uneasiness over the Spanish situation with the possibility that it may evolve into a general European conflagration played a major rôle in the trading.

Widespread disappointment over the failure of the carrier section to respond to excellent July earnings also was reported to have dampened the enthusiasm of the speculative fraternity and caused a considerable lightening of positions.

Selling was at its heaviest around midday and again just before the close of the market. When traders set about unloading almost no group of issues was spared, although industrial issues bore the brunt of the attack, suffering the sharpest decline in prices for a single session since April 29.

Railroad stocks, too, went under the hammer, with one set of averages showing that all advances made by the group since the second week in July had been canceled.

"War" Stock Falls 10 Points.

A "war" stock, Allied Chemical and Dye, had the dubious distinction of registering the second biggest loss in the list—10¼ points. Other large losers were Westinghouse Electric, down 6¼; Chrysler, off 5⅛; Johns Manville, off 4½; National Supply, off 5; A. O. Smith, off 4½; International Business Machine, off 8¼; Liggett & Myers, off 5, and the largest loser of the list, J. I. Case, off 10¼ points.

A loss of 10 points in Norfolk and Western on a single transaction was the most that happened in the hard hit carrier section. Most other major roads lost from more than 1 to as much as 4 points.

United States Steel tacked up a loss of 2 points in the final table and Bethlehem receded 2⅛. Other steel shares averaged losses of 2 points. Stocks to decline 2 to 5 points included Amerada, American Power, American Telephone, Anaconda Wire, Columbia Carbon, Commercial Investors Trust, Greyhound, Phillip Morris, Phelps Dodge, Peoples Gas, U. S. Pipe, Sears-Roebuck, Deere, and Western Union.

WILLIAM FOX DISCLOSES BIG GIFTS OF CASH

The questioning was conducted by Samuel B. Stewart Jr., New York counsel for the Capital company of California, which is trying to set aside the transfer of Fox's Woodmere, N. Y., estate to his wife, Eva, on April 14, 1930.

Fox termed the whole proceeding "child's play." However, he promised a complete list of the many gifts he made in April, 1930. Meanwhile he mentioned offhand $100,000 to Benjamin Reass, one of his New York lawyers; $100,000 to Claudius Huston, "personally and not in his capacity as Republican national committee chairman"; $100,000 to James Francis Burke, Pittsburgh lawyer; $200,000 to Jack C. Leo, a relative; $50,000 to Harry Sundheim, who was not identified; $100,000 to Joseph Leo, another relative; $25,000 to David A. Brown, "a man who devoted himself to charity," and $2,000 to John Foley, a check which Fox laughingly called "a piker's sum."

FOREIGN MONEYS STEADY BUT GOLD IS SENT TO U. S.

European currencies were exceptionally steady in New York yesterday in the face of considerable uneasiness over the possible spread of the Spanish revolt to entangle other countries. However, engagements of gold for shipment to the United States were reported.

Two of the gold bloc currencies yielded slightly to the dollar, but French francs remained unchanged at their gold export level of 6.58½ cents and the Federal Reserve Bank of New York reported the engagement of $3,012,000 of the metal for shipment to the United States.

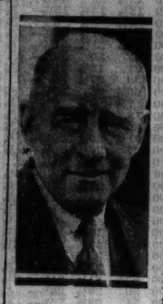
Swiss francs in New York eased ½ point to 32.59½ cents and Dutch guilders lost 2 points to 67.90 cents. The German mark dipped 1 point to 40.24 cents. The pound sterling improved ¼ cent to close at $5.03¼.

Europe Won't Have Big War, Says Lamont



T. W. LAMONT. [Acme Photo.]

New York, Aug. 21.—[Special.]—There will be no general war in Europe, in the opinion of Thomas W. Lamont, partner of J. P. Morgan & Co., who returned to his office today after a ten weeks' vacation abroad. Departing from the long standing practice of the Morgan partners not to grant formal interviews, Lamont met reporters at his office, 23 Wall street, this afternoon and talked freely about the troubled political situation abroad.

Ninety-five per cent of the people of every nation of Europe do not want to fight, he said, and the men who rule the destinies of Europe will be slow to drag their unwilling people into a major war. There has been a vigorous revival of efforts for appeasement on the part of governments, Lamont believes. He indicated that the breakdown of attempts at collective, coercive action to enforce peace through the league of nations had stimulated these attempts at appeasement.

French, British Less Apprehensive.

"I have no first-hand knowledge, but in the three weeks I spent in England and France the people struck me as far less apprehensive than many Americans are of an early outbreak of war in Europe," he said. "Although we are 3,000 miles away, our able American press supplies us every morning with reports of interesting occurrences in every capital of Europe. And we are so impressed with the bad side of the news that we are apt to forget the peace-loving millions in their homes and fields and factories, and to leap a few hurdles and exclaim: 'O, Europe is on the verge of another great war.'

"No one would wish for a moment to minimize the immense difficulties in which the world finds itself today. But that they must eventuate in a general war is hardly a justifiable conclusion. It is clear that 95 per cent of the people of every nation of Europe do not want to fight. They look on war with abhorrence and dread, just as we do. Every sane man now realizes that in war every one loses."

Turning to more specific aspects of the situation, Lamont said that the indications were that "Germany is determined to keep away from serious trouble with Great Britain and France."

Regarded as Peace Moves.

"Through the new German-Austrian treaty Germany has renounced, at least for the present, any ambition to absorb Austria," he continued. "It is clear that Russia, even though credited in some quarters with being ready enough to see trouble elsewhere, is not believed to have any provocative plans on the west or on the east.

"In calling off sanctions, the British government stated that it preferred not to attempt something that proved plainly ineffective and that it could not render effective without serious risk of war. And its second thought, too, seemed to be that if—the main object remaining unachieved—sanctions were indefinitly continued, Italy would be lost as one factor for the maintenance of European peace, in the event that trouble came up from some other quarter."

AM. HAIR & FELT GROUP ASSAILS CALLING STOCK

The protective committee for American Hair and Felt company minority common stockholders yesterday aimed another blast at the management of the company in its attempt to call the common stock at $5 a share and redistribute it to majority stockholders. The committee in a letter sent to stockholders charged illegality of the plan and disputed the company's contention that the stock was a special stock and that the company discouraged public trading in the stock.

A hearing has been set for Sept. 24 in the federal District court here on a petition of minority stockholders for an injunction to restrain the company from calling the stock on Oct. 1.

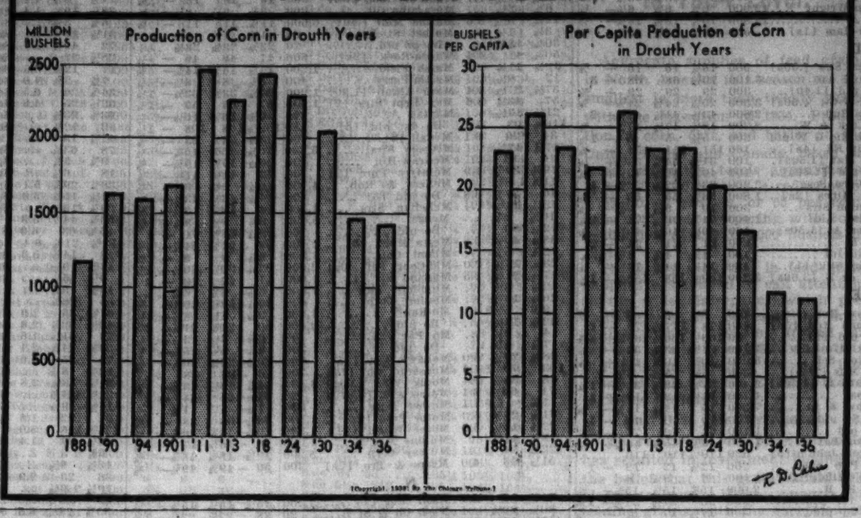
HAS NO PASSENGER IN 40 YEARS; RAIL'S FORECLOSURE ASKED

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 21.—(AP)—One of America's shortest railroads was believed "on its way out" today as Louis Nippert, trustee for the road's bondholders, asked Common Pleas court to foreclose a mortgage executed 45 years ago. It is the Cincinnati and Westwood railroad, on whose five miles of track no passenger has ridden in 40 years, no freight has been hauled since June 1, 1924.

It still is technically in operation, because at intervals of a week or so, a gasoline "jerky" makes one round trip, with only the operator aboard, to comply with terms of the franchise.

The advent of the street car and building of a main line track by what is now one of the largest railroads caused abandonment of its passenger service about 1896. Nippert asks that as trustee, he succeed to all rights of the road, that the company be "ejected" and that real estate be sold to satisfy claims of the bondholders.

Total and Per Capita Production of Corn in the United States in Drouth Years



More Concerns Profit as Tide of Trade Rises

Additional evidence of the rising tide of business during the first six months of 1936 was disclosed yesterday in announcements of highly favorable earnings by many leading corporations.

The Chicago Pneumatic Tool company reported that net profit of $290,405 for the second quarter of the year was the best for the June period since 1929. This was equal to 66 cents a share on common stock, compared with $191,427, or 16 cents a share, in the first quarter and $185,692, or 14 cents a share, in the second quarter of last year.

Pan-American Earns More.

The Pan-American Petroleum and Transport corporation, which is controled by Standard Oil Company of Indiana, announced June quarter profit of $993,168 after taxes and charges but before provision for undistributed profits tax. This is equal to 21 cents a share on the common stock and compares with net income of $607,884, or 13 cents a share, in the preceding quarter and $62,645, or 1 cent a share, in the second quarter of 1935.

The Atlantic Refining company had consolidated net profit for the first six months of $3,137,381 after taxes and charges, but before provision for undistributed profits taxes. This was equal after preferred dividend requirements to $1.12 a share on the common stock, compared with $255,378, or 10 cents a share, in the same 1935 period. This year's figure excludes $60,121 profit of nonconsolidated companies. Last year $12,233 from this source was included.

N. Y. Shipbuilding Has Profit.

Net profit from operations of the New York Shipbuilding corporation for the first six months of this year was reported at $269,049. A statement said this figure was before $76,216 to be deducted for federal taxes, but after interest and depreciation charges. In the same period last year net deficit was $418,561.

The Eagle-Picher Lead company and subsidiaries reported for the half year net earnings of $338,520, without provision for undistributed profits surtax, equal to 36 cents a share on the common stock, against $128,196, or 12 cents a share, in the corresponding period a year ago.

A sharp gain in profits was reported by National Bellas Hess, Inc., for the year ended July 31. Net income amounted to $173,808 after charges and taxes, equal to 13 cents a share on capital stock, compared with $17,459, or 1 cent a share, in the preceding fiscal year. Sales totaled $8,325,505, against $6,812,637 a year earlier, a gain of 22.21 per cent.

UTILITY CLAIM PROPOSAL GETS COURT ASSENT

Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday authorized the trustees and officials of the Inland Power and Light corporation, the Commonwealth Light and Power company, and the Middle West corporation to file an agreement for the settlement of various intercompany claims involving approximately $2,000,000 in real estate and securities.

The Inland and Commonwealth concerns were at one time subsidiaries of the Middle West system which was controled by Samuel Insull. According to Attorney Robert N. Golding, counsel for the note holders' committee and a director of the Middle West corporation, the settlement, if approved by the court, will facilitate the reorganization of the two subsidiaries.

Judge Barnes set Sept. 17 for a hearing on a motion to approve the settlement and on objections. The hearing will be before Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan, who now has jurisdiction over the present reorganization of the two former subsidiary companies.

Detroit Street Railway Buys 500 Buses from Ford

New York, Aug. 21.—The Detroit Street Railway company was reported today to have placed an order for 500 buses with the Ford Motor company, which was believed in financial quarters to be the largest single order for such conveyances ever given.

PROPOSAL TO DIVIDE LIQUIDATION PROCEEDS OF INSULL UNIT VOTED

A proposal to divide proceeds of liquidation of the Mississippi Valley Utilities company on the basis of 92 per cent to prior preferred stock holders and 8 per cent to preferred holders was approved at a special meeting of stockholders here yesterday.

The plan calls for readjustment of capitalization to $660,371, consisting of 660,371 shares of $1 par value. Present prior preferred stock holders would receive 17 new shares for each present share held and preferred stock holders would exchange their stock on a share for share basis.

Mississippi Valley, bankrupt Insull investment company, has no common stock outstanding. The common stock formerly was held by the Middle West Utilities company but was turned back to Mississippi Valley under an agreement by which the two concerns compromised claims against each other.

The recapitalization is being effected solely in connection with accomplishing complete liquidation of the company, which now has about $1,500,000 in cash, most of which was received from the sale of the Hamilton dam project in Texas to the federal government.

UNION PACIFIC CHIEF EXPECTS RISE IN PROFITS

Earnings of the Union Pacific railroad have made an excellent showing and the improvement should continue despite the drouth, W. A. Harriman, chairman of the road, said here yesterday. He stopped in Chicago en route east from a vacation in Honolulu.

Passenger business has been good and is showing steady increases over last year, he said, adding that the road's streamliners—City of Los Angeles, City of San Francisco, and City of Portland—have been booked to capacity.

Harriman asserted the road has no plans for inaugurating daily instead of periodic streamliner service between Chicago and the coast, explaining that such a move will not be made until the company has had an opportunity to study operation of the trains under all conditions.

The road's Challenger, 56 hour, low cost train between Chicago and Los Angeles, yesterday celebrated its first anniversary. Harriman said the experiment has proved highly successful from a financial standpoint.

He announced the Union Pacific is spending a million dollars in developing a winter resort in the Sawtooth mountains of Idaho as another experiment in stimulating passenger travel.

MOTOR OUTPUT RISES SHARPLY OVER LAST WEEK

A sharp increase in automobile production in the United States and Canada occurred this week, estimates of two leading statistical agencies disclosed yesterday.

Ward's Automotive Reports, Inc., placed output at 69,669 passenger cars and trucks, compared with 55,329 in the preceding week and 55,585 in the corresponding period last year. Cram's reports put production at 73,709 units, against 56,638 and 50,585, respectively.

Ward's attributed the increase to reopening of Ford assembly lines after a week of idleness, this gain offsetting losses by other manufacturers.

"It becomes increasingly obvious," the agency commented, "that the automobile family has a new little brother—the trailer. It seems certain that the trailer field will experience remarkable growth. The problem of makers today is distribution, but this should not prove to be major."

Colgate-Palmolive-Peet to Build New Indiana Plant

New York, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Colgate-Palmolive-Peet company, will spend about $200,000 to expand operations at Jeffersonville, Ind., it was disclosed today. The company will erect a five floor brick building for manufacturing and warehouse purposes. Construction will start early in September.

Travelers Find Conditions Bad in All Europe

Dr. Max Winkler, well known economist, who now is working for an eastern investment concern, on his return yesterday from an extensive survey of economics and finance abroad issued a statement in which he declared the situation in Europe is so bad that the best thing American business men can do is keep out.

"Whatever business activity exists in Europe today is attributable chiefly to excessive spending, largely for nonproductive purposes," he said. "Although an impoverished Europe can ill afford such extravagance, currency manipulation, the piling up of an internal indebtedness, barter arrangements, a system of blocked exchanges, and numerous other devices are being employed successfully to postpone the inevitable."

Cites Nation's Difficulties.

Competent observers, he found, believe that conditions in France are "worse than at any time since the revolution." Mussolini's victory in Ethiopia, he said, "has merely succeeded in diverting for the time being the attention of his people from the grave economic and financial difficulties confronting the kingdom at home."

He declares that Austria is existing only on the support of England and leading continental nations, conservative investors in the Netherlands are exporting capital because of uneasiness over continued depression, and that Great Britain's big rearmament program threatens to run the British national debt even higher.

Broker Agrees on Conditions.

"I return with the conviction that the United States, at this time, and for many years to come, affords the world's safest and most profitable working place for capital," says Mr. Jelke. "Europe's present prosperity is based largely on production for destruction, prompted not only by old nationallstic jealousies but also by the newer and perhaps more fundamental clash between fascism and communism.

"We should stop fostering class prejudices by the raising of false issues at Washington. By encouraging class war we invite the spread of fascist-communist conflict which is now sweeping across Europe like a plague.

"If Gov. Landon is elected in November and sound government fiscal policies are adopted, this country, insulated against the economic and racial bitterness of Europe, should enjoy a long period of good business and a rising standard of living."

ELDRED ELECTED VICE PRESIDENT OF ARMOUR & CO.

Directors of Armour & Co. yesterday elected Harry S. Eldred a vice president to succeed the late Harry G. Mills. Eldred, who has been general plant manager and has been with Armour since 1923, will have charge of plant operations.

The directors also declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 a share on the $6 cumulative preferred stock and a dividend of $1.50 on the 7 per cent cumulative preferred still outstanding. Armour & Co. of Delaware declared the usual quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share on the guaranteed cumulative 7 per cent preferred stock. All dividends are payable Oct. 1 to stock of record Sept. 10.

MO. PACIFIC ASKS COURT TO CANCEL DECREE ON SALE

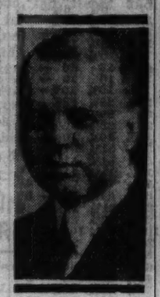
St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 21.—(AP)—The Missouri Pacific railroad today filed a motion asking Federal Judge George H. Moore to set aside his order of last July 22 barring Terminal Shares, Inc., a Van Sweringen corporation, from asserting a $19,000,000 claim against the railroad in connection with the sale in 1930 of terminal facilities in Kansas City and St. Joseph, Mo.

The motion contended the interstate commerce commission had "the power and duty to determine whether the contract [for the sale] was for the best interests of the public and the debtor corporation."

COURT ATTACK ON COMMODITY ACT BROADENED

Trade in Futures Called Intrastate.

A brief to substantiate charges that the commodity exchange act is unconstitutional, made here in a complaint in the federal District court Aug. 15, was filed with Judge John P. Barnes yesterday on behalf of William S. Moore and all members of the Chicago Mercantile exchange, by Attorneys Walter Bachrach and Arthur Magid.



MICHAEL L. IGOE.

The brief attacks legality of the act on 19 counts, but centers on the contention that the commodity act is unconstitutional because trading in commodity futures is purely local and intrastate business which does not directly affect interstate commerce and that the regulation of such business is exclusively reserved to the states under the tenth amendment to the constitution and is not within the power of congress.

Arguments of Brief.

The bill charges that a decision of the United States Supreme court in 1922 [the Olsen decision], which held that future trading in commodities was within the sphere of federal control because the price of commodity futures affected the price of cash commodities shipped in interstate commerce, has been swept away by decisions invalidating the national industrial recovery act and the Guffey coal act. These decisions, the brief stated, held "squarely and distinctly that price effects are indirect effects and therefore furnish no valid basis for federal control of intrastate activities."

"In the Schecter [NRA] and Carter [Guffey coal] cases, both of the statutes involved expressly recited that certain local evils existed which directly burdened and affected interstate commerce, and that regulation of such evils was imperative for the protection of such interstate commerce," the brief added. "Yet it was held in both of these cases that, since the effect was indirect, congress had no power to regulate such local conditions, notwithstanding that they affected interstate commerce unfavorably."

Other Allegations.

The brief also charged that the act is unconstitutional in that it unlawfully delegates legislative power to the secretary of agriculture and the commodity exchange commission; that the vagueness of terms used in the act in certain sections violate due process of law because no intelligible standard of guidance is afforded for the purpose of compliance with provisions of the act; that it discriminates in favor of cotton exchanges and against other futures exchanges, and that it violates the fifth amendment which prohibits unlawful and unreasonable searches and seizures.

An injunction to restrain enforcement of the act was filed by Moore last Tuesday. Arguments on the motion will be heard next Tuesday.

The suit names as defendants the Chicago Mercantile exchange, its directors as individuals; Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture; Daniel C. Roper, secretary of commerce; Homer S. Cummings, attorney general; Michael L. Igoe, United States district attorney for the northern district of Illinois, and Ernest J. Kruetgen, postmaster at Chicago.

DENY U. S. HEADS IN PHONE PROBE TO BE REPLACED

Washington, D. C., Aug. 21.—(AP)—The federal communications commission today said recent reports that key men in the American Telephone and Telegraph company investigation would be supplanted were "wholly unauthorized and without any official sanction whatever."

The commission's statement was occasioned by published reports that Samuel Becker, counsel in charge of the investigation, would be removed and that John H. Bickley, chief accountant, might resign.

U. S. BUS TRAILERS TO GO INTO SERVICE ON SYRIAN DESERT

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 21.—(AP)—The Edward G. Budd Manufacturing company announced today the receipt of an order from the Nairn Transport company for two stainless steel lightweight bus trailers for service on the Syrian desert.

The buses will be operated between Bagdad, Iraq, and Damascus, Syria. The trailers are to be drawn by 150 horsepower Diesel tractors to be built by the Van Dorn Iron Works of Cleveland, O. They will be scheduled to make the 530 mile run over the desert in 15 hours. The present buses require 35 hours.

One will be a first class day coach with seats for 19 passengers. The other will have berths for 14 passengers.

Federal Board 'Explains,' Yet All's a Puzzle

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Business men in Chicago who have been hoping that the federal trade commission would give them at least some indication of the meaning of the new Robinson-Patman "anti-price discrimination" amendment to the Clayton act were utterly befogged yesterday after attempting to read the commission's "clarifying" statement.

Discrimination, the commission "explained," is defined in the new amendment as unlawful not only if the effect "may be to substantially lessen competition or tend to create a monopoly in any line of commerce," as provided in the original Clayton act, "or," as amended, "to injure, destroy or prevent competition with any person who either grants or knowingly receives the benefits of such discrimination or with customers of either of them."

It's a Problem of Faith.

One section of the new law, the commission pointed out, provides that as a matter of proof a prima facie case of discrimination may be rebutted by the seller "showing that his lower price or the furnishing of services or facilities to any purchaser or purchasers was made in good faith to meet an equally low price of a competitor, or the services or facilities furnished by a competitor."

The new provision regarding price changes specifies that the discrimination be not the result of "price changes from time to time where in response to changing conditions affecting the market for or the marketability of the goods concerned, such as, but not limited to actual or imminent deterioration of perishable goods, obsolescence of seasonal goods, distress sales under court process or sales in good faith in discontinuance of business in the goods concerned."

It Sounds Like "Knock, Knock."

One business man, after poring over the commission's "clarifying" statement yesterday, suggested that perhaps both the explanation and the law itself are written in code. Another hopefully suggested that the words might make better sense read backwards.

The problem, however, has its serious side, because the law provides for imprisonment as well as fines for infractions. And, unlike other laws, the Robinson-Patman act puts the burden of proof on the accused.

OIL EXECUTIVES ARRAIGNED IN ANTI TRUST SUIT

New York, Aug. 21.—[Special.]—Six New York executives of oil companies, under indictment at Madison, Wis., on charges of violating the Sherman anti-trust laws, were arraigned before Federal Judge Samuel Mandelbaum here today for removal to Madison to stand trial.

They were E. W. Sinclair, president of the Sinclair Refining company; H. W. Dodge, vice president of the Texas company; H. E. Brandli, vice president and general manager of the Cities Service Export Oil company; Frank Coates, a director of the Cities Service company and vice president of its subsidiary, the Cities Service Export Oil company; Noel Robinson, vice president of the Tide Water Oil company, and Harry D. Frueauff, vice president of the Cities Service Oil company and the Louisiana Oil Refining company.

These defendants, together with twenty-three oil companies and fifty-two other individuals, were indicted on charges of violating the Sherman act in arbitrarily raising the prices of their products in the midwest area.

Protests by the defendants against being photographed and fingerprinted, which was asked by Assistant United States Attorney Charles T. Murphy, were overruled by the judge.

U. S. AND CANADA PLAN JOINT DRIVE ON SWINDLERS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Joint action to stamp out stock swindlers who operate across the United States-Canadian border and victimize investors on both sides was disclosed today by securities commission officials.

Officials said they are pushing negotiations for a series of agreements aimed at fraudulent international operations in securities. One agreement has been concluded with the Ontario securities commission calling for joint action by that body and the securities commission here against operators who maintain offices in one country and use "high pressure" methods against investors in the other.

Officials asserted that in some cases the agreements will do away with extradition procedure by making possible prosecution in the country from which the illegal operations emanate.

CORN DECLINES AS ARGENTINA'S GRAIN ARRIVES

Big Influx Expected; Wheat Firmer.

Prices of corn declined on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday on prospects for an early influx of that grain into the country from Argentina. Reports received by traders indicated that the long expected purchases of Argentine corn have begun, to materialize. New York received 60,000 bushels of corn from Argentina yesterday and a cargo of about 175,000 bushels is expected to arrive here in October.

Effect of the presistent purchases of Argentine grain, which shortly will compete with domestic corn, has been most apparent in the action of the September delivery. It closed at $1.12½ yesterday, off 1⅞ cents from Thursday and 7 cents under the extreme high of $1.19½ on Wednesday, which established a new peak since 1925. Distant futures yesterdal ended 1 to 1¼ cents lower.

Wheat Recovers Early Loss.

Wheat, after breaking early, rallied to close fractionally higher. Closing of spreads with corn was a factor in the late strength. Oats and rye were off small fractions.

Confirmation of recent heavy purchases of Argentine corn for shipment to the United States, estimated as high as 25,000,000 bushels, was received yesterday. Broomhall, a leading European authority, announced that exports of 2,256,000 bushels had been made to various American ports during the last week, making a total of 3,925,000 bushels exported in two weeks. During the same period 615,000 bushels were shipped to Canada.

For approximately two years Canada has been practically out of the market as a buyer of American corn. The dominion has been forced to draw on the Argentina and South Africa for supplies because of the high prices prevailing in Chicago.

Railways May Cut Rates.

In order to facilitate distribution of imported corn in the central west, railroads, it was said yesterday, are preparing to put lower freight rates into effect from Chicago and New Orleans, to interior points. Washington reports indicated that numerous requests have been received by the government for a lowering of the import duty on corn on account of the short domestic crop. The present duty is 25 cents per bushel.

A corn crop of 1,364,000,000 bushels was estimated by R. O. Cromwell, crop expert for Lamson Bros. & Co., from average returns on Aug. 16. This compares with his estimate of 1,529,000,000 bushels on Aug. 1 and the government figures of 1,439,000,000 bushels. The 1936 crop was 2,292,000,000 bushels. In 1934, it was 1,478,000,000 bushels.

Rains Change Crop Estimates.

Beneficial rains were reported overnight in parts of the northwest Iowa, Wisconsin, Illinois, and Indiana. Comment on the new corn crop, received yesterday from sections which have had persistent showers lately, indicated that estimates on the prospective yield are being revised upward.

	Yesterday.	Thursday	Week ago.	Month ago.
Wheat	$1.13⅜	$1.13¼	$1.10⅝	$1.03⅛
Corn	1.12½	1.14⅝	1.07⅝	.87⅛
Oats	.43⅝	.44	.42¼	.36⅛
Oats	.83⅜	.84⅛	.80¾	.72⅝

Early weakness in wheat, which carried prices off nearly a cent, was in sympathy with Liverpool. The surplus in the pit was absorbed by houses with eastern connections, and shorts covered later. Winnipeg declined about a cent, while Kansas City was fractionally lower and Minneapolis gained a fraction.

Federal Seed Buying Has Effect.

The Minneapolis market was affected by reports that the government will start to buy spring wheat for seeding the 1937 crop, commencing early next week.

Some selling yesterday was attributed to disappointment over failure of the Canadian government to raise its guaranteed minimum price for the 1936 crop from 87½ cents per bushel for No. 1 northern delivered at Fort William or Vancouver, which price has been in effect for nearly a year.

Interest In

REAL ESTATE

Grows Steadily

During the first seven months of 1936 the Tribune printed 50.23% more real estate want advertising than in the same period last year. For the first 19 days of August the gain was 45.11%.

RAIN BRIGHTENS CORN OUTLOOK ON ILLINOIS FARMS

State to Top Iowa Yield; Soy Beans Thrive.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Farmers who have gone through many drouths are surprised at the comeback being made by green corn since their sun-baked fields were drenched by rains during the last ten days. Cribs of ears and tons of material for silage and fodder are being added daily to many fields in the northern part of the corn belt.

Many farmers who were getting ready to dispose of their herds and flocks because of a lack of feed are now more hopeful. Crops of both corn and soy beans are thriving where there have been soaking rains and the corn was not too far gone.

Illinois to Lead Corn Belt.

Illinois will have more corn than any other state in the corn growing region, exceeding Iowa by several million bushels. This state's crop, however, will be extremely short compared with the average of former years. Yields per acre are expected to be less than in 1934, but this will be offset to some extent since 1,400,000 more acres are planted to corn than were two years ago.

Farmers are certain that their yields are being boosted in north, central, and eastern counties of the state where fields were soaked by recent rains. In other sections the corn was too near the final ripening stage to be helped to any great extent. Official September estimates for the state as a whole are likely to be less than the Aug. 1 report of 197,434,000 bushels.

Northern Counties Benefit.

The heaviest rains in Illinois have fallen in the northern counties and down the eastern side of the state. In this area it is estimated that two-thirds of the corn still is green enough to have been helped materially.

But the rain belt is spotted, varying from about 3½ inches at Rockford down to approximately half an inch in the region along the Mississippi near Davenport and Dubuque, Ia. Heavy rains also have fallen farther south, but the corn was too far along in many of the west central and southern counties to be helped.

Tassels are out on most of the corn even in northern Illinois. In extreme dry areas corn continues to fire badly. This is pulling down the size of the state's crop.

One-Third to Be Fodder.

It is estimated that about two-thirds of the corn in the northern part of the state will produce a light to fair crop of ears. The rest will be salvaged for roughage.

Illinois' corn map will be dotted at picking time. Farmers estimate the county averages will run from practically nothing up to 30 or more bushels per acre.

The soy bean crop is thriving since the rains. The crop is expected to be from fair to good. With continued favorable weather farmers are planning to harvest a large tonnage of soy bean hay. They have 350,000 more acres this year than they had in 1934.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Announcement in Washington that the department of agriculture planned to purchase $10,000,000 worth of seed grain for relief of drouth stricken farmers in the spring wheat area of the northwest today brought protests from southwestern grain dealers.

Fred I. Houser, president of the Associated Southwest Country Elevators, which has a membership of 8,500 elevators and mills in nine states, sent this telegram to J. W. Tapp, chairman of the department of agriculture drouth committe in Washington:

"It is surprising when considering the distress in nine southwestern states that our wheat producers have been ignored entirely and relief concentrated in the northwest."

CANADA EXPECTS TO RULE EXPORT WHEAT MARKET

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 21.—(AP)—The Dominion Bureau of Statistics asserted today that Canada would dominate the export wheat market from now until December. The only competition of importance, it said, will be from the Danubian countries.

The United States, the statement said, is definitly out of the export market and it is generally conceded Russia will have no export surplus this year.
